FREE Reader Classifieds (see p.11)

RESCUE MISSION

By Robert V. Eckert

The scene was set for the 3:30 a.m. service. People were gathering in the lobby of the Rescue Mission at 325 Third Street, San Diego. The music was playing, the lights were dimmed, and the atmosphere was one of anticipation.

The service began with a prayer led by a Rev. John Smith. The service continued with a reading from the Bible, which was followed by a song led by a group of volunteers. The service ended with a conclusion by Rev. Smith.

Throughout the service, people were gathering in the lobby of the Rescue Mission. The atmosphere was one of peace and quiet, and the music played in the background. The service was attended by both residents and visitors of the Rescue Mission.

In addition to the service, the Rescue Mission provides various resources for those in need. They offer shelter, food, clothing, and other basic necessities. They also provide resources for those looking to get back on their feet and find permanent housing.

The Rescue Mission is a place of hope and support for those in need. They work towards creating a positive change in the lives of those who come through their doors. They offer a place of safety and a chance to start anew.

Despite the challenges faced by those in need, the Rescue Mission remains a beacon of hope and a source of support. They continue to work towards providing resources and assistance to those in need, and they strive to create a better future for all.
We’ll wait on you.
Till 7:30.
Drive through
Mondays and Fridays
At 41 key locations
Those Swinging Swiss Sweethearts

—Jonathan Saville—

The San Diego Opera is noted for its operatic productions and celebrates its 25th anniversary. Each year, the company presents live performances of operas, including works by Verdi, Puccini, and other composers. The San Diego Opera has a long history of showcasing operatic talent, providing a platform for both established artists and emerging singers.
It's Worth a Trip to Clairemont