THEY DO EVERYTHING
BUT SELL COPPERTONE
It may sound funny, but this work is conducive to mental tranquility.

Mark Weatherill

In the spring of 1979, Paul J. decided to start in the San Diego City Lifeguard program. After graduating from high school, Paul decided to pursue a career in the lifeguarding profession. He had been a part-time lifeguard for a few years and felt that the position offered a good living. He joined the program in the spring of 1979 and began working part-time. Paul was assigned to a station near the beach where he worked from 1979 to 1981.

When one contacts him, one receives a pleasant voice and a friendly demeanor. He is very helpful and always willing to assist others. Paul J. is a very experienced lifeguard and has been working in the profession for several years.

Paul J. is an excellent swimmer and has a great deal of knowledge about water safety. He is constantly on the lookout for potential hazards and takes immediate action to prevent accidents. He is also very good at communicating with swimmers and other beachgoers, explaining the dangers of the water and advising them on how to stay safe.

Paul J. enjoys the work because it enables him to help others and make a difference in people's lives. He finds it very rewarding to see people enjoying the beach and water activities without any incidents.

Paul J. is a great role model for other lifeguards and is respected by his colleagues. He has received many commendations for his outstanding work and has been given the opportunity to train other new lifeguards.

Paul J. is looking forward to a long and successful career in the lifeguarding profession. He feels that this is the perfect career for him and enjoys every moment of it.
