But it's not right.

I pored over the list, imagining, and felt guilty for doing so. It lent itself to too many gristly jokes. A prisoner's last meal should be his most private moment; it sin't as if he's sharing, at this point in his career, from some communal pot. And his selections, retrospectively, typed up like this in a list, sake on symbolic freight: the weight of state.

toast. When did you, reader, last eat all the salty scrambled eggs you wanted? Interrupting their flabby sweetness with a pull and a floury chew? I suppose I have to admit that reading this list of dead men's meals made me hungry.

With nonexistence iooming, the fork in the road seems clear. Should I resign my senses, or embrace them?

THANKSGIVING AT THE GRANT

326 BROADWAY SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA 92101 • 232-3121 MEMBER PREFERRED HOTELS WORLDWIDE

THANKSGIVING IS FEAST OF PLENTY AT GRANT GRILL

The Grant Grill is as much a San Diego tradition as Thanksgiving Turkey itself. And Thanksgiving at the Grant Grill is legendary.

This year's a la carte menu features such well-seasoned treats as our famous Mock Turtle Soup, Oyster Com Chowder; entrees of Black forest Ham with Stuffed Baked Apple and Turkey with Chestnut Dressing; and a holiday dessert cart filled with such sumptuous seasonal offerings as Pumpkin, Pecan and Minced Meat Pies.

An incredible feast a la Grant Grill Chef Extraordinaire Bernard Guillas. Ambience, service and style unmatched anywhere else in the city.

Served 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Thanksgiving Day. Call for reservations. 232-3131.

OF NOTE 🦯

Besis Waltace is one of the more impressive tenor saxophonists spawned from a primarily jazz blackground in the stat decade. Actually, he should not be tagged and bagged as an unconditional jazz skyler. Intalforab blues early 50e RBB, olde Bob schmaltz, rock, and avant-garde extrapolations figure as prominently in his work. Such broad stretching accounts significantly for his festblitty when working with musicains as divergent in fazzl.

PRESIDENT BILL

By Wm. L. Brown @1990

Though most members of my administration were born after World War II. that event greatly colored our thinking. Our parents' generation raised us on war stories, extolling the lessons of the Nuremberg Trials, that racial prejudice leads to holocaust and that immoral orders must not be obeyed. No wonder our generation had embraced the civil rights and peace movements.
