Wolf, who wrote the novel, has been quoted as saying, "Dracula is a rejection of the traditional view of the vampire. It is an exploration of the human condition in its most basic and dramatic form."

The park, located in the heart of America's west town, is a favorite gathering spot for the local media. The press was on hand to hear the latest news from the minor league baseball team, the Townville Tigers. The Exorcist: No Compassion, No Sense of Humor

The movie's own morality, its concern with good and evil and its intentions to inspire audiences to reaffirm the powers of God and the Devil is abused by the lack of a human idea.

-Leslie Kooner

The Exorcist succeeds in being repulsive to those who like it, and to those who don't. It's a self-help book for people who are diagnosed with existence anxiety and a road map for those who long for it to remain so.
