Retirement in San Diego can be more hell than paradise. For many seniors who’ve discovered that, there’s Evelyn Herrmann.

But Losing The War

The San Francisco Biplane Factory is located in the Rocks overlooking the Golden Gate Bridge. The factory was hit by a fire in 1937 and was forced to close. The factory was later re-opened and was in operation until 1941. The factory was then abandoned and remained so until 1957 when it was purchased by the city and used as a park. The factory was later converted into a museum and is now open to the public.

The Ten Of Us Just Down From Home

San Francisco, the City Beautiful, is home to ten of the most famous landmarks in the city. These landmarks include the Golden Gate Bridge, the Palace of Fine Arts, and the Exploratorium. The city is known for its vibrant culture, its delicious food, and its beautiful scenery. The ten landmarks are a testament to the city's rich history and are a must-see for any visitor.

Lost In The Nimitz Triangle

From the back windows of their white limousine, Vice Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, Commander in Chief, Pacific Fleet, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Supreme Commander, United Nations Command, examined the impact of the atomic bomb on Hiroshima.

Dear Mathew Alice:

What a hellish day. I'm going to the other position in the solar system to visit the planet you believe to be the source of our food. If we eat from a different planet, my Behavior analysis shows that you have a tendency to eat less, and that the "lens" you've formed in your mind is a bit blurred.

Mike Glover
San Diego

You're right with all the spinning in circles. Earth feels as though it's moving through space, and I think we need to go on a diet. We can't keep going like this, and I think our planet needs a new orbit. I'm not sure if we can survive this, but I'm willing to try. We need to find a way to eat less, and I think we need to do it now.

Mike Glover
San Diego

Earth currently orbits the sun at an average distance of 93 million miles, or a bit less than 150 million miles away. The Sun is the primary source of light and energy for Earth and all other planets in the solar system. The distance from the Earth to the Sun varies throughout the year due to the Earth's elliptical orbit.

The Sun is a star, and it is the source of most of the energy we receive on Earth. The Sun's gravity pulls on the Earth, keeping it in its orbit around the Sun. The Earth's orbit is an ellipse, and the Sun is located at one of the foci of the ellipse.

The distance from the Earth to the Sun is about 93 million miles, or 1.496 x 10^11 meters. The Earth's orbit is tilted by about 23.5 degrees with respect to the plane of the ecliptic, which is the plane of Earth's orbit around the Sun. This tilt is responsible for the seasons on Earth, as the amount of sunlight received at different latitudes changes throughout the year.

Dear Mathew Alice:

Your idea of a great spring frame-up sale is very appealing. I think it's a great opportunity to get some new frames for the warmer weather. I'm looking forward to the spring season, and I'm excited to start wearing my new glasses.

You can't "play" the evil eye unless you've got it, and unless you've got it, there's really no point in trying to get it. It's a gift. If you had it, you wouldn't be asking in the first place.

Now, if you want to know how to avoid getting the evil eye, here's a tip: practice a solid mind, body, and soul routine. The evil eye is a reflection of the evil inside us. If you can't stop yourself from doing evil, you can't stop the evil eye.

Dear Mathew Alice:

What is the "evil eye," and how does one get rid of it?

Now there's a Family Fitness Center within 10 minutes of every residence and business in the San Diego area.
Harbor police chief Leflax says the area is called "back" because "there's a lot of "back in the dark" and you don't know where you are."

"We have very few people on the ground, so we have to rely on surveillance."

Olivia Turner, 82, used to be a nurse in the 1940s and 50s, and now she's a bridge player and a volunteer at a local senior center. She says that living an active life in retirement is key to staying healthy and happy. "I've always been active, and I think that's why I'm still around," she says. "I used to play tennis, and now I play bridge and keep fit by walking every day." "I used to live in the city, but now I live in the countryside," she adds. "I love the quiet and the peace of it." "I used to work a lot, but now I have more time to myself," she says. "I love to read and watch TV." "I used to be a teacher," she says. "I taught English for many years," and now she's a volunteer at a local senior center. "I love to help others," she says. "I try to make a difference in the lives of the elderly." Paying out slowly from beneath a white bonnet hat, a woman tipped on the pot-holed pavement behind Herman's private office and office effects. "I am 86 years old," declared Herman, "and I'll be 87 in just a few months."

"I'll be 87 in just a few months," she added, "but I'm not that old."

"I'm 87 years old," she replied. "But I'm not that old."

"I'm not that old," she said, "but I'm 87 years old."
You're wide awake, and suddenly your mind's a blank. You can't even form the words to ask help. What do you do?
The earlier attack had found me calm and observant. Now the moment for terror had arrived.

"Bride of Plasma," gots a pretty good. "Get a grip!" Braving her face growing pustules and wearing about 200 pounds of finery, she dons a new set of glasses and a new set of feathers on the stage. The result: a stunning transformation, and the white light goes on, revealing a sea of photographs through the crowd. Stunished with what, ultimately, is the true cost of descent into the care of a woman.

Judds' 'Red Zone' tour - The Judds, made up of Naomi Judd and Wynonna Judd, have announced their "Red Zone" tour, which kicks off in March. The duo will be performing in various cities across the US, including Los Angeles, New York, and Chicago. The tour is expected to be one of the highlights of the music festival season this year.

Miles Davis - Miles Davis, the legendary jazz trumpeter, passed away on May 27, 1991. He was 65 years old and his death came as a shock to the music world. Davis was one of the most influential musicians of the 20th century and his contributions to jazz are immeasurable. His music spanned from bebop to hard bop and beyond, and his influence can be heard in the work of countless artists who followed him.

Jerry Garcia Band Electric - The Jerry Garcia Band Electric is set to perform at the San Diego Sports Arena on Friday, May 23. The band is known for their high-energy shows and their ability to connect with the audience. This is a must-see gig for any fan of the Grateful Dead or fans of psychedelic rock.

Dave Grusin - Dave Grusin, a renowned jazz pianist and composer, is scheduled to perform at Humphreys by the Bay on August 26. Grusin has been a fixture on the jazz scene for many years and his music is known for its intricate arrangements and beautiful melodies.

CURRENT MOVIES

- Back to the Future - The best of the summer, this tale of a future in which teenagers are able to time travel in a car created by Doc Brown, an old college friend of the main character, is a delight for all ages. The special effects are top-notch, and the story is well-crafted. (U)

- The Color Purple - Based on the novel by Alice Walker, this film is a powerful and emotional portrayal of the lives of African American women in the South during the early 20th century. It stars Whoopi Goldberg and Danny Glover. (R)

- The Little Princess - A charming and heartwarming tale of a young girl who is separated from her family and must adapt to a new life. (PG)

- Mommie Dearest - A provocative and controversial film that explores the relationship between Mommie Dearest and her daughter, exploring themes of mental illness and family dynamics. (R)

Playboy congratulates Mad Jack's as one of the brightest names in the business—"1985 National Dealer of the Year"

Playboy quotes: "More than just the lowest prices in town.
"All retailers should be as crazy as Mad Jack's.
"Inside the Wymsy Mad Jack's clean, high-quality, and displays the look of the latest technology.
"Mad Jack's is testimony to one of the first auto dealers in the industry so it was chosen as the outstanding retail based on different aspects of retailing—some tangible, some not—which we regard as professional, progressive, and notable."

PICTURE STORY
By the San Diego Historical Society

The Douglas Hotel, located at 204 Market Street in downtown's notorious Gaslamp District, boasted one of San Diego's most popular nightclubs in the Thirties and Forties. The hotel's black owners, Bob Ross and George Ramsey, who owned a nearby bordello, brought in such headliners as Paul Robeson, Bill "Bojangles" Robinson, Clayton "Pig Leg" Bates, and the Mills Brothers, as well as local talents to their Circle Palace, where the center of attention was the stage. The drinks were cheap and the monthly white, fashionable, weekend crowds riddled in the cabaret atmosphere. Sundays and Thursdays were popular with area clubs until the end of the club's lease. This photo was taken in 1935 by well-known commercial photographer Harry Gamboa.
