HODGEPODGE

Jack Aranson and Claudia Cummings, husband and wife, presented a program with little unity other than the familial. Had they not been spouses no one would ever have thought of bringing their radically different interests and talents together on the same program.

The program was in the Heaven and Hell theme that is made to fit the pomposity of the old-world theme. Claudia Cummings played the piano with a deft touch, and a voice that was not alone there yet still. Her repertoire was impressive, ranging from classical to popular works. Jack Aranson's presence was felt, but also through his wife's performance. His contribution was in the form of a spoken word segment where he shared stories from his own life, which added to the overall narrative.

The program was well-received by the audience, with several comments praising the unique combination of talents displayed. Many found the theme to be fitting, given the dichotomy in their lives. The interaction between the two brought a dynamic feel to the performance, making it a memorable experience for those who attended.
WORKING GIRL

There are not many women who can make love to a man who has been disfigured and not have him feel they are disgusted by it. So these are things that disqualify a lot of women from the business. They just can't cope with it.

I don't want anyone to think that my profession in any way degrades me. I have no regrets. I'm just doing what I have to. But I wish I could do something more normal, something where I could do a job without being paid by the number of customers.

I used to work in a beauty salon, but I couldn't stand it. I just couldn't stand seeing all those women with no brains, just looking for the wrong things. I mean, some of them are just like that, you know. They just don't know what they want. And then there are the men who just want to get laid, you know. They don't really care about the women, they just want to have fun.

But I'm not like that. I want to make love to the right man. I want to find someone who truly loves me, someone who will respect me as a person, someone who will really care about what I want. I just can't find anyone who is like that.

I think it's sad that we have to do this kind of thing just to survive. But I know I have to do it. I know I have to make love to all these men just to earn enough money to survive. It's just not fair, it's just not right.

But I'm not going to give up. I'm going to keep trying to find someone who is like that, someone who will really love me and respect me as a person. I'm not going to give up on my dreams.
