They just decided it was time. Jacson finds out what it was his father did in his study at night. "Afterwards, about the most we could get out of him," Schneider says, "was a smile and a sentence: 'You really freaked me out, Dad.'"
Buried Treasure: Four Locals

I used to write a lot of sonnets, because I grew up with Edna St. Vincent Millay so popular. The sonnet form can be useful to the poet — you might have a certain thought going around in your mind which you can’t get out, and the sonnet might make it clear.

"When I write a poem, I am writing a poem that Ben Jonson or Keats or one of the great Chinese poets might admire. Is this an elitist view? No, it isn't."

Four Locals

by William Delano

'Ah, that's a point where you're wrong. You know, I have to agree with you on that one. I mean, I've always thought that the best poetry was written by the great masters. But I can't help but notice that the younger generation is also producing some wonderful work. I mean, think of all those poets who are writing about the struggles of modern life. They're really bringing a fresh perspective to the art of poetry.'

'The problem is, though, that the younger poets tend to focus too much on the personal, whereas the great masters were able to transcend the personal to create something universal.

'But I suppose it's not my place to say who's right and who's wrong. Poetry is a subjective art form, after all. It's all in the eye of the beholder.'

'So what do you think I should do? Should I continue to read and write poetry, or should I give it up and try something else?'

'I don't know. I really don't have any answers. But I do know that poetry is an important art form, and it's important to keep it alive. So I think you should keep writing. Who knows? Maybe one day you'll become a great poet.'

"Good poetry returns people to the sacredness of everyday life."

A

Author X

Poetry is a way of returning to the sacredness of everyday life. It's not just about the words on the page, but about the emotion and the connection it brings.

"The world is full of things that are sacred, but we often miss them because we're too busy," said Author X. "Poetry helps us see these sacred moments in a new light.

"It's like a window into another world, where the ordinary becomes extraordinary," said Author Y. "Poetry has the power to make us feel something that we didn't even realize was there.

In a world where everything is so fast-paced, poetry reminds us to slow down and appreciate the beauty around us.

Sweet Lyric Persuasion

People cannot remember their driver's license numbers, but -- oh, she was just 17 when she way-ba-balooba and got down.

Every though poetry has only a minimal significance for us ancients who are more interested in serving ourselves than we are in serving others, it is a very delicate art that requires a great deal of patience and care. A great deal of patience is required to write a poem, and a great deal of care is required to read a poem.

Actually, I have always loved poetry. At least poetry as I see it. It is a way of expressing an emotion, an idea, or a thought. It is a way of communicating with others. It is a way of expressing oneself. It is a way of sharing one's feelings. It is a way of sharing one's ideas. It is a way of sharing one's thoughts. It is a way of sharing one's experience. It is a way of sharing one's knowledge.

What is the point of writing a poem? It is a way of expressing oneself. It is a way of communicating with others. It is a way of sharing one's feelings. It is a way of sharing one's ideas. It is a way of sharing one's thoughts. It is a way of sharing one's experience. It is a way of sharing one's knowledge. It is a way of expressing oneself. It is a way of communicating with others. It is a way of sharing one's feelings. It is a way of sharing one's ideas. It is a way of sharing one's thoughts. It is a way of sharing one's experience. It is a way of sharing one's knowledge.

Before you spend time with a tutor, you should first determine what you need to learn. What subject are you struggling with? What specific skills do you need to improve? Only then can you find a tutor who can help you with those particular needs.

Wanting To Write

CARL

Clark often can't sleep the night after a poetry workshop. She finds the workshop "always exciting, always horrible, really traumatic."

CARL graduated from Wakefield High School and received his B.A. in English from Harvard College. His first poetry chapbook, "Fever," was published in 1983. He has been a teacher at the University of California, Los Angeles, since 1986. His poetry is featured in several anthologies, including "The Best American Poetry 1979-1980." His latest book of poems is "The Oracles," which was published in 1990.

Contact lens manufacturers are constantly seeking new ways to improve the quality of their products. Some of the latest advancements in contact lens technology include:

- Highly corrected lenses that correct vision for both near and far vision simultaneously.
- Lenses that are designed to improve the comfort of wearing contact lenses for extended periods of time.
- Lenses that are made from materials that have the ability to block out harmful UV rays.
- Lenses that are designed to be more easily cleaned and maintained.

Overall, the advancements in contact lens technology have made wearing contact lenses more comfortable and effective for a wider range of individuals. Whether you are looking to correct vision for sports, music or performing arts, contact lenses have become an increasingly popular option.
Improve Your Vocabulary

By Duncan Shepherd

If we are to really enjoy reading and writing, a good knowledge of vocabulary is essential. A wide vocabulary provides the tools we need to express ourselves clearly and effectively. Yet, despite this, most people have a limited vocabulary. This is particularly true of those whose primary language is not English. The following exercises are designed to help you improve your vocabulary.

Exercise 1: Synonym Game

Find a synonym for each of the following words:

- Happy
- Sad
- Cold
- Warm
- Big
- Small
- Beautiful
- Ugly

Exercise 2: Antonym Game

Find an antonym for each of the following words:

- Hot
- Black
- Up
- Right
- Good
- Bad
- Healthy
- Unhealthy

Exercise 3: Word Association

Think of a word that is associated with each of the following words:

- Happy
- Sad
- Cold
- Warm
- Big
- Small
- Beautiful
- Ugly

Exercise 4: Vocabulary Journal

Maintain a vocabulary journal where you record new words you learn and their meanings. This will help you remember them better.

Exercise 5: Vocabulary Game

Play a vocabulary game with friends or family. This can be a fun way to learn new words.

It would demand the descriptive talents of a Sidney Sheldon to do full justice to this exercise.

THE MARSTON PLACE

Former Main Street home of 1920s silent film star Alla Nazimova is now the home of a Torrance couple, Dennis and Sharon Guglielmi. The Guglielmis bought the house in 1975 and have been renovating it ever since. The house was featured in a 1926 film called "The Door Within." The Guglielmis plan to open a bed-and-breakfast in the house in the near future.

FROM DARKNESS TO LIGHT

Dr. Shonei Shate, a Japanese doctor who is also a scientist and expert in the field of photography, has been working on a new photographic process that he claims will bring new life to the field of photography. The process, called "Shate Photography," involves the use of a special film and develops the images in a unique way.

FROM DARKNESS TO LIGHT

In the shadowed recesses of the University of California at Berkeley's Fine Arts building, a man is at work on a painting. A light, a shadow, a brushstroke. The scene is that of a traditional artist. But this artist is in the midst of a technological revolution.

The artist is John Chamberlain, a sculptor known for his large, abstract works. But Chamberlain is also an inventor, and he is using a computer to create his paintings.

Chamberlain is a pioneer in the field of computer art. His work has been exhibited in museums around the world, and he has won numerous awards for his innovative approach to art.

Chamberlain's process begins with a computer-generated image, which he then uses as a template for his paintings. He then uses a special software program to create the image, which is then printed on a large format printer.

The resulting images are then painted on canvas by Chamberlain, who adds his own unique touch to each piece.

Chamberlain's work has been compared to that of other notable artists, such as Jackson Pollock and Mark Rothko. But Chamberlain's work is distinguished by its use of technology, which allows him to create images that would be impossible with traditional techniques.

Chamberlain's latest work, "The Marriage Place," is a large, abstract painting that features a series of overlapping circles. The piece is currently on display at the Museum of Modern Art in New York City.

The artist is currently working on a new project, which he plans to exhibit in galleries around the world. Chamberlain is also working on a book about his work, which he hopes to publish in the near future.

Chamberlain's work continues to inspire and challenge viewers, and he is widely regarded as one of the most innovative artists of our time.
