Of The South

I was really impressed — holy guacamole, caramba — with "The Big Casa" article you had "The Big Casa" article you had in your June 25 issue. I have been fortunate to work with Catholic Charities for over seven years now and work with many other charities in San Diego. This story takes the cake as one of the worst things that can happen to someone.

cake as one of the worst things that can happen to someone. One of my relatives that lives in Tijuana is a member of a group of women Catholics that takes used clothing, food, and bread to the La Mesa jail and bread to the La Mesa jan on weekends. She has told me stories about the children that are raised in these prisons. I just hope that our soon newly elected officials do something and get cracking on me of these issues.

I would also like to conratulate you on publishing stories like this. It makes me very angry that other papers (S.D. Union-Trib) don't have the guts to print stories like these and they "sit on stories."

No Love Lost On Gina

As anyone within groaning distance of me knows, I've never had much respect for Gina Arnold's skills as a rock critic. Even back in '85 when she wrote a puff piece regard ing an impending Bay Area performance by the Beat Farmers, it was, by any semiconscious mammal's stan-dards, poorly writer and un-der-researched. But we ap-preciated it nonetheless. (I guess back then we were trendy enough to warrant Ms. Armold's approval.) I can't recall ever agreeing with a single sentence Ms. Armold's written for the Reader-ia feat that even Duncan Short knowledge of Mr. Marx, so I knew going into it that Ms. Arnold's consistently worth-less opinion applied to Mr. Marx's music would contain absolutely no meat for my bone. It was only out of bore-bone. It was only out of bore-dom and perverse curiosity that I read it at all, and I gotta tell ya, it nearly knocked me off the can!

To begin with, Ms. Arnold uses the entire first half of the write-up quoting verbatim from a review she did on Marx in 1988. (She didn't care for him.) This is followed by an exhault of the control of the control what he's, heren doing since admission that she has no idea what he's been doing since then, segues to a remembrance that Marx slammed rap music (which she deemed as "unpardonable"), and wraps up with the recommendation that if indeed anyone attend this wretched event, that they "go with a gun," presumably to blow the vile Mr. Marx off the

A couple of questions come to mind:

First, does this seem to you like competent, responsible journalism?

And second, don't Ms. Arnold's work ethics, self-righ-toom intellegance, and down

Quite the contrary. The research, money, and care that goes into such efforts far exceed your simplistic view of animal care. And then, to assume your turtle did not carry a bacteria or even a disease that would expose the other turtles, perhaps rare ones, and even perhaps the rest of the ecosystem involved, was a much more careless mistake. This very type of behavior is, in fact, how another species. the California desert tortoise the California desert tortosie, was exposed to a serious respir-ratory problem that has now almost driven them to extinc-tion. Drive up to the Mojave Desert's tortoise reserve and take heart at the imposing barbed-wire fences and threat-ening signs warning of the peril to these creatures, caus-ing them to be shut off from the rest of the world in hopes to save them...all because someone thought releasing their tortoise into the wild with others of its kind would be the best thing, NOT!

I try to excuse such things by realizing there are innocent mistakes made. I've made them too. But then in your

But then, in your case, Mr. Young, since you didn't feel you could speak to didn't feel you could speak to Sea World about this, you must have had at least a small instinct inside that told you this was not really the right and responsible thing to do. So perhaps it was not really such an innocent mistake after all. And that, Mr. Young, is the lesson you passed on to your children. A sad lesson indeed. Shame

'Maggie' Was A Right-On Review I am writing because I read your excellent review on Mag-

gic Mayall ("Maggic Mayall Knows How to Manage," June 25) and her lack of talent when it comes to the blues. I think it is great that a journalist will be honest enough to recognize no talent and spell it out rather than get caught up in the "star" thing that seems to be the standard of reviews on the national scale and even on the local scene. local scene.

I am writing in response to your article on commence-ment at the Bishop's School

("One Costs to Park, the Other Doesn't," June 18). It seemed that your reporter simply wanted to ridicule the event at the expense of any semblance of objectivity. She represented the school as a place still pre-dominantly female. In fact, the dominantly female. In fact, the ratio of males to females was only greatly unbalanced in that one class. Next year's seniors are in a 50/50 ratio. Also, the then-Bishop-elect who the re-porter had so much fun being obnoxious to was incorrectly. obnoxious to was incorrectly identified as Rev. Menees. Me nees is the school chaplain; the actual Bishop is the Rt. Rev. Gethin B. Hughes. Such an er-ror could easily have been and reasoning in the face of constant affronts of ignorance and bigotry from whites. I ac-knowledge here that there are many who do not engage in such behavior and who are just as tired of the senseless batree as I red of the senseless hatred as I am. A brief example might illustrate my meaning: I go to the library to read regularly, to Balboa Park, and to other community places often. I especially love the park, the serenity, the ageleas beauty, the variety of people from all over the worst assistant and the corridors. I have done this consistently since I was a boy. The other day while I was a private place for special occasions only. As I approached the door to go in, an elderly white man turned his action on the control of the contr sistance. When I gazed back at him to accept his presence, I was met with a stern glare and a very unfriendly demeanor. Of course, I left sooner than I wanted to. I was very uncom-fortable in the face of such hatred.

My point is that this sort of thing occurs more often than many of Mr. Meltzer's detractors would care to admit. Being ignorant of the frequency of their occurrence, unfortunately, does not make them go away. Those of you who complain that we (African-Americans) are whiners without just cause are simply misinformed. cause are simply misinformed. What would you have us do? My father's father endured this kind of stifling bigotry in much more virulent ways. And I should not be required to back up this concession with any data from any illinoidallar powermental fact finding project or any expert testimony from any trained psychologist that surd of thing is the weaponry of our opposing camps, and both of them come to their respective treaches heavily armed. I speak here only for myself, and out of common sense, exasual observation, and, not least of all, personal experience. This last, without going into embarrassing confessional detail, sets me apart from all those commentators who themselves are evidently immune to the influence of movies, are mature, relatistic, well-rounded, well-ablanted, well-adjusted, and poised at the videosites of nirvana, and so have nothing better to do than worry about how movies are warping people less blessed. These sorts of commentatory place themselves in what appears to me a peculiar bind: if is their immunity that the responsibility to hod up a fight against the disease, but if a slo their immunity that argues against the serioussness, if not even the very existence, of the disease, but if a slo their immunity that argues against the serioussness, if not even the very existence, of the disease.

Stut never mind that Agreeng—conceding—assuming for the sake of argument—that movies affect attitudes and behavior, what then! To launch, for openers, an offensive azainst "violence" has of course several things to recommend it to the popular consciousness. and their Maurior. The third time's the charm. The diminished satirical element compared, say, to Room with a View, and diminished comical element, and diminished whimsical element, will mitigate the usual complaints of timidity, coziness, preusual complaints of timidity, corners, pre-county. There enaims nevertheless plenty-of amusement, because E.M. Forster was a mussing fellow and because the first thin-cast — Emma Thompson, Helens Bochaut Carter, Anthom Jepkins, Vanesas Rei-grave, Samuel West, Nicola Duffett — ar-achly expert. But what mainly makes this one, in contrast to those others, so utterly showthing are the old-fashioned pleasure-of its plot. And for all its Pertilab understan-terment, its "dauss" most thing there ment, its "dauss" most thing there ment, its "classical" good taste, its fine irony, its subtle, sly, and leisurely unfold irrony, its subtle, sky, and leisurely unfold-ment, it does not stint on sensationalsm. (It simply — thanks to all that understanding, ment and good taste and so on — does not have to strain so hard to get the effect.) This kind of thing, unlike the particulars of class divisions, sexual double standards, and the rest, is not something that goes stale with age. 1992. (OND)

A Biotech Horror Tale In Dracula-Land

The project began when Dan Simmons's publisher asked him to contribute a short story for a new anthology of tales based on the Dracula legend. Though at first he considered it "overmined," Simmon considered it "overmined, Simmons warmed to the topic, and it eventu-ally became the subject for his ninth book, Children of the Night, pub-lished last week by G.P. Putnam's Sons. "As I thought about it, I Sons. "As I though about it, I decided I had something to say about post-Ceausescu Romania, the conditions in the orphanages, and also about AIDS and the whole subject of our blood and the taking of blood." Children of the Night melds the five-century-old story of Vlad Decid swith Beam Stocker's thoul. the hee-century-old story of vad Dracula with Bram Stoker's ghoul-ish, fictionalized count and sets it in the middle of the world of high-tech medical research in recombinant DNA and hematology. For most of his career. Simmons was an elementary school teacher of gifted children, he wrote in his off hours. His first published piece won livelight Zone magazine's 1982, short story contest; his first novel, Song of Kild (1985), won the World Fantasy Award. Since then the prolific Simmons has turned to writing full time and bagged major prizes in School with the properties of the Locus and Hram Stoker awards, the littidit Fantasy Award, and the prestigious Hugo. Among his best-known books are Simmer of Night. known books are Summer of Night. Carrion Confort, and Hyperion. His work can also be found in Omni magazine. Simmons will be in San Diego this week to autograph books and talk about his experiences in Romania researching the Dracula legend and visiting the real Castle Dracula. Children of the Night begins shortly after the death of the dictato Ceausescu and his wife, with the arrival in Romania of a group of vis-itors, one of them an American isos, one of them an American physician who is a specialist in blood disorders and another a mysterious Romanian experiate and philanthropiat. Simmons says he, for a week or so, immersed himself in specialized medical journals and boned up on research frontiers in immunotherapy research frontiers in immunotherapy and hematology. He also spent sev-eral weeks in Romania, separating the Vlad Dracula shown to visitors (none of the six castles advertised by tour guides is an authentic Dracula-related site) and the family's real castle. One other authentic Dracula castie. One other authentic Dracula site, his birthplace, is a run-down former restaurant marked only with the dragon symbol of the secret Order of the Dragon to which Dracula and his father belonged. Dracul in fact means dragon;

Present-day Romanians, according to Simmons, grudgingly accept the popularity and notoriety of their former prince, one of the most bloodthirsty ever to rule. Simmons continues, "About 20 years ago Ceausescu tried to rehabilitate the ceausescu tried to renaminate the image of Vlad Dracula and turn him into the Romanian George Washington. But that didn't work, and he apparently abandoned the idea." There are a few dollars to be made gulling tourists into visiting fake Dracula sites, but the count is clearly an equivocal figure for today's Romanians.

Mark Moses, Allan Chandler, Steven Flynn

In many of Shakespeare's early plays, romantic love is an exer-cise in calibration. His young lovers have inherited an outmoded, courtly love tradition in which one must fall in love with per-fection. The conventions of love literally blind hel lovers to the realities of their partners. Shakespeare's women aren't immune to the condition, though all share an aversion to pedestals The men, however, define it. They can idealize a woman at the drop of a glove, blasting them with a love so fierce it couldn't last past supper (one of the first things Juliet tells Romeo, for example, is to drop the swooning sonneteer bit and speak truly). Thus the exercises in calibration. The lovers — most often the men — discover the need to check, rethink, and

The Old Globe Theatre has opened its summer season with a Two Gentlemen that takes a similarly forgiving approach. Directed by Laind Williamson, this is a theartically dearling production untroubled by the play's serious flaws. It overflooks them completely and flawors the eve over the ear. Williamson and the Old Globe's designers hore mounted a show that again to be lighter than a commendation of the other completely and flawors the ever over the ear. Williamson and the Old Globe's designers hore mounted a show that agreed the other completely and flawors the even over the ear. Williamson and the Old Globe's designers have been designed as the light of the other completely and flawors and the other change scenes with flowing, balletic moves. There are balloone—which pops appropriately at a moment of discovery—and blue guitars, fields of parasols, and bits of colored paper that spiral downward like falling leaves. Forejae wing on hoops and soar down from above on wires, circuilite. Even the stage floor of Richard Seger's effectively minimalist set echoes this motif. It's a network of squares, sky blue patches splotched with white doods. This "affreces" floor could make a good ceiling for another set, because whenever people walk on the stage of the country of the control of the country of the count composes. One of those is in Uzi, which brouguely returns us to he realities of our own space and time.

In the Old Globe's Two Confluence, there is always something to see. And — as when Protess sees Silvie for the first time and a quartet of mirrors do a 360-degree, love-at-first-gifty appin — if so fore magical. But with the production's emphasis on sights over sounds, onstage business rather than speeches, much of the earing is more in service of the concept than the text. Especially the leads. Steven Flynn and Mark Moses (who could alwo dwor his deleveries by a third of added with a lock of the side of the concept than the surface, however, a Valentine and Protess price (ross and Susannish susann

There's much more detailed work among the supporting cast, though, Richard Eaton, Katherine McGrath, Jonathan McMurtry, and Philip Charles Sneed turn all their cames appearances into ledy, memorable creations. As does Tony Simotes. Dressed as a belilop, his wit-savoring Speed is engaging. The performer with the most ardrous duty is felfrey Allan Chandler. The Comb of the Wind by Eduardo Chillida, San Sebastián, Spain

REVIEW

Some weeks ago, I wrote about a monumental sculpture by Eduardo Chillida, Our Father's House, of which an impressive smaller-scale model is being exhibited on Prospect Street by the Instruction of Instructio to miss — you must travel to San Sebastian (called Donostia an issague), on Spans northern coast.

Once there, San Diegans will feel immediately at home, for the Spanish city is built along a broad curve of white sandy beach, with a ring of green hills behind. In its general outlines, it is not unlike La Jolla, and it also shares the holday atmosphere, with natives another state of the holds of the state of the state cable (24), and at its foot one of the supreme materpieces of world art there is certainly nothing like it in 1 a Jollo.

The set work consists of an entire outdoor environment, chosen, shaped, and drama-lixed by Chillick. The choosing of the place, a rugged rocky jumble between the beeting cilif and the surging waters of the bay, was the initial creative act; as a schoolboy in San Sebastian, which greates the state of the bay the surging city, chillick had already recognized its magnificence and sensed its need to be focused and striculated. The second element is a broad certificate explanate (on several *repose level uniff" o; on-frested outcoment is a broad to the strict of the back, this was designed, in collaboration of the strict of the back, this was designed, in collaboration their shapes determined after endless experimentation over a pin to practive this art work as fundamentally made up of the three components. At some distant time in the geological past, there were tremendous wrenchings of the earth crust here. The brotzontal layers of sed-iment, deposited over cons, were convulsively heaved over, so that now their lines stand vertically constitued on page 70 continued on page 70 co

REVIEW

There is a famous recorded performance of a Motart pisno concerto by Artur Schnabel in which that great artist is struck by a huge lapse of memory, and for what seems like an endless period of time the solo part falls utterly silent. Schnabel's supremely embarrassing lapse, preserved forcer, is a reminder of the fragility of the incredibly integrated intellectual-emotional-physical-neurological beings who perform music, It is also a perform music, It is also a perform music, It is also any musical performer to any musical performer to any musical performer to any musical performance of warming to any musical performer to any musical performance of warming to any musical

Away practical and realistic, however, Away practical and realistic, however, Schneiderman recognizes that the fear of such lapses of memory is widespread and self-nourishing, and she provides both technical advice and psychological support to help musicians confront and deter that fear. The technical advice involves principally a set of methods for memorizing, including a mental map of "starting points" that will enable the musician, in case his or her memory does fail in a given passage, to move ahead smoothly to the next landmark and to continue the performance with a minimum stilocation. The psychological unprimumore situations, considered by agreement in the imagination to a formal performance before an audience, but Schneiderman's chief means of supporting the artist's necessary self-confidence is the assurance that no one is perfect, that errors and lapses need not be devastating disasters, and that they need not be feared:

We then had three half-orders of pass. I don't know whether these half-orders are available when it's busy. However, since we were the first diners there, the shef agreed to serve the small amounts of three choices. They were spinach raviols with muddroom sauce, potato dumplings (geochieri) in a blend of gorganozia and frontine affects, and trenter fall Genovece, a homemade pasta tossed with basil sauce and timy thin string beam. During my many years of esting gpocchi. I have seldom beam. During my many years of esting gpocchi. Have seldom beam. During my many esting pasched have seldom spinach ravial growded now definition to midting in year mouth. Suth the remetter proved unique; I we rately had the combination of pasta and string beams, and the result was shere delight. These three were as do see to pasta heaven as you can get. We could hardly do justice to our entries, both of which there well achieved. I chose posched files of salmon, presented with strips of red and yellow peppers and pine nusts my friend settled for stuffer calamari. My salmon was superhou but West Coast calamaris is inevitably a bit chevy. Despite all the ministrations of the able cheft, the calamariar was not for kender Though we arrived when the sum was still shinning, we didn't leave until 8-45 p.m. We got out of there just in time—one more hour on the premises and we would have begun eating all over a sign.

New material for live performances includes a revamping of "A Whiter Shade of Fale." At a recent performance at the Cashah, Sinutra leaned over an electronic keyboard and the familiar strains from the Procol Harums ong were met with applause. Sinatra labored flamboyantly over the instrument, as if werenching the chords out of his blue-eyed, nearighted soul. At the peak of rapture, he let go of the keys — revealing that the organ sounds were programmed all along—picked up the microphone in both hands, and began to pace the stage as he sang.

Yeah. My friend Keith. Well, the first time I met him he was very mean to me. Like, he raided me stupid and stuff, He had an eye patch on one eye. His eyeball was still in there, eye. His eyeball was still in there, but he didn't see so good. After he called me stupid, I said, "I don't eyer want to play with you ever again." He said, "I don't ever want to play with you either." Then a few days later I met him again and I turned back into his friend. He slept over at my house, and I slept over at his house a fee of time. We slid down his slide a fee of time. We slid down his slide house, and I slept over at his house a lot of times. We slid down his slide into a pool. We played with his cat, rided bikes, played Ghostbusters. He never called me stupid or mean names again. Then we moved. That's how we got to California. I'd writt to tim in Michigan, but I don't know how to spell his mame.

PICTURE STORY

by the San Diego Historical Society

"Father" Alonzo Erastus Horton sits in a surrey drawn by his horse Dolly, circa 1895. More than any other name, Horton's is synonymous with San Diego's beginnings as a city. A fifty-four-year-old Connecticut Yankee suffering from consumption, Horton moved West in 1863 on a doctor's advice and proceeded to accumulate a small fortune through various ventures: land and cattle trading, gold-dust speculation, and finally, a San Francisco furniture business. Prior to Horton's trading, gold-dust speculation, and innaily, a San Francisco furniture ousiness. First or in-tritons arrival here on the steamer Pacific from San Francisco on April 15, 1867, San Diego's Old Town was the area's commercial and residential epicenter. According to accounts of the day, "...there was not a man living south of Old Town for twenty miles, to the head of the Bay," Horton soon changed that. At a public auction (called by County Clerk George A. Pendleton only after the newcomer to San Diego paid him a $10 fee), Horton snapped up 960 acres of pueblo land for $265 — a little over 27 cents an acre. San Diegans of the era laughed at the free-spending Yankee; they weren't laughing for long. Within days a consortium of San Francisco businessmen attempted to buy Horton out for $250, 000, but after considering their offer, he refused, saying, "I thought they might not be able to carry out their agreement, and also that if it was worth that much I might as well build a city there myself and get the profits." And so he did.

You're Single. We're Free. Why Wait?

Introducing Reader PHONE MATCHES, a Great Place to Meet Single People. You are provided with a free personal matching ad in the Reader Classifieds. You also receive a free "voice mailbox"— a phone service that allows you to record and receive messages from any touch-tone phone.

HOW TO PLACE YOUR AD: To place a free Phone Matches ad, fill out the coupon below and main or FAX is (233-7907) to us. (If faxing, please photocopy the coupon first and then fax is. The newsprint doesn't reproduce well.) The deadline for receiving free Phone Matches ads is Saturday at 7am. Free ads are 25 words or less and run for two weeks. No free ads will be accepted over the phone or in person. Ads with more than 25 words cost $1.20 per additional word. We'll send you a 5-digit mailbox number (to be printed in your ad) and a 4-digit security code for exclusive access to your responses.

You may also place a late ad until 6pm Tuesday by phone (235-8200), in our office (1703 India St. at Date St., downtown), or by FAX (233-7907). The charge for these late ads is $20 for the first 25 words plus $1.20 per additional word. Ads placed by phone or by FAX are with Visa or MasterCard only. Limit one Phone Matches ad per person per two-week period.

HOW TO USE YOUR VOICE MAILBOX: After you receive your mailbox number and private security code, you can record your personal introduction. Call 527-1966, 24 hours a day, and follow the easy instructions. Use your introduction to tell more about yourself than your ad does (see below for guidelines). Give your first name; but DON'T give your last name, phone number or address. Make sure you ask your callest so leave their names, phone number and the best times to call them. You can re-record your personal introduction once nor 24-hour preform. your personal introduction once per 24-hour period. All introductions are reviewed by the Reader and go on-line within 24 hours.

To listen to your responses, call 527-1966 any time, 24 hours a day, and follow the easy instructions. You can replay any response or move ahead to the next one
If you choose to move ahead, the previous response will be erased, so have a pencil and piece of paper ready! You must have a touch-tone phone to reco a personal introduction or listen to responses.
