Dear Matthew Alice:
My boyfrierd and I have a question. Why do golfer yell "four" before they hit a ball when somebody's in their way! What does four have to do with anything?
— Wendy and Russ, Carlobal.

Four! Four's got nothing to do with anything, except maybe an occasional par. The term is "forc, as in "before," as in "in front of." Old-time flirith artillery men-were the first to yell "Before" an effort to keep fellow soldiers in the ranks in front of them from their flirith and off the form of the fo (ominued from page 1). Stumbled in the correct word, since I bad alieped and fallers on a simp, mud coaster readway rock. As I picked myself up. I saw behind a readway rock. As I picked myself up. I saw behind a rusty wire fence two faded wooden signs. "La Petola Trailler Resort" and "Trailers for Rent." From a block away came the sounds of windfolown waves crassing on the seased stream beach.

Begin up my room at the nearby youth bostel, so I decided to investigate La Pelota, the trailer park so o.' e to the Pacific ands. I opened the trusty wire gast and entered the compound. My first impression of the place was a dreary one indeed. As dreapy as the day, back with the of the gast were tall hollyhooks, and the sound of the place was a frenzy one indeed. As dreapy as the day, black with the of the gast were tall hollyhooks, as a furneral Art the other side of the gateway, in front of one of the trailers, was the skeleton of an old junked automobile, victim of continued scaw-enging. One large pink trailer, several smaller trailers, and an unpainted physicod shack were arranged into a loose oblong. The shack's wobden gate hung on only one rusted hinge.

I stepped gingerly through the mud and pools of slimy water to the large pink trailer, which I thought might house the management. Outside the trailer was a walker'ly with broken rock tiles. One of the picture windows had been boarded up

I knocked on the pink trailer door, but there was no answer. As I turned and started into the claw-like wind back toward the gate, I heard a wheezy voice calling, "We're in here. Number four."

As I walked in the direction of the voice, I noticed that four of the trailers had palm-thatched porches, three of which were edged by hamboo borders. Many of the staves were out of place, pitched at right angles to the wooden framing.

From somewhere sales number four. In Iront of I stopped at trailer number four. In Iront of the broken steps were pieces of mildewed card-board soaking in the black mud. A pile of empty beer cans sat at one side of the doorway. The stench of stale beer was nose-tingling.

"Come on in," a voice said.

In the darkened, tobacco-fogged interior I save two men stiting at a small table. One of them seemed to be in his early 60s—short, wire, skele ton thin, and badd, with a weather-winkled face and a copper stubble of beard. His eyes were pink, and he was rabbit-mounted. The other pink, and he was rabbit-mounted. The other pink, and he was rabbit-mounted. The other wor a sweat-stained white control place wor a sweat-stained white control place down over his forchead. All about the table were empty beer cans, both upright and on their sides. Each man had a beer can in one hand and a cigarette in the other. trailer number three, which was perhaps 15 or 18 feet long.

In the rain-soaked compound 1 noticed rotting trash and tangled weeds everywhere. Stepping, it to the darkened cave that was trailer strack of spilled beer, wer tot, and utrine. The linoleum flooring was torn and stained. From a ceiling wentilator unit rainwater poured onto a seat cushion. I looked around for a light switch but found none, so I pulled aside the mildewed curtains above the sink to let some light filter into the room.

The oven door was askew, and the stove burners were caked with gresse and dirt. The bathroom door hung by one hinge and had no latch. There was no latch on the closest door. As for the outside screen door, most of the lower half of the screen was torn away, and again there was no latch. Mouse droppings were strewn about in the drawers and cabinets. A dirt-encrussed plastic curtain served as a room divider at the back of the trailer.

One light in the bathroom worked when I turned it on, so I knew at least there was electricity. All the lights in the main room of the trailer were defective; only one other fixture, above the bunk, was operative. Rain poured into the trailer through opened windows. I tried to close them, but the mechanisms did not work. Above the bunk in the rear of the trailer hung

Above the hunk in the rear of the trailer hung shriveled strips of rotting plywood.

I turned off the lights, drew the mildewed curtains above the sink, left the wreck, and returned to trailer number four. "Tell the manager," I said, remaining outside." that there's "Oh, she knows about it" was the reply.

I thanked E and left weed-hooked La Pelota Trailer Resort. I liked the location (a block from the beach) and the price. If I repairs were made and the trailer cleaned up, I would rent it. Surely no one does would seek to rent a trailer in that conditions, particularly not an above to the Trailer of the Troo days later I went Back to La Pelota. It had stopped raining, and everywhere vapors arose in response to the sun. I knocked at the pink doorway and a young man appeared. "I'm interested in renting trailer number three," I said. "Is it still available?" I't think so. I'm a friend of the owner's son, Just visiting.

"Bo you know if it is been cleaned."

As we wished to the trailer. I again heard the bleating of the goat, this time accompanied by the sounds of crowing roosters, barking dogs, and a parrot singing "Alla en Banche Grandt". Inside the barking dogs, and a parrot singing "Alla en Banche Grandt". Inside the barking dogs, and a parrot singing "Alla en Banche Grandt". Inside the barking to the switch. But even in the darkness it was obvious that nothing had been cleaned. We quickly exited.

Two more days passed before a barking cardboard boxes into the back of a car. I knew it must be Margola, the owner. She was slender, probably in her 50s, and were short purchase and thick purple coloring on her eyelids. A cigarette dangled from her lips.

"I'm the one interested in netting trailer number three."

REVIEW

Its ability to size the momentary is one of photography's greatest glories. Paradoxically, no other art can give us a powerful a sense of the inebsctable passage of time. It is the stilling of the flow of time into one eternally prolonged instant that makes us realize how reality is made up of an infinite succession of such instants, how swifty they pass, how once gone they can never be retrieved — except in an image captured by a camera.

Photography, usually under the spell of patinting, can also strive for images of monuments of the properties of the photographs from the Museum of Photographic Art's permanent collection. This week I want to draw your attention to just one of the modern masterpieces in the current exhibit, a picture giving special emphasis to the second word in the show's title. Fefer Moments on Plante Earth, Petrapas no picture on the walls of the Blabos Parl gallery illustrates photography's devotion to the unique, replemental, mejcal moment more touchingly which the museum possesses a lovely print, and reproductions of which can be petrheared in the MorPA bookstore.

Unlike the stolid, depersonalized people with whom they share the sidewalk, these two are radiant with life. Asturally, the kiss will be of short duration, even in Paris. In a few seconds, the lovers will rejoin the crowd and the flow of time and will pass along out of our sight. The Hotel de Ville will remain there long after they have gone elsewhere, gotten married or not gotten married, had happy live or unhappy lives, grown old, and died. If they are still around, they must be in their 60s today, less energetic, less beautiful, less passionate, less innocent. The valuable series of Sunday concerts at La Jolla's Athenaeum continued with a recital by harpsichordist Elaine Hornburgh. This accomplished artist, who lives in San Francisco, has been a student of Alan Curtis and Gustav Leonhardt, this having access to some of the most notable modern academic and performance traditions of Barogot harpsichord playing on two continents. Her recital illustrated many of the virtues of these traditions, as well as more of their most irritating occurring unitably and pleasantly framed in the small, comfortable library room the Athenaeum uses for its concerts. REVIEW

On Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights, Antoine Hage, owner of the Hajji Baba, takes out his pot-bellied oud. He plays for the crowds of Middle Eastern men who gather at his Mission Valley restaurant. The oud, says Antoine, "is the mother of the lute."

Antoine's oud is a weathered, beautiful instrument. Its host neck travered by 12 strings et in pairs, atteches to a tapered end. The sound box, a fat oval of delicate woods, is a dorned with inlays in the geometric patterns of Islam. As an instrument, though, the oud full manusement, and the structure of the sound o

After I grew accustomed to Cairo's perpetual firration with collapse, I found solace in its music. I realized I could never be anything but an outsider in that world; that even when I learned to sit with the old men and their shisha pipes at the tea houses, I would not hear the same things they heard in the music. I was only skimming the surface of a culture beyond water.

You're Single. We're Free. Why Wait?

Introducing Reader PHONE MATCHES," a Great Place to Meet Single People.
You are provided with a free personal matching ad in the Reader Classifieds.
You also receive a free "voice mailbox."— a phone service that allows you to record and receive messages from any touch-tone phone.

HOW TO PLACE YOUR AD: To place a free Phone Matches ad, fill out the coupon below and mail or FAX it (233-7907) to us. (If faxing, please photocopy the coupon first and then fax it. The newsprint doesn't reproduce well.) The deadline for receiving free Phone Matches ads is Saturday at 7am. Free ads are 25 words or less and run for two weeks. No free ads will be accepted over the phone or in person. Ads with more than 25 words covers of the printed in your ad) and a 4-digit security code for exclusive access to your responses.

You may also place a late a dutil dpm Tuesday by phone (235-8200), in our office (1703 India St. at Date St., downtown), or by FAX (233-7907). The charge for these late as is $20 for the first 25 words place $1.00 per additional word. Ads placed by phone or by FAX are with Visa or MasterCard only, Limit one Phone Matlerbay dper person per two-week period.

HOW TO USE YOUR VOICE MAILBOX: After you receive your mailbox number and private security code, you can record your personal introduction. Call 527-1966, 24 hours a day, and follow the easy instructions.

Use your introduction to tell more about yourself than your ad does (see below for guidelines). Give your first name, but DONT give your last name, phone number or address. Make sure you ask your callers to leave their names, phone number and the best times to call them. You can re-record your personal introduction once per 24-hour period.

All introductions are reviewed by the Reader and go on-line within 24 hours.

To listen to your responses, call 527-1966 any time, 24 hours a day, and follow the easy instructions. You can replay any response or move shead to the next one. If you choose to move shead, the previous response will be erased, so have a pencil and piece of paper ready! You must have a touch-tone phone to record a personal Introduction or listen to responses.
