WHY PEOPLE STAY AT THE STATE

State Hotel Deli, E & State, Saturday morning, handsome, middle-aged Carlos—who doesn't live at the State Hotel anymore but comes by the deli on weekends to drink coffee, read the paper, then have a beer—commandeers the counter's end seat. "So, where's Mama Sofia this morning? Out shopping?"

"Shopping," he's told. "Mama Sofia's shopping." The red-nosed man who tells him lives upstairs on the third floor. This morning, as always, on the counter before him, "red-noze" spreads the Racing Form.

Next to his Form, he has Camels—"hump-backs." Shakes the pack, says to the woman one stool over, who complains she's left her cigarettes in her room, "Wanna bum a hump-back?"

"Thanks," she does. "Upstairs," she points to the ceiling, "everybody's sleeping."

BILL TAKE SAN DIEGO

WHY WE WILL NEVER BE LIKE L.A.

We have been in La Jolla, and I can tell you, there is no other place like it. The beaches are beautiful, the people are friendly, and the atmosphere is relaxed. It's a place where you can escape from the hustle and bustle of city life.

But San Diego is not all beaches and sunshine. There is a serious side to this city, too. The economy is strong, with a diverse range of industries including defense, biotechnology, and tourism.

The city is also home to a vibrant arts and culture scene, with numerous museums and theaters. The San Diego Symphony is one of the finest in the country, and the city is the home of the San Diego Padres baseball team.

In conclusion, San Diego is a city that offers something for everyone. Whether you enjoy the beach or prefer the city life, this is a place where you can find what you're looking for.

SAN DIEGO WILL NEVER BE LIKE L.A.

IT CAN'T BE.

THERE'S NOT ENOUGH PEOPLE OR SPACE HERE.

The city is not as crowded as Los Angeles, and there is plenty of room to move around. You can get from one end of the city to the other in just a few minutes by car or public transportation.

And don't forget about the weather. San Diego has a mild, year-round climate that is perfect for outdoor activities. You can enjoy the sun and the sand all year long.

In short, San Diego is a unique and special place that is unlike any other city in the United States. It's a place where you can live a happy and fulfilling life.

BY JOHN P. AGOSTINO

Last week the grand opening of the new Maritime Theatre at the New World in Westbury was held. The theatre, which is the new home of the Maritime Theatre Company, was designed by scenery designer Emile Chevres and lighting designer Stan Gottlieb. The opening night was attended by the cast and crew of the production, as well as many theater professionals. The production was a hit with the audience, and the reviews were overwhelmingly positive. The production was directed by John P. Agostino, who is a well-known director in the New York theatre community.

DANCE

TRANSLATIONS

The San Diego Symphony's Mostly Latin programs for the Performing Arts bring to the La Jolla Playhouse an unaccustomed multicultural program. A member of La Jolla Playhouse's Dance Company, Sekulenki Maria-Lucia Rosiello, is the Latin dance specialist and choreographer of the program. She is a native of Lima, Peru, and has been teaching and choreographing for over 20 years. She has performed with various Latin dance groups throughout the world, and her performances have been featured in numerous television and film productions.

The program features a mix of Latin dance styles, including Salsa, Mambo, Merengue, and Bachata. The dancers wear colorful, traditional Latin outfits, and the music is a blend of upbeat and rhythmic Latin beats. The performance is a celebration of Latin culture and dance, and it is sure to be a memorable experience for all those in attendance.

The program also includes a special segment of contemporary Latin dance, featuring dances with modern and experimental elements. The dancers showcase their skills and creativity, blending traditional Latin dance with innovative techniques and movements.

The program is a perfect combination of traditional and contemporary Latin dance, and it is sure to be a hit with audiences of all ages. It is a testament to the diversity and richness of Latin culture, and it is a great way to celebrate the unique and vibrant world of Latin dance.

YOU MAY HAVE A PICASSO IN YOUR HOME AND NOT EVEN KNOW IT.

If it's true that you have to suffer to be an artist, then he automatically qualifies as a genius.

He was crippled for life while a boy. He left home when his father refused him the funds to study art. He died an alcoholic at 43. He's the artist who painted the murals at the San Diego Museum of Art.

Theatrical poetry

"Lively, sprightly, and funny." —The San Diego Union

"Ms. Poetry's witty, engaging style is as fresh as today's headlines." —The San Diego Union
Ouch, which none of us have been. People who live here are the ones who seem to be living. The people who live here are the ones who seem to be living.

William is in the company of his old college friend, Carl, who has just moved back to the city. William is hoping to get a job and start his own business. He is thinking about opening a restaurant. Carl, on the other hand, is working at a museum.

William is wearing his regular clothes and looks a bit untidy. Carl, on the other hand, is dressed very nicely and looks well-groomed.

William: Hi, Carl.
Carl: Hey, William. How's it going?
William: Not bad. I'm just trying to figure out what I want to do with my life.
Carl: Yeah, I know the feeling. I'm still trying to figure out what I want to do.

Carl shows William around the museum. William is impressed by the exhibits and the amount of history that is preserved there. Carl explains the history of the museum and how it was founded.

William: Wow, I didn't know there was so much history here.
Carl: Yeah, it's a really cool place.

William is inspired by the museum and decides that he wants to open his own museum someday. He is thinking about opening a museum about the history of music.

Carl: Hey, William. What are you thinking about doing?
William: I'm thinking about opening a museum about the history of music.
Carl: That sounds great. I think that would be a really cool idea.

William and Carl spend the rest of the day talking about their ideas and plans for the future.

The Olé, 1167 West Boardwalk, Pacific Beach
Towards the outer sands, the Olé has been a favorite hangout for many years. It's a great place to listen to live music and enjoy a cold drink or a meal. The Olé offers a variety of food options, including pizza, salad, and sandwiches. The bar is well-stocked with a variety of beers and wines, and there is a happy hour special every day from 3-7 PM. The Olé also has a dance floor, a pool table, and a ping pong table, making it a great place to socialize and have fun. Whether you're looking to relax with a drink or dance the night away, the Olé is a must-visit spot in Pacific Beach.

BIRD PROCLAIMS EASTWOOD A MAJOR AMERICAN DIRECTOR.

"BIRD" is a loving tribute to a hero of mine. The director, however, I've felt was a hero for a long time. The performances are wonderful, especially by Sean Young and Mark Harmon. The musical score is also very nice. Overall, a great movie!
