TUNA BY THE TON:
TWO TALES OF FISHING

The Skipper's Side

Tony Calvano is a tuna boat captain and owner of two tuna boats, both of which are based in San Diego. He has been fishing the waters off of Baja California for over 30 years. The first time he remembers going out on his own, he was 19 years old. Tony recalls, "The theory of tuna fishing is simple, yet many things can go wrong on the water. It's all about balance - the boat, the gear, and the weather."

An Observer's Notes

For many strange reasons, I enjoyed the experience of being on the tuna boat. The crew was professional and friendly. Everyone was more interested in the tuna than in the scenery or hanging out. The tuna were in sight, and we were taking off, but we didn't catch any. Luckily, we caught some tuna later on.

The skipper seemed to enjoy the tuna, but he was not happy. "This is not what we do," he told us. "We're here for the tuna, not the weather." I guess we were just lucky to get some good weather.

All This Jazz

A jazz musician's life is a world of music, love, and tempestuous relationships. No amount of time spent in the recording studio can outshine the thrill of performing live in front of a captivated audicence. The life of a jazz musician is filled with moments of joy and discipline, as well as periods of isolation and struggle. This is a world where every note counts, and every performance is a chance to share the music and connect with an audience.

articles of our lives, he is trying to find that special somebody in a sea of anonymity.

I have a friend who is a jazz musician, and he told me about his life in the music industry. He said that the life of a jazz musician can be quite challenging, but it is also very rewarding. He told me about how he has to travel all the time to perform at different venues, and how he has to practice every day to keep his skills sharp. He also told me about how he has to deal with the pressures of being a famous musician, and how he has to balance his personal life with his professional life. He said that living the life of a jazz musician is not easy, but it is worth it.

Circle of Friends

The effect of a good play is like an explosion. It is felt in the heart and soul, stirring the senses and the imagination.

The play "Circle of Friends" is a powerful and emotional piece that explores the meaning of life and love.

The story follows a young woman named Lise, who moves to a small town in France to start a new life.
She meets a group of friends who become her support and comfort during a difficult time. The play is filled with beautiful moments and heartwarming scenes that make you feel like you are part of the circle.

The cast of "Circle of Friends" is excellent, with everyone giving a standout performance. The direction is also top-notch, with a beautiful pace and emotionally charged moments.

Overall, "Circle of Friends" is a must-see play
that will leave you moved and inspired. It is a reminder that friendship and love have the power to overcome any difficulty and bring hope to the darkest of times.

Joey Smith

Joey Smith is a talented actor who has appeared in many performances. His work is always praised for his ability to bring depth and emotion to his roles.

Joey Smith's portrayal of Lise in "Circle of Friends" is both moving and inspiring.
He brings a sense of kindness and vulnerability to his character, making him sympathetic to the audience.

Joey Smith's dedication to his craft is evident in every scene. His performance is awe-inspiring, and his ability to capture the essence of Lise's journey is truly impressive.

The rest of the cast is equally impressive, with each actor contributing to the overall success of the play.
They work together to create a powerful and emotional experience that stays with the audience long after the final curtain falls.

In conclusion, "Circle of Friends" is a must-see play
that will leave you moved and inspired. Its powerful message about the importance of friendship and love is a true reminder of the beauty of life. As Joey Smith's performance demonstrates, the very best of human nature is always worth celebrating.

The scale to which you are referring was developed by the team from the Office of Traffic Operations, City of San Diego. The scale, known as the Qem-Guide, is designed to help traffic engineers and police officers assess the visibility and safety of traffic signals.

The scale ranges from 0 to 5, with 5 being the most visible. Each increment on the scale represents a specific level of visibility and safety, helping to ensure that traffic signals are clearly visible to drivers.

Here is a breakdown of the scale:

- 0: No light is visible, and the signal is not functional.
- 1: A dim light is visible, but it is not very bright.
- 2: A moderately bright light is visible, but it is not very strong.
- 3: A strong light is visible, but it is not very bright.
- 4: A very strong light is visible, and it is bright enough to be easily seen.
- 5: The light is very bright and clearly visible from a distance.

The Qem-Guide is used to ensure that traffic signals meet the necessary safety standards, helping to reduce the risk of accidents and improve overall traffic flow.

Have you ever tried to learn Spanish and failed? Americans have been studying languages in high school, community and adult school for years, but not much success as a whole. I just want to say that the California Traffic Citation Clinic is a great way to learn Spanish. I'm interested in the clinic and would like to know more about it. Let me know if there are any upcoming events or how to register.

The clinic is held in San Diego and is a great way to learn Spanish and get a feel for the language. It's a fun and interactive way to learn, and I think it would be beneficial for anyone interested in learning Spanish.

DON'T LOOK AT THIS COMMERCIAL UNTIL AFTER 9 PM!

1. ANNOUNCER: "Go ahead, try it on the radio station that's 6.
2. out to prove that you're San Diego's best rock.
3. It's good....
4. It's good....
5. And it sounds great.
6. KPRL.
7. We're out to prove we're San Diego's best rock.
8. KPRL. Why don't you hear it yet?"

You may have already seen the KPRL television commercial pictured above. We present it here to make a point:

Especially when there are entire programs on before 9 pm which are far more provocative than our commercial...from Charlie's Angels to M.A.S.H. to practically every daytime soap.

TOO PROVOCATIVE?

We designed the commercial as we did to present a memorable message about KPRL. In a way that would appeal to our listeners. We don't think the commercial is offensive. More importantly, we question the fairness of being told we can only show it after 9 pm.

Suffering?

Complete skin care...total comfort...total relaxation. It's "LULDA"...the complete solution to your skin care problems.

An Observer's Notes

Audacious and avant-garde, most of these had a radical air. But, even more thrilling was the number of them that simply went by almost unnoticed, maybe even ignored. I was thrilled, of course, but we were both aware that our society does not always value or respect the work of visionaries. The fact that many people who are truly original and innovative are not always recognized or appreciated is a testament to our culture. But then, some people are just like that. They learn from and contribute to the world in their own way. And that's wonderful. I was thrilled by the vast array of possibilities that lay before us, and I knew that we both had a lot to offer.

 années. En ce qui concerne les soldats, c'est une forme de reconnaissance de leur courage et de leur sacrifice.

Le jour d'aujourd'hui, j'étais au centre de Paris, en plein cœur de l'histoire. J'ai vu des gens marcher et parler, discuter et sourire. Je me suis senti heureux de vivre dans cette ville où l'histoire semble toujours présente.

Au bout de la rue, j'ai vu une femme avec une robe bleue et des lunettes de soleil. Elle marchait lentement, comme si elle savait où elle allait. J'ai eu envie de lui parler, mais je n'ai pas osé.

Le soir, j'ai assisté à un spectacle dans le métro. Les artistes étaient incroyables, et je me suis senti reconnaissant de vivre dans une ville où la culture est respectée.

Au réveil, j'ai vu la ville de nouveau. Les gens se pressaient, allant et venant, comme si la ville était leur maison. J'ai su que j'aimais Paris, et j'espère revenir un jour.

Assister à un concert ou un spectacle, voir les gens dans la rue, c'est être heureux et reconnaissant de vivre dans cette ville qui me passionne. Je suis heureux d'être un citoyen de Paris.
