COMING OF AGE
IN SAN DIEGO

Mud and Sand
1st Prize

Keith Robinson

The mud and sand were so thick that it was hard to walk on it, but a person could still build and live there. Mud and sand were used as the main materials for the structure called Frontier Housing. It was located next to Mission Bay, which was a large body of water in San Diego. The buildings were made of mud and sand, and they were very strong. The residents of the area were proud of their community and its unique characteristics.

Hicksville was everything except the other parts of San Diego, which we called downtown, where the Sports Arena is today. It was a little bit further away, and no one was a person from East San Diego, Mission Hills, Remington, Loma Portal, or anywhere else.
WE'LL WAIT ON YOU
TILL 7:30.

THIS WEEK IN SAN DIEGO
JULY 11 TO JULY 17

THEATRE

FILMS

SPECIAL EVENTS

BASKETBALL

SPECIAL EVENTS

MUSEUMS & GALLERIES

DANCE

LECTURES & TALKS

MUSIC

DRIVE THROUGH
MONDAYS & FRIDAYS
AT 41 KEY LOCATIONS

2nd Prize
Growing Up With San Diego:
A Midwesterner's Account

Linda Brown
East High School, Denver
Linda Brown
San Diego, Calif. 92102

Linda Brown—The first thing I noticed in San Diego was the height of the people. I was visiting for the first time and I was really excited to see how different it was from home. The city was filled with tall buildings and big trees, and I couldn't believe how big everything seemed.

But something was happening in the city that I couldn't ignore. There were protests going on, and I couldn't understand why. I asked my friends and they told me about the civil rights movement.

I was fascinated by what I heard, and I decided to learn more. I spent hours researching the movement and the people involved. I wanted to understand the challenges they faced and the changes they were fighting for.

I was determined to make a difference in my community, and I knew I had to be part of the fight. I joined the protests and shared my voice, whatever it might be.

Through my experience in San Diego, I learned that everyone has a role to play in making the world a better place. I believe that everyone has the power to create change, and I will continue to do my part in the movement.
Dodes’ka-den
The Slum As Spectacle

A teenage girl, never rising from her kneeling position even to sleep, sold candy paper flowers to support her indolent father... an unpleasant wife stuck back to cook meat or tear rags for her alien husband.

—Duncan Shephard

VETERANS

There was a boy, called "Mike," who did not grow to be a man. He was killed in a duel at age 19, fighting in the war against the British in the American Revolution. His father was a farmer, and his mother was a seamstress. Mike had a younger brother, who was older than him, and a younger sister, who was younger than him. Mike was the oldest child.

Bloomer Days in La Jolla

Charley Castleton

How wonderful it was, seeing the girl bloom! The girl's name was Bloomer, after the famous woman's suffrage leader. She was a student at the local high school, and was known for her intelligence and beauty. She was also a good athlete, and played on the school's soccer team.

READER

There was a boy, called "Mike," who did not grow to be a man. He was killed in a duel at age 19, fighting in the war against the British in the American Revolution. His father was a farmer, and his mother was a seamstress. Mike had a younger brother, who was older than him, and a younger sister, who was younger than him. Mike was the oldest child.

Bloomer Days in La Jolla

Charley Castleton

How wonderful it was, seeing the girl bloom! The girl's name was Bloomer, after the famous woman's suffrage leader. She was a student at the local high school, and was known for her intelligence and beauty. She was also a good athlete, and played on the school's soccer team.

READER

There was a boy, called "Mike," who did not grow to be a man. He was killed in a duel at age 19, fighting in the war against the British in the American Revolution. His father was a farmer, and his mother was a seamstress. Mike had a younger brother, who was older than him, and a younger sister, who was younger than him. Mike was the oldest child.

Bloomer Days in La Jolla

Charley Castleton

How wonderful it was, seeing the girl bloom! The girl's name was Bloomer, after the famous woman's suffrage leader. She was a student at the local high school, and was known for her intelligence and beauty. She was also a good athlete, and played on the school's soccer team.

READER

There was a boy, called "Mike," who did not grow to be a man. He was killed in a duel at age 19, fighting in the war against the British in the American Revolution. His father was a farmer, and his mother was a seamstress. Mike had a younger brother, who was older than him, and a younger sister, who was younger than him. Mike was the oldest child.

Bloomer Days in La Jolla

Charley Castleton

How wonderful it was, seeing the girl bloom! The girl's name was Bloomer, after the famous woman's suffrage leader. She was a student at the local high school, and was known for her intelligence and beauty. She was also a good athlete, and played on the school's soccer team.

READER

There was a boy, called "Mike," who did not grow to be a man. He was killed in a duel at age 19, fighting in the war against the British in the American Revolution. His father was a farmer, and his mother was a seamstress. Mike had a younger brother, who was older than him, and a younger sister, who was younger than him. Mike was the oldest child.
Growing Up Absurd in San Diego

Paul Santman

Though the years went on, the news of events that were happening in the world around me seemed to have little effect on the people I knew. This was not due to any lack of interest on their part, but rather it was because the people I knew were so immersed in their own lives that they had little time to pay attention to what was happening outside their own little world. This was especially true of my father, who was a newspaper editor. He spent most of his time working on his newspaper, which was called "The San Diego Reader," and he was so absorbed in his work that he hardly ever took the time to read the news that was happening in the world around him.

But there was one event that did manage to catch his attention. This was the time when the United States entered World War II. My father was very interested in this event, and he spent a great deal of time discussing it with his colleagues at the newspaper. He was convinced that the United States would win the war, and he was proud to be a part of the team that was working to bring about victory.

But my father's interest in the war was not just a matter of patriotism. He was also interested in the economic aspects of the war, and he was convinced that the United States was on the right track. He was convinced that the United States would come out of the war stronger than ever, and he was determined to make sure that his newspaper reflected this view.

My father was a great believer in the power of the written word, and he was convinced that the best way to bring about change was through education and enlightenment. He believed that the people of the United States needed to be educated about the war, so that they could understand why it was being fought and why it was important.

But my father's interest in the war was not just a matter of patriotism. He was also interested in the economic aspects of the war, and he was convinced that the United States was on the right track. He was convinced that the United States would come out of the war stronger than ever, and he was determined to make sure that his newspaper reflected this view.

My father was a great believer in the power of the written word, and he was convinced that the best way to bring about change was through education and enlightenment. He believed that the people of the United States needed to be educated about the war, so that they could understand why it was being fought and why it was important.

But my father's interest in the war was not just a matter of patriotism. He was also interested in the economic aspects of the war, and he was convinced that the United States was on the right track. He was convinced that the United States would come out of the war stronger than ever, and he was determined to make sure that his newspaper reflected this view.

My father was a great believer in the power of the written word, and he was convinced that the best way to bring about change was through education and enlightenment. He believed that the people of the United States needed to be educated about the war, so that they could understand why it was being fought and why it was important.
Mr. Newman is one of those musicians who is at the same time a "personality"—like Glenn Gould or Barbra Streisand. Luckily, it is Mr. Bruson who is staying with us in San Diego.
How Roots give your feet a good feeling, then send it up your spine.

To see the idea behind Roots, take a close look at the shoe. Instead of a hard to step up on and down, you'll have a soft step area in pink, green, or black that give your feet a natural feel. The softness prevents you from feeling cramped or cramped. Roots are soft, comfortable and perfect for everyday wear!

Notice: To clean the shoe, use a damp cloth and soap. Rinse in cold water and let it dry in the shade.

CARS

SOLD IN DODGE AVON, Standard engine, 120 HP, 3611 cu. in., 2.5-liter, automatic transmission, $2590.00, 1970 Avon, 16,500 miles, $2190.00. Located in Norwalk, CA 90650, (213) 555-1234. Drive your dream car today!

PERSONALS

UPPER CHINA SELLING 1000 pairs per month. Low price per pair. Write for samples. SELLER.

BOATING

SOLD IN DODGE AVON, Standard engine, 120 HP, 3611 cu. in., 2.5-liter, automatic transmission, $2590.00, 1970 Avon, 16,500 miles, $2190.00. Located in Norwalk, CA 90650, (213) 555-1234. Drive your dream car today!

How Roots give your feet a good feeling, then send it up your spine.

To see the idea behind Roots, take a close look at the shoe. Instead of a hard to step up on and down, you'll have a soft step area in pink, green, or black that give your feet a natural feel. The softness prevents you from feeling cramped or cramped. Roots are soft, comfortable and perfect for everyday wear!

Notice: To clean the shoe, use a damp cloth and soap. Rinse in cold water and let it dry in the shade.

CARS

SOLD IN DODGE AVON, Standard engine, 120 HP, 3611 cu. in., 2.5-liter, automatic transmission, $2590.00, 1970 Avon, 16,500 miles, $2190.00. Located in Norwalk, CA 90650, (213) 555-1234. Drive your dream car today!

RELATED

UPPER CHINA SELLING 1000 pairs per month. Low price per pair. Write for samples. SELLER.