Bicyclists Are Good Guys

I would like to commend you ones again for a completely one ided and negative story on obcycling in San Diego (Ray Mestberg's "Robela Without an Engine." November 14). Mr.

Maybe Mr. Westberg could have mentioned how cycling is a non-polluting activity; how cyclists are helping in the uphill fight against ownercrowded streets; or how even the police are using bicycles in their everyday law-enforcement activities. I guess too many positives would have spoiled the Render's reputation for negative reporting.

Reader Phone Matches Success Stories:

Barbara and Tim Gercke.

AREN'T YOU TIRED of meeting all the wrong women? This attractive, sensitive, easygoing, health-minded professional woman, 37, says if you are 35-45, enjoying your journey through life, have a great sense of humor and a spirit of adventure, give me a call. 2

Tim: I was sitting next to Mission Bay, looking in the "guitar" section of the Reader, and the page blew over. Her ad jumped out at me. Especially the part about meeting the wrong kind of women. I think it had a subl

Barbara: I was just trying to be general at first, so I concentrated more on who I was rather than what I was looking for.

Tim: I didn't know what the "right" type was for me, but I knew I hadn't met it. Barbara had a specific agenda, though. She wasn't just fishing off the jetty.

Barbara: I was amazed at the quality of people who responded. Doctors, lawyers, business owners. I called back as many as I could. There were 40 of safety, so she didn't leave her phone number on my answering machine. I called her voice mail and left another Barbara: Best two dollars you ever spent. Tim: We met for lunch at TGI Friday's. It lasted almost three hours. We talked about our families, our former relationships...everything.

Barbara: We were able to get right down to the questions that are really important.

Tim: She wants a house in Jamul someday, with lots of room for her Golden Retrievers. I'm not really a dog person...

Barbara: But I think that we both have a lot to offer each other.

Tim: We dated over the summer. After our third fight, I knew it was time to Barbara: We got married on Mt. Helix on March 30, 1991. It had been almost a year since we met.

Tim.: I tell her she got the biggest fish of all, mounted right on the wall.

PICTURE STORY

By the San Diego Historical Society

In 1769 Spain launched its campaign to conquer Alta California, using Franciscan-built missions to spread Christianity and Spanish rule up the coast. The missions eventually totalled 21 in number, spaced about 30 miles (one day's travel) apart. On June 13, 1798, Father Fermin Francisco de Laseur, successor to Junipero Serra as mission president, founded Mission San Luis Rey de Francia in a fertile valley in present-day Oceanside. Named in honor of Louis IX, king of France and a former Franciscan, the mission was egitteenth in the chain and eventually became the largest, most pepulous and prosperous of the chain and eventually became the largest, most pepulous and prosperous objects the mission comprised a vast quadrangle measuring 630 by 550 feet, with an adobe church seating 1,000 built in 1802.

PRESIDENT BILL

By Wm. L. Brown @1991

were elected by the socalled popular vote, had a chance to serve two terms.
But because! had been selected to office by lottery, chances for my reselection were roughly M PRESIDENT BILL® one in 300 million. I didn't mind, however. I had confidence in the system. Conjunence in the system.
Another average American, rather than a professional politician, would be randownly selected to rule in my place. It was the fairest, most equitable system ever devised, though it allowed only one term. It provided a muchneeded check on political powerlust, corruption, and greed. * * * * *
