That figure alone could amount to $89 million more than the city says it would cost to remodel the existing city hall, but developer Ernest Hahn, who created the wildly successful Horton Plaza shopping mall and who is now widely credited with pushing the new city hall proposal to the verge of breaking ground, says the huge excenditure can't be avoided.

"The future of this center city," he proclaims in the soothing tone he has become known for, "is residential housing Nobody has argued with that. It wasn't apparent that the east side would be a good residential area unless something was done to revitalize it. This project will make housing there possible. The city desperated

There are those who disagree with Hahr notion that a costly new city hall is what is called for to stimulate a housing boom on the now largely run-down east side of downtown. Some business leaders, selfstyled "citizen lobbyists," and a few politicians argue that city hall is will need

FOR THE PRIDE.

T obin Whitt certainly does have some things to be proud of. He is a family man, plumber, and race car driver. Tobin is currently race oar driver. Tobin is eurentily the leader in the Cajon Speedway sportsman stock class division. With only five races to go, Tobin will try to get one step closer to a championship this weekend. You can see Mr. Whitt and his linne green machine this Saturday night in the 30 lap main event. The competitors will be starting their engines at 7:30 pm. For Cajon Speedway information call: engines at 7:30 pm. For Cajon Specdway information call: 448-8900. We at Budweiser are proud to have Tobin as this week's "For The Pride" profile and wish him the beat of luck in his quest for the checkered flag. Tobin, for all you do, this Bud's for you.

COMPLETE DETAIL

Eleanor Widmer has moved.

Well, not exactly. But her expanded "Reader's Guide to Restaurants" has been relocated from section three to section one, next to her weekly restaurant review. These indispensable capsule reviews of recommended restaurants have always helped our readers decide where to take out-oftown guests, find a late-night eatery, or simply select the best dish at a particular restaurant.

Eleanor has now added more reviews for an even wider selection. See page 38, section one.
