"He's a Model Employee." Says His Boss Suspect in '82 Golding Robbery Returns to Mission Valley

By Georgina Spelvin, American

One summer evening in 1982, then-city council member Susan Golding and her close friend George Gorton drove to the parking lot of a Mission Valley restaurant on an important business errand. Minutes later, Golding, Gorton, and two business contacts were approached by a gun-toting young hoodlum named David Earnest Mackey, who demanded cash and valuables. Mackey fled with Golding's purse and Gorton's wallet.

Mackey was soon apprehended and sentenced to five years in prison. Today he's back in Mission Valley, working as night clerk in a motel a short drive from the place where he robbed Susan Golding.

The Magic of the Mt. Soledad Cross Can Now Be Yours!

For centuries, or a generation anyway, hordes of tourists and bored commuters have glanced at the legendary Cross of Mt. Soledad and wondered what it all meant. Does it have some exercy hower? If you rub it will it bring you luk? Is it true that if you pitch a coin at it you will resure to Dago? Was it built by thusy old religious fanatics who refuse to obey the aurent, enlightened principle of Separation of Church and State as handed down by the ACLU—or is the crus just a monument to some dead soldiers. Whatever your strange personal beliefs, we're sure you'll want a silver of this mysterious thing to pass on to your grandchildren.
