THE INSIDE STORY
BY JUDE ALEPSIS

THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN DANCERS AND THE AUDIENCE continues to evolve. Dancers are no longer just entertainers, but also performers who engage in meaningful relationships with their audiences. This relationship is particularly evident in the work of the dancers featured in this issue. Their artistry and dedication to their craft are showcased through their performances, which are not just for the audience, but with the audience. The dancers share their stories, their experiences, and their emotions with the people who come to see them. This unique connection between the dancers and their audience is what makes their performances so special. The dancers are not just performing, but also communicating their passion and their love for their craft.

A Scavenger's Guide to Old Cars

0f the hundreds of old cars that line the streets of Mexico City's cemetery, the ones that are most interesting to the main attractions. Here, the old cars are not merely for display, but are actively used and maintained. The cars are well-preserved, some even restored to their former glory. The cemetery is a popular attraction, drawing visitors from all over the world. In fact, the cemetery has become a destination for car enthusiasts, who come to see the unique collection of vehicles. The cars are arranged in a grid-like pattern, with rows of cars stretching for miles. The cars are of various makes and models, from classic cars to vintage cars. Some of the cars are even decorated with personalized touches, such as car accessories and custom paint jobs. The cemetery is a testament to the love and passion that people have for cars, and it is a wonderful place to explore and discover the history of automotive design.

PUMPING

Wolfford and Fox, their opponents said, were making emotional appeals to try to win a big financial award in court, where they had failed to do so in the open marketplace.

West Coast Medical had always presented a superior choice. Wolfford and Fox, he said, were taking emotional appeals to win a big financial award in court, where they had failed to do so in the open marketplace.

As of today, the relationship between NMC and the local nephrologists is precisely what it was four and a half years ago.
Nealon's Choice

John Simon

New York, June 24

Nealon's Choice is a surprising new discovery in the world of avant-garde cinema. The film, directed by the talented filmmaker, captures the essence of the avant-garde movement in a unique and thought-provoking way.

The story follows the life of a young artist, John, who is struggling to find his place in the art world. John is a man of many talents, but his artistic vision is often met with resistance from the mainstream society. Despite the challenges, John continues to pursue his art, and his determination eventually pays off when he creates a masterpiece that gains international recognition.

The film's use of avant-garde techniques, such as superimposition and disjointed narrative, adds a layer of complexity to the story, making it a truly unique and captivating viewing experience. Nealon's Choice is a must-see for anyone interested in the world of avant-garde cinema.

OFF THE BEATEN PATH.

New clients often ask me why I'm not out in the mainstream with the other guys. The answer has to do with two concepts of selling art. We need to have two locations where we could work with our clients to select and frame the perfect piece of art. A quiet location, with our eyes, pencils, and paper and pen, should be able to enjoy the full experience of the art without the distraction of the city. It is then that the client can truly appreciate the beauty and the meaning of the art. This is the true experience of collecting art.
Bard to the Bone

There is a palpable sense of disintegration and exhaustion, of life burned out and on the brink of extinction.

JONATHAN EVANS

The Old Globe's production of "Tears of Elbow" is understated. It is a work which, in its very quietness, manages to convey a sense of tragedy without ever crossing into melodrama. The actors, all in a sense, are all of them, are...
The Meeting of the Twain

If the movie overall inspires something like awe more than anything else, it's because the technical difficulty makes complete relaxation impossible.

DUNCAN SHEPHERD

The creative touch in the film is played by the nonchalant Way of Life and the photographer's knack for projecting life's every incident on the screen. It's all here to see, all within a year, all as though the world were the screen, and the screen, life itself.

The camera, in its different scenes, is never a mirror, but always a reflector, a miroir as it were, of the world as it is in the real world.

The light and the shadow, the color and the form, the movement and the rest, are all there for the taking, as the world is a theatre and the theatre is life.

The Twain, as shown in the film, is a very real and very human being, a man with a heart and a soul, a man who is part of the world, a man who is part of the scene, a man who is part of the picture, a man who is part of the story.

The artistic touch in the film is played by the way the world is projected on the screen, as the world is a theatre and the theatre is life.

ORGAN RECITAL
Three weeks after the opening of the new building, the Gloucester Symphony Orchestra presented the first of a series of concerts, featuring an organ recital. The program included works by Bach, Handel, and other composers. The quality of the playing was praised, and the audience enjoyed the performance, which was well-received by the audience.

Receive a free calculator just for looking at our new copiers this month.*

*Come and see a two-minute demonstration of our Minolta copiers and receive a pocket-size calculator free!

The 570Z copier handles both sides of every story... automatically
- Fully automatic two-sided copying at the push of a button
- Editing ability lets you separate, zoom, overlay images without cutting and pasting
- Wide-range exposure for greater enlarging and reducing capabilities
- Various paper cassette options let you make up to 2,000 copies in five different sizes

The world's first single-step two-color copier
- The Minolta 450C
  - Patented two-color process makes two-color copying quick and easy.
  - Unlike other two-color copiers, you only handle the original once.
  - Colors are black and a choice of red, green, yellow or blue
  - This machine can grow as you do with available automatic document feeders, true paper stacks, 2,000 sheet cassette and more.
