and the 11:00 News

Art even built himself a lookout tower in his backyard so he could see what the construction workers were doing in the canyon below his house, and when he got through with that he got a notion to paint it red, so he painted it red.

He's not the only older person in the neighborhood who lives alone and they all get together from time to time. But mostly they spend their evenings at home, separated by the particular habits and conveniences of their own houses.

Being There: The Vinyl Word

Although I cherish my Dylan and Parkinson records, and listen to them often and with pleasure, I think of them chiefly as preparations for—or reminders of—the real thing.
STRETCHING REALITY

Apparently the skills that have enabled Power's past successes on stage are still active. He chooses effective music, and the performances are the best that can be found locally.
