CALIENTE IS WIDE OPEN

LET THE RACES BEGIN! Come celebrate with us

Our live horses are crashing the gates. Once more you can hear thundering hooves pounding the track at Caliente.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE THE REAL THING.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE THE REAL THING.

At Callente you can join the railbirds at the paddock and judge the horse's appearance for yourself. Real handicappers like to see their favorites and make betting more personal. Look for the flared nostril of an excited animal and the sheen of a coat in racing condition. Our routers and sprinters are waiting for you. Remember, you can only do this at Callente not in San Diego or downtown Tijuanal Free parking and admission. So don't miss the thundering hoofs at Callente ... every Saturday & Sunday.

DON'T FORGET OUR NATIONAL SIMULCAST MENU:

The year was 1943. With steel and rubber in short supply and gas rationing in effect, San Diego's busses and streetcars became the city's main mode of transportation. As this comely miss and her bus parked on Sixth Avenue aptly illustrate, it was the heyday of "Rosie the Riveter" as women stepped out of their Victory gardens and into roles traditionally reserved for men. Rohr, Conwair and various civil defense agencies all carried increasing numbers of women on their rolls; one immediate result was San Diego's claim to the leading child care program in the country.
