The Night La Mesa Stood Still

BILL OWENS

At about 11:45 Wednesday, November 8, 1977 a peculiar sight happened in the sky over La Mesa. Witnesses talk of flashing colored lights, loud crackling and crackling sounds like an electrical short, a saucer in a white cloud which hovered above Grossmont Hospital for at least fifty minutes. Birds screamed and dogs yelped.

Awakened by the noise, Kathleen Casterino, a waitress at a local restaurant, got up and went to her window. She saw a bright light floating in the sky and a large, glowing sphere hovering over Grossmont Hospital, the shopping center, and Mount Helix. "Oh my God," she said.

"The whole shopping center was covered with white light," she recalls breathlessly, reliving the experience. "It was beautiful. I tried to see what was making the lights. There were two bright lights, one that seemed like stars and another that was a glowing light floating just above the roof of Grossmont Hospital. It looked like a white, pale blue."

A nurse and a patient who had been sleeping in the same room a moment ago, outside at about that time, as world Ira Klarr, a security guard at the shopping center. He says he saw a red light in the sky and a large, glowing sphere hovering over Grossmont Hospital. However, Klarr dismissed the oddity and went about his business. (It would subsequently be noted that all three individuals were dead by the morning.)

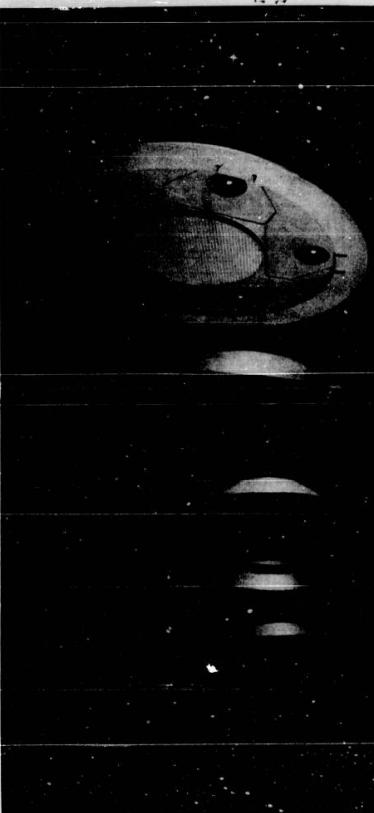

Mrs. Casterino grabbed her telephone and began to call people. She called her friend Maria Arar first. "Look out your window," she urged. "I'll let you see anything with your own eyes." Arar, who had to be awakened from her bed, got out of bed to peek outside. It was the same thing she had seen exactly one week before from outside her apartment window. She had been reading a science fiction book, a reader of Carl Sagan, had dashed inside that first time and locked the door. She had gone to bed and the lights had stayed away. The following day, when Maria and her employer, the experienced te kidder, were talking about drinking,

Now, here were more lights; here she was looking at them again, and once more she left the bed to look outside. She lay back down again after twenty minutes while we talked, and then I decided I didn't want to look anymore." Maria was scared.

Scary or not, real or not, UFO sightings occur more often than most people realize. Many theories have been advanced, including Preston Carter's claim to have seen UFOs. Reports stream in daily from all over the world, many of them from the United States and even more from Mexico. Most recent evidence suggests that for every UFO report made, there are at least ten that go unreported. It may not come as a surprise, then, that a 1973 Gallup poll revealed that a fifty-one only nine months. For such a steady and plain sighter, he's been pretty understating things. He talks of his sightings to the government, secret agencies and reporters. UFOs? "The government claims they don't investigate," he says. "But I know states really, 'if there's really a hot sighting, they're there before us.' And we have NORAD." NORAD logs a couple of hundred sightings a year, mostly in the speed of the American States. If the majority of the American people were aware of the amount of evidence that we makes, about eighty percent of them would be up in arms. They have simple explanations—astral advertising, planes, helicopters or satellites, meteors, stars, satellites, planets, tower lights, and even birds.

"The government claims they don't investigate," he says. "But I know states really, 'if there's really a hot sighting, they're there before us.'

Gars is one of the believers. Gars is San Diego County's field investigator for the Center for UFO Studies (CUFOS), a non-profit organization based in Evanston, Illinois, is a private organization of international organization of volunteers, scientists, writers, physicists, astronomers, and "other individuals interested in the challenge of finding the solution to the mystery."

Gars is a senior at UCSD majoring in political science. He is a calm, well-spoken young man who seems at home with the confident air of someone who knows what he's talking about. He has been involved in UFO research since age eighteen; he has been with CUFOS for three years. For such a steady and plain sighter, he's been pretty understating things. He talks of his sightings to the government, secret agencies and reporters. UFOs? "The government claims they don't investigate," he says. "But I know states really, 'if there's really a hot sighting, they're there before us.'

According to Gars, Southern California has some of the best sighting areas in the country. The sightings, he says, have been increasing over the past twenty years. Here in San Diego County, he gets dozens of UFO related calls per month, though most are simple requests for general information.

"I keep a low profile, and I'm not a public figure," he adds, "the possibility that other being have evolved beyond our level of understanding is just fascinating. Shaking his head, he says, "If the government can't tell us what we know, they'd really be justified."

As a field investigator, part of Gars' job is to interview people for information directly from the people who saw the sightings. He interviews the witness, asks for physical traces of a sighting, and then asks for independent witnesses saw a similar sighting.

There are a little doubt in Kathleen Cantrelo's mind about her UFO.

Recalling her spirited telephone call last September morning, she says,

Boom's proudly presents the Bill Brackett Show featuring, not surprisingly, Bill Brackett... San Diego's number one funniest person. Brackett's gags and banter are all you can hope for. He has a way of making you really surprised (often to Brackett himself). And all you have to do is sit back and enjoy the sound of your own laughter. The East-West Band will be there to keep you entertained. A little bit country and little bit rock, featuring the top forties sprinkled with a generous supply of original material. Bill Brackett and the East-West Band—the perfect accompaniment to the Bill Brackett Show! Now your favorite libation at Boom's is a SUPER BOOMER (also known as a "double" at less sophisticated establishments). Come see and hear Brackett and the East-West Band. Now appearing Wednesday through Sunday, 9:00 PM until 1:30 AM.
