Mr. Opel'scar feels That His Is Nothing Less Than A God-Given Mission To Offer The Gift Of Laughter To A Dear World

In the Name Of Salvation

The Reader welcomes letters for publication. You may phone them in or by writing to Reader Letters, Reader Letters, San Diego, CA 92101. Include your name, address, and telephone number if you wish to be acknowledged for length and clarity.

Discussing The Angry Deadhead Thing As An Angry Deadhead Thing

Mr. Opel's letter was a thoughtful and well-reasoned piece. The author seems to be responding to a larger issue, one that is often overlooked in the context of Deadhead ting. The letter was well-written and I found it interesting.

Tom Latimer San Diego

Mr. Opel Is A Scum-Suck

As an avid Deadhead, I was disappointed in Mr. Opel's recent letter. It was a complaint about the Deadhead scene and I am surprised. The Deadhead scene is different from other music scenes, and it is criticized. Mr. Opel's letter was disappointing. Deadheads are a common phenomenon in the music world and I believe they are being unfairly criticized.

Ted Drewie

Pepsi Fans

I am a big fan of Mr. Opel's letter. I think he brings up a good point about the problem of Deadheads on public transportation. The Deadhead scene is very passionate and it is important to respect their rights.

San Diego State, Lowery's alma mater, is keenly interested in retraining defense workers, particularly if the government is picking up the tab.

Not Much Different From What He Did In Congress

By Thomas K. Arnold

Ding is his 12 years as a rugged Hill, fast-talking member of the National Republican Congressional Committee, the group of Republican congressmen who have proven to be the most helpful in his new cause as a California congressman. He has been a member of the NRCC since 1965, and he has played close to the NRCC's fence, at least in matters of money and strategy.

Lowery does not dispute the role of his past connection with the NRCC, which he called his "home away from home." He said he learned a great deal in the NRCC, and he said he was not going to let the NRCC influence his voting in Congress.

San Diego Union reporter Ralph Lowery, 50, who covered the NRCC for 12 years, said he was surprised by Lowery's announcement.

"I was surprised by Lowery's announcement," Lowery said. "I thought he was going to be a bit more careful in the future."

LABYRINTH OF THE CITY

Part Two

T here's a lot to be said about the Pichi, now that it's been released. It's the most popular game on the streets today. It's easy to learn and fun to play. You just need a small area to play on, and a few people to join in. It's all about strategy and luck, so anyone can win.

The rules of the game are simple. You start by choosing a piece, usually a fish or a crab. Then you move your piece on the board, trying to capture your opponent's pieces. The first player to capture all their opponent's pieces wins the game.

There are many variations of the game, but the basic rules are the same. It's a great way to pass the time and have fun with friends.

In fact, the Pichi is so popular that many people use it as a way to make a living. They set up stands at parks and markets and charge people to play.

Some say that the Pichi is a modern-day version of the game of chess. Others say it's a simpler, more accessible version of the same game.

Regardless of its origins, the Pichi is here to stay. It's quickly becoming a staple of the streets, and we can expect to see it around for years to come.

surgery isn't indicative of insanity or mental set, HCX's recovery by saying, "Well, during the first five years, it's probably not much of a difference. But after that, you're about to have a fairly rapid improvement. So if you're aware of what's going to happen, you'll be able to prepare yourself for it."

"In the third year, you're really starting to see the benefit of the surgery, so you're really seeing the improvement in the way that you feel."

"In the fourth year, you're really starting to see the improvement in the way that you feel."

"In the fifth year, you're really starting to see the improvement in the way that you feel."

"In the sixth year, you're really starting to see the improvement in the way that you feel."

HCX surgery has been very successful for a number of women who have chosen to undergo the procedure. The surgery is said to be safe and effective, with minimal risks and side effects. Women who have undergone the surgery have reported feeling much better and more confident in their appearance.

Then you’ll love the Solid Gold Hund-N-Flocken
The Super natural, Super premium dog & cat food.

The #1 allergy of pets is soybeans, the #2 allergy is wheat, the #3 allergy is corn. It makes pets chew at the root of their tail and lick their feet. Yet, only a few fleas are ever seen. Solid Gold Hund-N-Flocken (means dog food flakes in German) and Solid Gold Katz-N-Flocken use amaranth, millet and barley that are non-allergic.

"Animal fat contributes to cancer and heart disease," according to the Surgeon General. Solid Gold uses no animal/poultry fat. We use canola oil and flaxseed oil which are good for our pets. But we never use corn oil or safflower oil, thought to contribute to cancer.

60 Minutes said 58% of all chickens contain salmonella poisoning. Some dog food companies could buy this contaminated chicken. Poultry by-products could mean beans, feet and feathers — no nourishment there. Solid Gold never uses chicken. We use fish and lamb.

Scott Martin and Carol Powell

Scott: I'm the manager of a glass company in North County, and the girls there put the ad in. They knew I was going through a divorce. At first I thought they were playing a joke on me. I had no idea what the ad said.

Carole: Between working, going to the gym, and being a single mother, I didn't have much time to date. The ad said 'looking for someone special, someone who wants to share life'. I was so happy to have a daughter who was so nice and smart, I did say.

Scott: One evening, while I was reviewing my phone messages, she called. I freaked her out by calling her back within two minutes.

Carole: We talked a long time. My daughter burned.

Scott: She was apprehensive at first, so I suggested a low-risk date. We went to Chuck E. Cheese’s.

Carole: It was convenient for me to take my daughter; besides if I didn’t like him, she would be my excuse to leave early.

Carole: At first this seemed risky and out of character for me, but it ended up being the best thing I ever did for myself. Scott is my dream man made into reality.

THE DAYS OF SWINE AND ROSES
"When I first heard about water rate increases I thought, Why should we pay more money after all the conserving we did?" Then I saw the first ad in this series, and I realized that the savings we were putting back into the system were now becoming a cost to us.

So we must improve the water delivery system.

The truth about the upcoming rate increases as told by a customer who doesn't want to pay them.

The quality of life in San Diego County depends on a reliable supply of imported water. For 48 years, we've been developing and expanding the delivery system.

But isn't it a bigger challenge? The population of San Diego County is projected to grow to 3.7 million by 2020, and half of that growth is due to local births. That's a 47% increase in less than 20 years.

We must improve the water delivery system, or we'll be fighting to keep the system more reliable.

We must pay attention to the Water Authority's efforts to ensure a reliable water supply — like improving our regional pipeline system, building an emergency storage reservoir, reclaiming water, and exploring desalination.

Unfortunately, the projects we're working on to make the system more reliable will cost us.

But as construction continues, we'll strive to keep our expenses low and raise rates only when necessary.

Besides the Water Authority, two other water distributors have an effect on rates: your local water agency and the Metropolitan Water District. Local water agencies generally raise their rates, though amounts will vary. Between MWD and the Authority, residents should see an additional gradual increase in their monthly water bill amounting to about $5 by the year 2000.

"Once you think through the whole issue, future water rate increases are not only inevitable, they're really an investment in the way we live today. And an investment in our future, and the future of our kids and grandchildren. That's not to say I'm excited about paying water rate increases, but now that I know what it means to all of us, I feel a little better when I open my water bill!"

SIGNALLING THROUGH THE FLAMES
By Abe Opincar

For one day, on a Friday evening, TV watchers in New York's two most famous TV locales were surprised to see their favorite show being replaced by a black screen. The audience at the ABC and NBC television stations was shocked to see what appeared to be a black screen for an entire show. The episode was titled "White Jesus: object of Black Israeltie ire".

The show, which aired on ABC and NBC, was supposed to be a joint production by ABC and NBC. However, ABC canceled the show after receiving complaints from the Jewish community. The show was scheduled to air on Friday night, but it was canceled due to the complaints.

ABC's decision to cancel the show was met with criticism from some quarters. Some argued that ABC was giving in to pressure from a minority group and was not taking a strong stance on the issue of anti-Semitism. Others praised ABC for its decision, saying that it was the right thing to do.

In an interview, ABC's President said that the decision to cancel the show was made after careful consideration of all the factors involved. He added that ABC was committed to diversity and inclusion and would not tolerate any form of hate speech.

The show's producer, a well-known Jewish American, said that he was disappointed with ABC's decision. He said that he believed in the value of diversity and inclusion and was committed to representing all communities in his work.

Despite the cancellation, the issue of anti-Semitism continues to be a topic of discussion in the media. Many believe that the cancellation of the show was a positive step in the right direction, but others argue that there is still much work to be done to address the issue of anti-Semitism in society.

H.L.L.A.
Places of Magic and Wonder in Smogland
By Adam Purdy

San Diego was once a magical land, filled with wonder and mystery. But as time passed, the city was overcome by a cloud of smog that threatened to engulf the entire region. The locals, feeling helpless against the pollution, began to wonder if there was any hope of reclaiming their lost magic.

But then, one day, a group of brave individuals came together to fight against the smog. They worked tirelessly, using their knowledge and skills, to create a series of places where magic could still thrive. These places, known as H.L.L.A. (Haven for Land and Luminaries of the Air), became havens of wonder and enchantment, offering a refuge from the oppressive smog.

The first H.L.L.A. was created in Balboa Park, where a small oasis of foliage was nurtured and protected from the choking air. The trees grew strong and healthy, their leaves reflecting the sunlight like tiny mirrors, creating a magical glade that invited passersby to stop and marvel at its beauty.

The second H.L.L.A. was established in La Jolla, where a group of artists and musicians gathered to perform, their music filling the air with enchantment. The crowd danced and sang, their bodies swaying to the rhythm of the music, lost in a world of wonder.

The third H.L.L.A. was located in Coronado, where a series of floating islands soared above the smog, their surfaces covered in a lush, green carpet of grass. The islands were connected by narrow bridges, each adorned with hanging lamps that cast a warm, golden glow on the ground below.

And so, the H.L.L.A. continued to grow, each new location more enchanting than the last. The magic of San Diego was not lost, but rather was being rekindled, one H.L.L.A. at a time. And as the sun set each evening, the magic of these places would beckon, offering a glimpse of the world as it once was, before the smog claimed it for its own.

Leaving every once in a while, Sawney Calhoun drove his truck through the back of the lots, past the music stands and the stage. When he pulled up near the grandstand, a young boy stepped out of the crowd to stand on the edge of the stage. "I've been waiting for you all night," he said. "I just want to see you play one more time before you leave." "I know," Sawney said, "but I don't think we have time for that. We're on to the next show." It flows along with the steadiness and smoothness of a farmland river.

drawn for an account of the life of a couple on the farm...in the olden-time life of a "regular" American farm family...The story is told of their daily life, their daily labors, their joys, their sorrows, their hopes, their dreams.

It might be thought that we had nothing to do with the inhabitants of the Old West, but we have. We had the same kind of a life, and the same kind of a history.

It's not a story of the past, but of the present.
It's a story of today, a story of tomorrow.

It's a story of the farm, a story of the country.

It's a story of the people, a story of the convictions.

It's a story of the land, a story of the environment.

It's a story of the spirit, a story of the will.

It's a story of the future, a story of the possibilities.

It's a story of the world, a story of the human race.

It's a story of the nation, a story of the people.

It's a story of the country, a story of the farm.

It's a story of the land, a story of the environment.

It's a story of the spirit, a story of the
will.
Rudeness Turns to Joy
She lit a fire under her bed and there tried to cook rice and eggs.

When she asked for a salt shaker in the back, our young warden stared in stupid silence at the empty space ransacked by large paws. The scavengers were not impressed by our demands.

Fortunately, and oddly, Spanish water was a welcome change, served with ice in Spanish, and not in the usual white melon balls. What we thought was a rancid veal egg turned out to be another scuttle of rice and egg. The rice was white, and the egg yellow. It was the first time we had eaten rice and eggs in a row, and the yellow egg added a comic touch to the scene. We were not impressed by our demands.

The rice was served on two small plates, one with rice and the other with eggs. The rice was white, and the egg yellow. It was the first time we had eaten rice and eggs in a row, and the yellow egg added a comic touch to the scene. We were not impressed by our demands.

PICTURE STORY

by the San Diego Historical Society

Maritime artist Joseph Lee painted this rendition of the side-wheelership Oriente in 1876. One of 13 ships in the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, the 1200-ton Oriente plied the west coast from Panama to Seattle, with regular stops in San Diego and San Francisco from 1865 to 1886. Besides passengers (which on one trip numbered 1900 souls), the side-wheeler carried mail and building supplies to our burgeoning city. On its return trips south, the ship brought ore samples from the mines of Julian to San Francisco for smelting. The Oriente may have been the only ship on the west coast to be charged a rental fee for "berthing on city lots." With certain parts of New Town scrapped by San Diego Bay, the side-wheeler found herself berthed literally atop privately-owned (albeit unoccupied) land. Whether or not the rents were ever collected is uncertain.
