PRELUDE FOR A YOUNG PIANIST

Even if you don’t have the slightest interest in classical music, would you turn down the chance to meet Mozart? Say you could go back in time and talk to the young Mozart, nine years old, just beginning to shine. Even if his music bored you, wouldn’t it be a treat to sit down and chat with the little squirt, and know that he was headed straight for immortality, and realize that you could tell your kids in thirty years, “Hey, you know I met Mozart.” (You did!) “Yeah, nice kid. I could tell even then there was something special about him.” (Wow!) Well, forget Mozart. Meet Gustavo Romero. His talent might just be of... (continued on page 3)

But The Ad Didn't Mention Quickrand

City Lights

By Fred Whitaker

The ad that didn't mention Quickrand was a typical New York City ad, with its witticisms and its promises of finding a place to drink and eat and somewhere to see shows. But it was different from the usual ad because it was a real ad and not a mere fantasy. The ad was for the new Quickrand restaurant, which was scheduled to open in the spring. The ad promised a unique atmosphere, with its own brand of entertainment, and it was alluring enough to make one want to see the restaurant for themselves. The ad was also different because it was not a traditional ad, in that it did not feature any models or photos. Instead, it was a simple, text-based ad that described the restaurant in great detail. The ad was a good example of how marketing can be used to create a sense of excitement and anticipation around an upcoming event. The ad was a glimpse into the future, and it was a reminder that sometimes the best ads are the ones that are the most unexpected.
Letters

Student Under The Influence

The letter in the Agenda issue of April 29th is very little help to the students who need a little more encouragement in their struggle to maintain a healthy lifestyle and avoid drugs. The suggestion that students hang out in the library is very little help, as most of the students who need to avoid drugs are too poor to afford books. The suggestion that students talk to their parents is also very little help, as most of the students who need to avoid drugs are too proud to talk to their parents. The suggestion that students attend lectures is also very little help, as most of the students who need to avoid drugs are too busy to attend lectures.

The Future of Intimacy
A Workshop on UCSD Feb. 13, 14, and 15

During the past decade, the emphasis in the motion picture industry has been on achieving economy and efficiency—how can we do more with less? But when it comes to the intimacy between sex and love, how can we even begin to address the issue? This workshop features a panel discussion where six experts analyze the pros and cons of intimacy in various relationships.

SMC College Bldg. Feb. 13, 14, and 16, 12:30-2:30 p.m., Third College Center. Registration is $95.00 per participant. For further information, call the College of Arts and Sciences at 282-3000.

PUT YOUR MONEY IN PESOS ¿Sí o No?

By Michael Waterman

A few weeks ago Miguel Marques and I spent several hours in conversation about the Mexican peso. We talked about its history, its role in the Mexican economy, and the challenges facing its value. We concluded that it was a good idea to invest in Mexican pesos, especially for those who are interested in long-term investment opportunities.

Marques has been a strong advocate for Mexican pesos. He believes that the peso is undervalued compared to the US dollar and that its appreciation is likely to continue in the coming years. He also points out that Mexican pesos are a good hedge against inflation, as the Mexican government has been successful in controlling inflation in recent years.

However, there are some risks associated with investing in Mexican pesos. The most obvious is that the peso is subject to fluctuations in the global currency market. The peso has been volatile in recent years, and it is possible that it could weaken against the US dollar in the future.

Another risk is that the Mexican government may be unable to control inflation. If inflationary pressures increase, it is possible that the peso could lose value.

Despite these risks, Marques believes that investing in Mexican pesos is a good idea for those who are looking for a long-term investment opportunity. He also points out that Mexican pesos are cheap compared to other major currencies, and that they are likely to appreciate in the future.

In conclusion, investing in Mexican pesos is a good idea for those who are looking for a long-term investment opportunity. However, it is important to be aware of the risks associated with this investment, and to carefully consider the potential rewards before making a decision.

The peso, Mexico's official currency, has been under scrutiny recently due to its fluctuating value against the US dollar. The peso has experienced significant volatility, with periods of appreciation and depreciation. This has impacted both domestic and international trade, as well as the country's overall economic stability. Mexico's economic performance, political events, and external factors such as global commodity prices and foreign investment have all played roles in the peso's value. The Mexican government has implemented various measures to stabilize the currency, including monetary policy adjustments and interventions to manage foreign exchange reserves. Understanding the dynamics behind the peso's fluctuation is crucial for businesses and investors operating within or trading with Mexico. The peso's value is closely watched as it influences trade, tourism, and investment decisions.

JOHN S. TAVELLI

The concert of the Cleveland Orchestra at Severance Hall, under the auspices of the La Jolla Chamber Music Society, was both enjoyable and instructive. The audience I spoke with afterward agreed: we were impressed by the high level of performance, and in many cases, we were startled - if for nothing more than its sheer quality.

The director of the performance was Arthur Fiedler, a former member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The orchestra itself was a magnificent ensemble, with each section contributing its own distinct voice to the overall sound. The performers were all highly skilled, each bringing their individual talents to the music they were playing.

One of the most striking aspects of the performance was the precision with which the musicians played. From the opening notes of the symphony to the final bars of the overture, there was a uniformity of sound that was truly remarkable. Each musician knew exactly what he or she was supposed to play, and executed it flawlessly.

The selection of music was also noteworthy. It included a mix of classical favorites, as well as some contemporary pieces. This helped to keep the audience engaged throughout the performance, and provided a variety of sounds and textures.

Overall, the concert was a wonderful experience, and I highly recommend it to anyone who loves music. If you have a chance to attend a future performance by the Cleveland Orchestra, I urge you to do so. You will not be disappointed.

In the beginning of each year, progress, success, and external liaisons become important in our predictions. What we can expect after the fine party season at our places, and the occasional events that come our way. It is a time when we can expect to see increased interest in the restaurant business. We can expect more exposure and greater demand for our services. The just-right touch of satisfaction in the last two, and of all the three economic dots; "East Coast" on average, up to ten per cent.

Newspapers have a great deal to offer. The small newspaper in its own way can be as big a newspaper as it is. Now is the time to think of this. The small newspaper is not a news medium any more. It is not the result of a government's decision, nor a property to be acquired or sold. The small newspaper is a property to be continued and used for its business. Artists' Quilts

Vidal So Soon

Jan Vidal, who has been called one of the most exciting and influential artists of our time, has created a series of quilts that explore the themes of love and loss. The quilts are made from carefully selected fabrics and are sewn together with a great deal of care and precision. The result is a series of works that are both visually striking and emotionally resonant. The quilts are on display at the Art Gallery of the University of California, Los Angeles, until the end of the month.

If you're ever audited, would you rather be represented in front of the IRS by a tax preparer or an attorney?

Let's talk it. If the IRS calls you in for an audit, it can be time consuming, and nerve-racking experience. That's where The American Tax and Law Center comes in. The American Tax and Law Center is a general law practice with emphasis on tax preparation.

When your taxes are prepared by us, you'll be taking advantage of getting more. More advice. More information on new laws. For example, are you getting off the deck floor you are not paid? And more professionalism and courteous service on all tax matters.

Even if the IRS has made an error, and you are called in for an audit, you'll be represented by legal counsel through the Asparagus Conference at no additional charge to you.

The American Tax and Law Center also offers reasonable rates for services. Fees range from $50.00 to prepare a 1040 or 1040A return plus schedule. We will also quote a "not to exceed" rate during your call with us. The American Tax and Law Center is extending one half hour FREE legal consultation at no charge to our new or returning clients.

Call The American Tax and Law Center now for an appointment or to set up our brochure.

"I wouldn't try to save money on my eyeglasses."

But just saved a fortune on my glasses!

Before I met the Eyeglass Company on a road trip to San Diego, I had been a long-time customer of another chain. They were always expensive. I didn't like the service. And, the glasses never seemed to fit quite right. But then I met the Eyeglass Company. I was shocked. Instead of paying $100 for a pair of glasses, I was able to get the same pair for only $35. And the price was real! I was never charged for any extra frames or lenses. They were all included in the price. The Eyeglass Company is the only place to go! And they even offer a 100% satisfaction guarantee! What a great deal! I would recommend them to anyone.
