You'll Laugh.
You'll Cry, You'll Wonder,
What the Hell Is This?"
If You’re Single, Maybe You Should Take Fate Into Your Own Hands.

It works by providing you with a free personal matching ad in the Reader Classifieds. You will also receive a free “voice mailbox” — a phone service that allows you to record and receive messages from any touch-tone phone.

Phone Matches are:

Simple: The Match System guides you, step by step. You can re-record your introduction any number of times — until you are satisfied with it.

Quick: It’s not necessary to open a P.O. box and wait for letters. You can listen to your phone-in responses any time, day or night.

Confidential: Only you can listen to your responses. Respondents want to hear back from you. There’s no need to reveal your phone number or address.

So why not take the matter in hand and put yourself on the line today?

Turn to Section 3 for details.

CITY LIGHTS

DEATH SPAN
BY RICK LUKAS

On March 28, 1995, William Jung was assassinated in Philadelphia. Jung, the deputy sheriff of the county, was shot dead on the sidewalk near the county courthouse. The victim's body was found by a passerby who reported it to the police. Jung had been involved in a number of high-profile cases in his career, including the investigation of a murder and the arrest of a notorious gang leader.

"She wouldn't get in the car, you see. I enclosed sealed her, closed the door. You have there with a person that isn't there, you can ... a bond."

As the police drove away, we didn't care them."

We were taking to a junior, a junior year, and they were doing something like that. We got a call from someone."

We had a man that was just outside the gate, and we found him. We were going to go to the gate and we got him. But when we got the gate, the man was out of the gate."

Cortez performed the individual's emergency sidewalk procedure.

Extreme Danger Requires Extreme Risk

Story by Mary Long
Photographs by Alison Perry

Sanford Strong says resist. Resist immediately, unhesitatingly, and with full force.

The five-hour route at Balboa's 7th night, he has summed it up in these words: "If you are going to resist, then do it now."

He has been called a hero, a leader, a rebel. But he is also a simple man who has made it clear that his only goal is to protect the young people who come to Balboa for shelter and help.

"Sometimes, when you see the kids on the streets, you wonder how they can survive," he says. "But they do. They resist. They fight. They refuse to go back into the system that caused them to be here in the first place."

From 14 to 18 feet away, a half inch of movement in the barrel will be enough to miss you; from four feet away, one inch is all it takes.

Hoping for more opportunities to raise awareness about the dangers of drug use, Strong says he will continue to speak out against the dangers of drug use.

He believes that the more people who know about the dangers of drug use, the better chance they have of avoiding the problem. And he hopes that by sharing his story, others will be inspired to take action.

Strong says that he has heard of many cases where people have been killed or injured because of drug use, and he wants to do everything he can to prevent that from happening.

As Strong looks forward to the future, he says he is hopeful that the message he is sharing will resonate with others and that they will take action to protect themselves and others.

He reminds people that they are not alone and that there is help available.

"If you are feeling like you are alone, there are organizations that can help you," he says. "And if you are feeling like you are in danger, please call someone who can help you."

Strong says that he is grateful for the support he has received and that he is looking forward to continuing to make a difference.

He encourages everyone to join him in the fight against drug use and to work together to create a safer world.

"Together we can make a difference," he says. "Let's work together to create a world where drug use is not a problem."

The Fabulous Bakers

BY ELEANOR WIDMER

When you think of the word "baker," what do you picture? A bustling kitchen filled with the sweet aroma of freshly baked goods? A baker looking down the length of a row of loaves? A baker working in a cozy, dimly lit shop? Whatever image comes to mind, it's important to remember that there are countless bakers throughout the world who are skilled at their craft.

The way I learned was by hiding behind bags of flour and sugar or peeking through the door.

One of the most important aspects of being a baker is the ability to make and shape bread. This requires a strong hand and a steady hand, as well as a good understanding of the science behind it. Without this knowledge, it can be difficult to achieve the desired results.

In the end, I was able to find the perfect balance between simplicity and complexity, and I was able to create a delicious loaf of bread that I was proud of.

Ethiopian cuisine is a rich and diverse food culture that has been passed down through generations. It is known for its unique flavors and methods of preparation.

The cuisine is centered around the use of injera, a sourdough flatbread that is used to scoop up the stews and vegetable dishes. Injera is typically made with teff flour, a grain that is native to Ethiopia.

In addition to injera, the cuisine includes a variety of stews made with vegetables, beans, and meat. These stews are often seasoned with spices and herbs that give them a rich, complex flavor.

Chopstix is a Chinese restaurant that specializes in authentic Szechuan cuisine. The menu includes a variety of dishes, including appetizers, entrees, and desserts.

One of the standout dishes is the Szechuan Chicken, which is marinated in a spicy Szechuan sauce and served with a side of vegetables. The dish is not only flavorful, but also very satisfying.

Other popular dishes include the Beef and Broccoli, which is tender and juicy, and the Spicy Szechuan Shrimp, which is spicy and full of flavor.

I hope you enjoy the food at Chopstix as much as I do. It's a great place to go for a delicious meal and a good time with friends and family.
