From the start, Buster worked hard to prove that he’s a graffiti artist, not some little hoodlum with a sneer on his face, paint stains on his fingers, and a spray can concealed under his jeans jacket. Buster is the nom de plume, or perhaps more correctly, the nom de guerre of Jesse Ortiz, 22; he carries a business card and an album full of photos of his work by Paul Stachelek.
If You’re Single, Maybe You Should Take Fate Into Your Own Hands.

Introducing Reader Phone Matches. A Great New Way To Meet Single People. Free.

It works by providing you with a free personal matching ad in the Reader Classifieds. You will also receive a free “voice mailbox” — a phone service that allows you to record and receive messages from any touch-tone phone.

Phone Matches are:
- Simple. The Phone Matches system guides you, step by step. You can re-record your introduction any number of times — until you are satisfied with it.
- Private. The Phone Matches system allows you to talk to the person you are interested in, without being disturbed by other people.
- Free. There is no fee for this service.
- Confidential. Only you can listen to your responses. Respondents want to hear back from you.

There’s no need to reveal your phone number or address. So why not take the matter in hand and put yourself on the line today? Turn to Section 3 for details.

Not Only Is It Truth
But It’s Proven Untruthful.

I wouldn’t be surprised if you have misgivings about using Reader Phone Matches. I understand. But if you follow the instructions carefully, you can’t lose. I guarantee it.

I was talking to a friend about Reader Phone Matches the other night. She had just received a call from a man who was interested in her. She was skeptical, but decided to give it a try.

So Moved
I was a little surprised by the way he talked. He was polite and respectful, and he asked about her interests and hobbies. He even mentioned a few things from her ad.

Never Was Lashed To Stay

LETTERS

We’re not too sure what you mean by “Voice Mailbox.” Is it a phone service that allows you to record and receive messages from any touch-tone phone?

Dig This Truth

Helena Mike, “Helena’s Chronicles” March 20, was correct and her comments on the Reader’s ad for “Love” were well-timed.

Lily’s Interpretation

I read the ad for “Love” the other night. It was interesting, but I was a little surprised by the way the person talked. He was polite and respectful, and he asked about her interests and hobbies.

Don’t Badmouth My Mother

I read the ad for “Love” the other night. It was interesting, but I was a little surprised by the way the person talked. He was polite and respectful, and he asked about her interests and hobbies.

TROUBLE WITH ANTONELLA

Unfortunately, none of the people that are supposed to make a living are making any money. In fact, they are going to lose their jobs. They'll be forced to work for nothing or pay. If they don't make a living, they'll have to send their kids to school without the money. And if they don't have the money to send their kids to school, they'll have to leave the island. And if they have to leave the island, they ll be forced to work for nothing or pay. If they don't make a living, they'll have to send their kids to school without the money. And if they don't have the money to
send their kids to school, they'll

"I don't like the direction it's going. I'm not seeing what I would consider art."

A graffiti artist, who asked to remain anonymous, has seen a shift in the art world and the way it's perceived. He says the focus has shifted from the raw energy and creativity of graffiti to more commercialized and corporate-oriented art. "It's not fair for that guy Buster's stuff to stay here forever. He ain't great. He bites most of his stuff."

Graffiti artist Buster's recent works have been associated with various events and projects. He has participated in several art festivals and exhibitions, gaining recognition and popularity. However, some of his earlier works have been vandalized and defaced, causing a rift between him and the community. "I don't know why people want me to fade. I'm not that kind of guy. I just want to create art that will last forever."

Graffiti artists often face challenges in gaining recognition and respect in the art world. They must battle against perceptions that view their art as vandalism. "I just want to be seen as part of the community, not as a threat."

The art world continues to evolve, with new techniques and styles emerging. "I just want to create art that will last forever."

For more information, contact the graffiti artist at (123) 456-7890.

The artwork on the SFM mural was commissioned by the city council. The artists involved were selected through a competitive process. The mural was unveiled in a ceremony attended by local politicians and community leaders. "It's a great honor to be a part of this project."

For more information, contact the city council at (123) 456-7890.
The garage door next to Buster's art work is littered with Linda Vista Crips' scrabbles. "They just trashed it."

"You got a lot of people in these crews that say they're graffiti artists. All they are is just taggers."

"They do it to get away from society and do it for fun. But the end result is the same. They just do it to get their name out there. They don't care if it's legal or not. They just want to be seen."

"I'm not against art, but I don't think it's good for the neighborhood. I think it's just a waste of paint and time."

"They should be getting into something constructive, like sports or music."

"I think they should be doing something positive with their time, instead of wrecking this garage door."

"I'm tired of seeing this crap. It's just a waste of paint and time. I think they should be doing something positive with their time, instead of wrecking this garage door."

STONE SOUL
BY JONATHAN SAVILLE

The first Dead mans craftsmanship. Before death is a celebration of human, probably a reenactment of theörds and is a reminder of the memories that are often all of us. It should be enacted in a seared manner, neither a wanton sacrifice nor a wanton desire to transform stone into horses and of horses into wood...
A Throne for Millie

BY STEPHEN ESMEJINA

A Throne for Millie before the performance...it was appropriate that Roy Broussard, the creator of the piece, should also have written the show. The result is a hilarious and touching tale about a couple whose marriage is on the rocks. The story is told through several scenes, each of which captures a different moment in the couple's relationship. Roy Broussard's writing is witty and insightful, and his direction is spot-on. The performances are excellent, particularly from the lead actors, who bring their characters to life with poignancy and humor. Overall, A Throne for Millie is a must-see production that will leave you laughing and crying all at once.
