JOSIE SCRIPPS
"One thing you have to understand right off the bat is that I'm the black sheep in my family. And I love it!"

JEANETTE DE WIJE

Josphine Scripps, probably the most recognizable member of the Scripps family, is a bit of an enigma. Though many remember her as a member of the Southern California Museum, she is also known for her role as a politician, educator, and philanthropist. Born in 1888, she was the daughter of William Templeton Jr. and Alice Scripps Tennis. She graduated from Stanford University in 1910 and later attended the University of California, Berkeley. In 1920, she married John J. Scripps, and they had three children together.

In 1929, Josie Scripps became one of the first women to serve on the San Diego County Board of Supervisors, where she advocated for women's rights and education. She was a supporter of the arts and was instrumental in the establishment of the San Diego Museum of Art and the San Diego Museum of Man. She also helped establish the Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

Josie Scripps passed away in 1962, leaving behind a legacy of support for education, the arts, and public service. Her name is synonymous with philanthropy in San Diego, and her contributions continue to be celebrated and remembered today.

From Russia With Love

At five, Father Joseph Baukhozy discovered building a great glass cathedral dome which would dominate the skyline of San Francisco. The cathedral was commissioned by the Russian Orthodox Church, and it was to be the centerpiece of a new Russian Orthodox community in San Francisco. Baukhozy's family lived in a small apartment on Stockton Street, and they were used to living in small spaces. But when the church dome was completed, it was so large and majestic that it seemed to fill the entire sky. Baukhozy was amazed by the beauty of the dome, and he decided to use it as a way to express his love for his Russian homeland.

July 18: Scott's Rincon Park composite office is opening its doors this week to a new tenant: the Rincon Park Art Gallery. The gallery will feature works by local artists, including paintings, sculpture, and photography. The gallery is located at 1000 Rincon Park, and it will be open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 am to 5 pm. Visitors are encouraged to come and browse the works on display, and to talk to the artists about their creations. The gallery is a great place to find unique and affordable works of art, and to support local artists in their creative endeavors.

In this year's state budget, Sen. John Stahl (D-Rincon) succeeded in requiring the state's agricultural extension system to develop new programs to assist farmers. Stahl said that the state's farmers are facing a number of challenges, including a decrease in demand for certain crops and an increase in competition from imported produce. The new programs will provide farmers with information and resources to help them adapt to these changes.

In 1975, after a visit to Vietnam, almost all of the rainforest was lost to deforestation. The rainforest was damaged by the war, and the Vietnamese government was unable to stop the deforestation. Many of the trees were cut down to provide wood for buildings, and the deforestation continued until the Vietnam War ended in 1975. Since then, the rainforest has been slowly restored, but it is still in danger of being destroyed.

Downtowners, Come join us

Walkabout International and the Gaslamp Quarter Association invite you to San Diego's Center City and Gaslamp Quarter during America's First City Walk.

A 90-minute walk, beginning at 12:15, Tuesday, August 22 at the Community Concert Pavilion.

Many of San Diego's most important historic buildings will be pointed out during this walking Gaslamp Quarter's restoration, downtown revitalization and — of course — the 17th Avenue Market. Groups will leave the Concert Pavilion at 12:15 and space is limited, so early is the best time.

Josie Scripps

 Josie Scripps was born in 1908 in an era when women were generally expected to stay at home and raise children. However, Josie had other plans. She was a trailblazer for women in the field of journalism and made significant contributions to the world of media.

 Josie's father, Edgar R. Scripps, was the founder of the Scripps family media empire. He was a visionary businessman and philanthropist who recognized the power of the printed word to inform and engage the public. Josie grew up surrounded by the media industry and was influenced by her father's passion for journalism.

 Josie's early education was at home, with private tutors, and she was expected to follow the traditional path of marriage and motherhood. However, she was determined to break free from these expectations and pursue her passion for writing.

 Josie attended Smith College, where she studied journalism and literature. Upon graduation, she began her career at the Scripps-Howard newspapers, where she worked as a reporter, writer, and editor.

 Josie's career was marked by numerous firsts. She was the first female reporter to cover a major news event, the 1929 stock market crash, and she was also the first female editor of a large newspaper chain. Josie was a pioneer in the field of women's rights and an advocate for equal opportunities in the workplace.

 Josie's contributions to the world of journalism were significant. She was a talented writer and editor, and her work was widely recognized for its quality and impact. Josie was a role model for other women in the field and inspired generations of female journalists.

 Josie's life was filled with achievements and challenges. She faced discrimination and bias throughout her career, but she never gave up on her goals. Josie's unwavering determination and her commitment to excellence set her apart as a true trailblazer.

 In conclusion, Josie Scripps was a trailblazer for women in journalism and made significant contributions to the world of media. Her legacy continues to inspire and empower women today, and her impact will be felt for generations to come.

The Restaurant: The Delahay W
The Location: 1714 Mission Boulevard, Mission Beach (754-0404)
Price Range: Dinner at fixed price of $12.95
Hours: Closed Sunday and Monday; open Tuesday through Saturday, 6 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Reservations advised.

During my recent stint of summer fitting, a friend of mine brought me a novel to discuss with. Ordinarily, I do not read cookbooks, and honestly, I don't even like them. But because I was under the influence of the wonderful character who owns the novel and equally witty, I felt it was my duty to read this book with interest. I immediately became obsessed with the descriptions of the dishes and the way they were prepared. This renewed my interest in cooking and inspired me to take up the art anew. I decided to spend the evening in my favorite restaurant, the Delahay W, and read a new cookbook while enjoying dinner.

The atmosphere at the restaurant was warm and inviting. The menu offered a variety of dishes, each meticulously described. I chose the dish that most appealed to me and ordered it. The waiter was friendly and attentive, and my order was prepared quickly. I enjoyed the dish, which was beautifully presented and had a delicious flavor. The restaurant was quiet and cozy, and I felt relaxed and at ease.

I also ordered a glass of wine to accompany my meal. The selection of wines was impressive, and I chose a bottle that complemented my dish. The wine was smooth and perfectly paired with the food. I thoroughly enjoyed my meal at the Delahay W and would definitely recommend it to anyone looking for a great dining experience.

MATHWELL ALICE

Dear Mathew Alice,

Have you ever heard the expression, "the eyes are the windows to the soul"? I'm not sure if my eyes are actually the eyes of a soul, but I do think they are the expression that comes first!

Dearest Mathew Alice,

All of you, the people who use or make music, are the windows to the soul.

According to the Dictionary of American English, music is defined as "the sounds that are made by humans or animals, used in art or music, or performed by music or music-making tools."

Music is a form of self-expression. It is a way of communicating thoughts and feelings to others. Music has the power to move us, to change our moods, and to help us connect with our own emotions.

Thank you for sharing your passion with us, Mathew Alice. Your music is like a window into your soul.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

The Asphalt Cowboy

DUNCAIN SHEEHAN

The hero of The Driver, known throughout the world as the greatest movie star since the silent screen, has been called a "magician" by many, a "genius" by others, and a "saint" by a few. But whatever name you choose to give him, there is no denying that he is a true master of his craft.

In The Asphalt Cowboy, we see him at his peak, as he takes on the role of a cowboy in the Wild West. The film is a classic example of the kind of performance that made him so famous.

The story follows a man named Ben, who is a cowboy in the American West. He is a man of few words, but his actions speak volumes. Ben is a man who has seen it all, and he has lived it all. He is a man who knows what it takes to survive in this harsh and unforgiving world.

The film is a beautiful blend of action and drama, with a touch of humor thrown in for good measure. The performances are top-notch, with Ben delivering a standout performance that is truly impressive.

The Asphalt Cowboy is a must-see for any true fan of classic cinema. It is a film that will be remembered for years to come.

* SOUNDS LOGICAL, doesn't it? Yet some gym equipment that no longer meets the highest physical training standards. This is because not all gym use equipment to the limit of its capacity. The Nautilus line...

* NAUTILUS, THE ALTERNATIVE. Our unique Nautilus equipment can cut the equivalent of three hours of basic training down to 30 minutes. And less time is less work.

* ACTUALLY, NAUTILUS equipment is not new. For years, athletic and professional athletes have trained on them, and achieved better results than previously—and achieved them in less time.

* NOW IT'S YOUR TURN. We offer you the same Nautilus machines so you can produce the same kind of results. To let you feel the difference Nautilus can make, we'll even give you a free workout.

* NAUTILUS MACHINES—WHY NOT USE THE BEST?
