The Museum of Photographic Arts, the Gallery Stone, and the Reader would like to thank San Diego County photographers who submitted entries to this year’s contest. A total of 810 images were received from 372 individuals. All entries were judged by James Allender, executive director of the Friends of Photography, who selected thirty-two for exhibition. Six of these are color images, twenty-three are black and white, and three are mixed media. The eight prize-winning photographs are presented in this issue of the Reader. The complete exhibition may be seen at the Gallery Stone, 724 Broadway, downtown San Diego, from Saturday, October 18, through Saturday, November 15. In December and January, the exhibition will travel to Southwestern and Palomar colleges.

DAD'S A WALL

If you're tuning into the new hour-long television program "Dad's a Wall," you're tuning into the world of a man who has been described as "a wall" by his family and friends. The show, which airs on weekdays at 9 p.m., features interviews with people who have been described as "walls" by their loved ones. Among them is a man who describes himself as "a wall" and who is interviewed by a reporter who is also described as "a wall." The show is produced by a group of "walls" who believe that "walls" should be celebrated and explored. With humor and compassion, "Dad's a Wall" offers a unique perspective on the world of "walls."
Dear Matthew Alice:

It's only a few minutes to go, but I've been unable to find a place to sit and write the letter you requested. I don't know what to say, really. I've been so busy with my work and family that I haven't had a chance to think about it. I don't know if you're still interested, but I'm willing to help if you are.

We've been through so much together, and I want to make sure you understand how much I care for you. I know that's not enough, but it's all I can offer right now.

Best, [Your Name]
THE INSIDE STORY

IN ITS SUCCESSFUL RIB-LETTER PULL FOR A small telephone system in county government offices, Concealed Business Networks pleaded to award them more than $26 million in contracts for the equipment.

But the state did not.

In fact, the state rejected the company's bid entirely.

And that's because Concealed Business Networks failed to meet the requirements for the contract.

According to the state's Public Service Commission, Concealed Business Networks did not qualify for the contract because it did not have the necessary experience and did not have the financial capacity to perform the work.

In the end, the state decided to award the contract to two other companies instead.

But Concealed Business Networks is not the only company that has been unsuccessful in its efforts to secure government contracts.

Companies like Concealed Business Networks are often frustrated by the lack of opportunities to bid on government contracts.

They argue that the government contracts process is too complex and too costly for small businesses.

However, the state and the government argue that these companies do not have the necessary qualifications and do not have the financial resources to perform the work.

And that's because the government contracts process is designed to ensure that the work is done correctly and that the money is spent wisely.

So, even though Concealed Business Networks was unable to secure the government contract, it is not the only company that has been unable to do so.

In fact, there are many small businesses that are struggling to find government contracts.

But the government is committed to helping these companies succeed.

And that's why it is working to simplify the process and to make it more accessible to small businesses.

So, if you are a small business owner and you are interested in government contracts, be sure to check out the government's website for more information.

The government is committed to helping you succeed.
A Case for Controversy
Local civil liberties attorney Tom Homann courts the tough issues

Tom Homann's office window in the Keating Building, at the corner of New Montgomery Street and 16th, overlooks a world glowing with heat. This is a city of pawn shops, prostitutes, and early-morning bar patrons. Homann is an attorney specializing in civil rights and civil liberties cases, and the view from his office takes in much of his legal terrain. It is an oblique view of San Diego, decidedly different from the view out of the corporation-owned office windows on North Harbor Drive. After his morning meeting with attorney George Hayness, Tom adjourns to F Street Corporation, the latest stop on his daily circuit of newspapers, books, magazines, and deep dives into the city. Homann is a man who owns the corner of Massachusetts Avenue, a block that not only is the heart of his professional life, but also is the heart of his personal life. He has been married to Mary, his law partner, for 15 years. They have three children: a 10-year-old son and two 6-year-old daughters.

The cornerstone of his legal philosophy is a belief that the government has a duty to protect the rights of all citizens, regardless of their race, gender, or sexual orientation. He firmly believes in the power of the people to effect change through the legal system. This belief is rooted in his own upbringing, which was marked by his parents' involvement in civil rights activism.

Homann's office is located on the third floor of the Keating Building, a building that has been a fixture in the city's downtown for over a century. The building was once a warehouse, but it has been repurposed into a mixed-use space, with offices, apartments, and a popular restaurant on the ground floor.

The office is small but inviting, with a large window that provides a view of the street below. Homann sits at a desk that is cluttered with legal files, a stack of books, and a phone. He is often interrupted by clients who stop by for a quick consultation or to check in on their cases. Homann is known for his frank and honest approach to legal matters, and his clients appreciate his direct and no-nonsense style.

One of Homann's most recent cases involved a controversy over the city's street sweeping program. The program, which uses large trucks to clean the streets, has been criticized for its impact on local businesses and for the health hazards it poses to pedestrians. Homann represented a group of small business owners who sued the city, arguing that the program violated their constitutional rights.

The case eventually went to trial, and Homann was able to secure a favorable verdict for his clients. The jury found in favor of the small business owners, and the city was ordered to halt the street sweeping program.

Homann's work is not without its challenges. He often finds himself at odds with powerful interests, and he is frequently targeted by critics who question his motives and methods. Despite these challenges, Homann remains dedicated to his work, and he continues to fight for justice and equality for all.

As he looks out his office window, Homann reflects on the day's events and plans for the next day. He knows that his work is never done, and he is committed to serving his clients and upholding the principles of justice and equality that are at the core of his legal philosophy.
Controversy

"Is this the type of work you do change your mind about in the middle of the road?"

It's a little different...When I first started working with [name], I was a little confused. [name] was very direct and to the point. He never sugarcoated anything and he was always honest with me. But he was also very demanding and I felt like I was constantly under pressure to perform. But now that I've been working with him for a while, I've come to appreciate his straightforwardness and his ability to make quick decisions. It's definitely helped me grow as a professional and I feel like I'm learning a lot from him.

Homes and Havens was one of the first companies to introduce natural, organic skincare products to the market. They've been making waves in the industry with their unique approach to skincare and their commitment to sustainability. I started using their products a few months ago and I've been really impressed with how effective they are. They use only the highest quality ingredients and their products are free from synthetic fragrances and preservatives. I definitely recommend them to anyone looking for a natural skincare solution.

Controversy

Controversy surrounds the issue of massage parlors in our city. Some argue that they provide a necessary service for citizens. Others believe they are a blight on the cityscape. The debate rages on as the city council weighs the pros and cons of allowing these businesses to operate.

JOHN D'AGOSTINO

Comedian Rodney Dangerfield shocked a lot of people when he made the now famous comment, "I'm not in the business of making friends, I'm in the business of making money." While his sense of humor may not be for everyone, there's no denying that his act is one of the most successful in the business. Rodney Dangerfield, who is known for his wit and quick comebacks, recently performed in a sold-out show at the local comedy club.

The audience was thrilled with his performance. They laughed as he spoke about his life and his career. He even shared some behind-the-scenes stories about his time in Hollywood. The audience was in stitches as he joked about his parents and his family. Rodney's humor is so effective because he is able to connect with the audience on a personal level.

The show was a huge success, and the audience was eager to see more. Rodney Dangerfield is one of the most talented comedians around, and his performance was a testament to his skills. Thank you, Rodney, for making us laugh.

The Restaurant: Le Pavillon
The Location: San Antonio, Mission Valley
The Hours: Saturday and Sunday, 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.
Type of Food: French
Price Range: Moderate

I asked a few friends if they knew of any good French restaurants in San Antonio. Most of them knew of Le Pavillon.

The restaurant is in a lovely area of Mission Valley. As you enter, you are greeted by a hostess and then seated by the hostess. You then order your meal from the menu. The food is served promptly, and the service is excellent.

The food was delicious, and the atmosphere was very pleasant. I would definitely recommend Le Pavillon to anyone looking for a good French meal.

Next time, I plan to try the roasted duck and the cheese fondue.

The overall experience was great, and I would definitely go back.

I hope this review helps you find a good French restaurant in San Antonio.

Regardless of one's ultimate opinion of Beach Boys' performance piece L'Home, as atypical of a Los Angeles-based performance artist, is a truly bright spot in the genre of experimental music. The work was performed at the Los Angeles Music Center's Ahmanson Theatre, and the audience was seated on the stage. The performance was a series of scenes from the film, "L'Assemblée," which features the members of the band as they gather for a concert. The scenes were interspersed with music by Beach Boys, and the atmosphere was both lively and intense. The performance received critical acclaim from the audience, who were impressed by the band's unique blend of music and visuals. Overall, the performance was a testament to Beach Boys' musical talent and creativity.

Has your car ever been broken into or stolen?

By Lin Jankery

Mike Parker

Business Manager

I took the family car to Las Vegas last July for a family reunion in Reno. My wife and daughter went with me and we stayed in a hotel for two weeks. We drove from Reno to Las Vegas but we had to stay in a hotel because the traffic was horrible. We stayed at the Flamingo Hotel because it was near the airport. We had to leave the car in the hotel parking lot because we had to leave early in the morning. When we got back to the hotel, we realized that the car was missing. We called the police and they found the car in the hotel parking lot. We didn't have any insurance and we couldn't afford to pay for the damage. We had to pay for a new car and we were very happy to hear that the car was found.

Lisa E.

Babcock

Leasing Consultant

I live in San Diego and I rent a car every time I go on vacation. I租 a car for a week last month in Los Angeles and I had a few problems. I rented a car from Hertz and the car was very dirty when I picked it up. I complained to the rental agent and they said that the car was dirty because it was raining. I didn't want to drive the car and I asked them to give me a new one. They gave me a new car and I was very happy with the service.

David Barak

Navy

I was on a cruise in the last six months. I was on a ship in the Caribbean and I had to leave the ship because the ship was going too fast. I was very angry and I complained to the captain. He apologized and gave me a refund. I was very happy with the service.

Rich Douglas

Electronic Field Engineer

I was on a business trip in the last six months. I was in Los Angeles and I had to leave the hotel because there was a fire. I called the police and they told me that the fire was not dangerous. I was very happy to hear that the fire was not dangerous.

Cheryl Morando

Insurance

I was on a business trip in the last six months. I was in San Francisco and I had a car accident. I was not at fault and I called my insurance company. They said that I was at fault and they paid for the damage. I was very angry and I complained to my insurance company. They explained that the damage was not serious and they paid for the damage. I was very happy with the service.
