Some join for social reasons. They consider food shopping a community project. Some join for religious reasons. They believe in good health through good food. Many join for economic reasons. They appreciate the low prices. They are the food children of San Diego, peaceful, political, flour children. They are children hand out food instead of flowers and are involved not in a particular life style but in a service. The service centers, where food children of all ages come together, are the alternative food stores, the food co-ops. Join is too strong a word for the roles of manager, volunteer and shopper which overlap, join is too weak a word for the cooperative energy which keeps the stores open.

I do not wish nor do I hope that anyone will go on to say that I am a bitter person. I am only speaking in generalities about our society and critiquing the way things are done. I believe that it is important to point out the problems so that we can work towards a better future. Thank you.

Robert Pollack

Dear Reader,

If you are a subscriber to the Reader, I am sure you have noticed the change in the design of the letters section. I have been asked by the editor to make some changes in the way letters are presented. However,

I believe that the changes are for the better. I hope you will enjoy the new look and continue to submit your letters to the Reader.

Sincerely,

Tom Smith

DECEMBER
for our subdivision people. Right now, there are a lot of people who are concerned about the lack of communication between the residents and the management. I would like to see more opportunities for residents to voice their concerns and participate in the decision-making process. Thank you.

Judy Carpenter

CERAMICS

I was very excited to see the new article about ceramics in the latest issue of the Reader. I think it is important to encourage people to explore and appreciate this art form. I hope more people will be inspired to create their own ceramic pieces.

Karen Johnson

TURBOCHARGED

I am afan of turbocharged cars and was thrilled to read the article in the Reader about the new turbocharged engine developed by Toyota. I think it is amazing how technology continues to evolve and improve. I am looking forward to seeing how this new engine performs in real-world conditions.

READER'S CORNER

Thank you for the article about the local health care providers. It is reassuring to know that there are people who are dedicated to providing high-quality care to our community. I hope more people will choose to work in the health care field.

Sarah Thompson

My name is Jane Smith and I am a psychologist. I have been working with patients for the past ten years and have seen firsthand how important it is to have access to affordable mental health care. I am writing to urge everyone to support the local mental health providers and to seek help if you are struggling. It is okay to ask for help and there is no shame in seeking support.

Letters

The Reader is a valuable resource for the community, and I am always interested in hearing people's thoughts and opinions. I encourage everyone to submit letters to the Reader and share their views on various topics.

Sincerely,

SAN DIEGO'S ONLY COMPLETE GUIDE TO THE SILVER SCREEN

The straw is good, the corn is fine, the peas are sweet and the carrots are crunchy. The only problem is that the movie is too short. The audience is left with a feeling of wanting more. The acting is wooden and the dialogue is stilted. The storyline is weak and the special effects are amateurish. But despite these flaws, the movie is still worth watching. It's a fun and lighthearted movie that will put a smile on your face. Overall, it's a decent movie that is enjoyable to watch.
It's Always Donut Time

One of the cashiers begged me not to play Glenn Miller's "In the Mood" on the jukebox anymore because she didn't like it, and it was removed from the selector the very next day.

Carrie Rickey

Stuffed but thriving downmarket, anyone most of the counter space within V.G.'s, almost as though the humility of the donut fans gave them a sense of civic pride. The purpleish, jacaranda-colored notes of the world's most cheerful street vendor, thrift store giant donut at 11:30 p.m., and the pinkish-orange flowers are particularly graceful to the apple's hue in the evening light. The only thing that takes up the consistency of the quality of V.G.'s donuts are the people behind the counter: anyone and everyone who knows how to properly prepare donuts. And there are, in fact, a few people who know how to properly prepare donuts. V.G.'s is not only the only donut shop in town where you can get a donut, but also one of the few places where you can get a donut in a variety of colors and sizes. It's for this reason that we play Glenn Miller's "In the Mood"... etc.

KENTUCKY THOUSAND
A Basic Library of Kentuckiana in Microfiche

Kentucky will celebrate her bicentennial in 1974 and 1975. An official commission has already been appointed to organize the celebration, and societies and educational institutions are already beginning to make plans to observe the 200th anniversary of the settlements at Harrodsburg and Boonesborough.

Schools and colleges are thinking in terms of special exercises for students, and local civic organizations and county clubs will have lecture and discussion groups on the history of the Commonwealth. Except in a few major centers such as Lexington, Louisville, and Bowling Green, resources for the study of Kentucky history are relatively weak. For over fifteen years the Lost Cause Press has been developing a basic library of Kentuckiana in microfiche, and it will be our contribution to the Bicentennial to offer some thousand fundamental pieces which are a cornerstone for study and research in our history.

Here is a comprehensive library of Kentuckiana which cannot be duplicated elsewhere. Nearly all of the titles are out of print, and many are unique copies of depositories such as the Library of Congress, the University of Kentucky, and the collections of private individuals. Not only the history of the Commonwealth is covered, but also the literature, the geography, the politics and government, the art and music, and other aspects of our culture.
And it cannot be too strongly emphasized that Kentucky, the furnace for immigration to the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, indeed, to the entire west, is literally the mother of the west.

Approximately 1000 volumes; postpaid 15.980
On orders placed after November 14, 1973, the price will be 17.500
