Friends of victim push for reform of police force policy

By Paul Kasuma

The friends of the victim in the recent police shooting incident in Ocean Beach have formed a group called "Frontline for Reform" to push for changes in police policy and training. The group plans to meet with the San Diego Police Department's administration to discuss their concerns and make recommendations for improving police procedures.

Ocean Beach rally denounces police shootings

By Paul Kasuma

A rally was held in Ocean Beach to denounce recent police shootings. The event was organized by the non-profit organization "Frontline for Reform," which aims to improve relations between the police and the community. Speakers at the rally called for a reform of police policies and training to prevent similar incidents.

Man slain by police tied to beach-area attack

By Paul Kasuma

UPDATE: 11:45 AM - 10/21/20

A man was killed by police in connection with a beach-area attack. According to the San Diego Police Department, officers responded to a call for assistance around 10:30 PM on Sunday and found a group of people fighting near a popular beach. During the scuffle, a man was shot and later died at the hospital.

Harry Cooper puts out

By Paul Kasuma

Harry Cooper, a former police officer, has recently retired and is now focusing his attention on community issues. Cooper has been a vocal advocate for police reform and has been involved in several initiatives to improve police-community relations.

The lingering doubt

By Paul Kasuma

As the investigation into the recent police shooting incident continues, many in the community are still left with questions and doubts. The San Diego Police Department has released a report detailing the events leading up to the shooting, but some community members remain skeptical. The police department is under pressure to provide more transparency and accountability.

Just Quit Talking

By Paul Kasuma

A new campaign is underway to encourage people to "just quit talking." The campaign aims to promote a culture of silence and discourage unnecessary communication. The campaign organizers believe that too much talk can lead to misunderstandings and conflicts.

50 Shades of Grey

A new 50 Shades of Grey movie is set to release soon. The movie is based on the popular novel of the same name and is expected to be a major box office success. The trailer for the movie has already generated a lot of buzz and anticipation among fans.

Call Gillette and ask somebody in public relations to explain this picture.

Did 617-421-7000.
Ask for Gillette's CEO Colman Mockler. Tell whoever answers you'd like to know why Gillette's still using and selling animals. Of course, when you hear this, they'll transfer you to public relations, where "problems" such as you and your questions are quietly dealt with.

Questions like: Is Gillette still pouring Liquid Paper into the eyes of rabbits when such a test doesn't make Liquid Paper any safer for human beings?
Is Gillette still shaving off the skin of rabbits and pouring chemicals directly into their wounds, when scientifically-sophisticated, non-animal tests have been developed?
Is Gillette still doing lethal dose tests, wherein groups of animals are force-fed shampoo until many of them die?
And, finally, ask given that none of these tests result in changes that make any of their products safer why does Gillette continue to do them?
If you don't get a satisfactory answer, join us. Boycott Gillette.

WITH A BALLAD

"W.W. is a much-quoted phrase, known to the generation if not the generation of the stairway," wrote the late poet, "and a name that rings more than any other of the time." His works have been praised for their simplicity and directness, and he is remembered for his ability to capture the essence of a place and a moment in a few words. His writing has been compared to the work of other great poets, such as Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson.

Mitsubishi

The Finest By Mitsubishi

With the introduction of the smallest, lightest, and most advanced cellular telephone in the world, Mitsubishi International was again at the forefront of cellular technology.

The Mitsubishi Model 3000 is the slimmest, lightest, and most compact cellular telephone. This patent pending phone is only 1 1/8" thick, and weighs 1 lb. 9 oz. The phone is designed for the person on the go. It features a talk time of 2 hours, and a talk distance of 4 miles. The phone is also equipped with a 2-way speakerphone, and a 2-way microphone.

Introducing: The Bose® Lifestyle® Music System

Unlike any other ice:

PERFORMANCE
- Labyrinth Direct/Reflecting sound from Acoustimass® powered speaker.

APPEARANCE
- An elegant music center with CD player and AM/FM radioceiver is an eye-catcher in any room.

SIMPLICITY
- One remote controls the entire system with a radio frequency transmitter from anywhere inside - or around - your home.

TECHNOLOGY
- 320 watts of power with no audible distortion, three amplifiers that can be completely hidden from view.

We submit that once you experience the Bose Lifestyle music system in your home, you will want to live with it.

Ask for your 14-day home trial.
