"If you build a naked woman statue, the people will lynch you. They won't accept a nude, and certainly not that large."

Tijuana Is Like A Woman

By Lawrence A. Herzog

onsider the plight of Armando Mutox Garcia, self-taught artist, native of Tijuana. Five years ago, while his city planned festivities for its 100th anniersary, the 39-year-old Mutox had a vision: that he would build a six-and-a-half-sortymonument — of a nude, sould build a six-and-a-half-sortymonument — of codevoluptious woman — to celevoluptious woman — to celemillennium.

Today, Muñoz's vision is probably the best-kept secret in Tijuana, and if the Mexican government can help it, it will stay that way.

Public monuments occupy a sacred place in Mexico. At the end of the 19th Century, Pres-ident Porfirio Diaz initiated blanketing Mexican cities with statues of dead heroes. Thuana eventually got its share of monuments, most of which have little to do with the city itself: an Aztec emperor (Cuauhtémoc), a string of Mexican presidents (Iuárez, Cárdenas, Obregón), e U.S. president (Abraham Lincoln), a mythical goddess (La Diana Cazadora), and a Mexican

Across the camon to the south, laundry is strung out on clothes-lines. Billboards reveal smiling faces and 7-Up bottles. Off to the right, at about eye level from the road, she appears in all her pale nudity—curvacious hips, bare breasts, one arm raised like the nudity — curvacious hupe, bare oreans, one and a statue of Liberty.

Locals immediately began calling the statue La Mujer Blanca (the white woman), since asside from the voluptuous nudity, the distinguishing feature of the Amazon female is that she is white like snow. Or white like the gringo United States?

"White represents purity," explains the artist. "It contrasts with mudity, with the stereotyping of Tijuans's history and of our women. We are not at city of prosisitues."

In the year following its completion, the White Woman of Ti. In the year following its completion, the White Woman of Ti. In the year following to complete and its out-of-fown evenpeers. Local reporters flockled games and its out-of-fown evenpeers. Local reporters flockled use eit, of course, and the artist enjoyed a burst (moment of celebrity). But lately, when not displaying banners for local politicians, a large se vewelf (for sale) sign is seen hauging next to the statue, whose paint and plaster are starting to look worm. The moments in the spotlight has passed, and in the contrast of the property of the property

Muñoz García raised money on his own, scavenged materials, and spent a year and a half designing and constructing the statue. His mega-female isn't merely a statue, it's a piece of architecture—

Lack of government support for a nude female statue should come as no great surprise in Catholic Mexico.

T asked a local theater instructor about the statue while I was still building it, "asys Mantoz." He was what you would call a liberal. He said, 'Don't do it here in Tijuana. If you build a naked woman statue, the people will lynch you. They won't accept a nude, and certainly not that large."

"The woman in this statue is lofty, up-front, arrogant," says Ocorno. "She is not in a position of festivity. Her features are hard, she has an air of concern. She is not serene like a Greek statue. It's more as if she were saying, 'Where are we from? Where are we going?' She's very different from the woman in another statue called Fiesta Jarabe | at the Otay Mesa border crossing]. That statue is a cliched Mexican woman.

That statue is too sensual, too heavily cast in the mold of a party-going, dancing woman of the evening."
That statue lies on the U.S. side of the border.
For Armando Muñoz García, Tijuana must cleanse the past. It must change the way it's defined by outsiders.

"People visit our city, they leave garbage, they just trash it. They have these atterocypes in their heads, that Tijuana is dirty. So they don't care."

The next millennium? In this millennium, La Mujer Blanca stares out from a typical Tijinan domestic scene — the proletarian urban canyon. Thick, black sewage oozed through the stream below. Garbage lies scattered about. Chik-mu wander and sinevy gray draig grown at each other, gray draig of exception of the candon slopes. The neighborhood screams 'third would.'

What's So Sacred About Fish?

By Rick Heller

he hills above town could have been Shangrila for all I was concerned. I was introduced to the place by a friend when I was about 12. We went to an enchanting habitat where a small stream cut through the low foothills. This became my secret place.

low foothills. This became my secret place.

On one of my early trips to the hills, I found the skeleton of a great blue beron that had been killed by a shotgun blast. Miraculously, the skull was un-touched by the pellets; it was clean and precise, a gent. It came to spend a lot of time in this secluded spot. It was a place to go when life with my place to go when life with my family was troubling and 1 was what church is for some people. It was a place where I hiked and had adventures, and most of all, a place where I felt at peace.

I remember one time my father asked me what I did in the hills. You don't commune with nature, do you? 'he asked, I told him that the hills were a place for adventure and study. I was interested in the living creatures and the Indians that ad once lived on the land, I only left out the mystical aspect of my adventure.

of my adventure. I found a small Indian site I found a small Indian site there once. There were a few spots on the natural granite boulders where prehistoric in-dian women had ground seeds. Here and there could be found broken grinding tools or a flake of stone left behind from a chipped stone tool.

But it was the arroyos that interested me archaeologically. I had been reading about what were called carly-man sites. Ex-perts were unsure how long ago human beings had come to the Americas across the Bering land bridge in the Arc-

Since I'm assuming you don't have many 18-wheeler soring through your alley, we can climinate diesele chaust as a possibility. That contains more greasy particulates than does chaust from gasoline engines but doesn't have quite the grif factor you seem to be compatining about. Living on an alley, of course, is asking for trouble of this sort. You'r bound to have more combustion byproducts waiting through your house than would someone with the sense to live on top of a hill. John would have known that, I'll bet. Anyway, since you can 'do anything about on top of a hill. John would have known that, I'll bet. Anyway, since you can 'do anything about interesting.— a conversation-starter, if you will.

You might also be interested to know that there's every possibility that amid the drift that's drifting up in the corners of your rooms are particles from the Sahara (desert, not hote) and Tasamania and Tierra de Fugeo or some such costic locales. Dust carried adoft on updrafts can be blown great distances around the globe. And I'm sure it all heads right in your kitchen window.

Keeps the birds off the billboards and the bird doo off the advertising. I'm sure I'll be answering this one again in a year or so. "We all had the book on pitchers.
But, you know, you get the pitch, and you foul it off. Then the pitcher's got you by the cajores. You're either even or he's ahead of you. Williams was always ahead. He was ahead on the count. There's the element of fear, when you threw the pitch he wanted, you weren't going to get the damn ball back. It wasn't going to be a foul ball, it was going to be hit hard sounewhere. Not that you'll always get a hit, but the ball would be crushed. That's what separated

"I think there was more fear then of being gone tomorrow because of the number of players available to each club. St. Louis and 24 minor league clubs, the Dodgers had 20-some, we had 17.

There were a lot of people at the door.

"See, in those days when guys played Triple-A ball, they would play three or four years of Triple-A ball. When you got to the big league you knew how to play the game. It wasn't what you see today, klds getting signed out of high school, then two years.

system. Whether it comes from a police officer or a defense attorney, a logdge or a court clerk or a prosecutor, there seems to be a residuum of empathy for rapists that crosses all gender, class, and professional barriers. It gets expressed in different ways, from victim-bashing to jokes in poor taste, and too often it results in giving the rapist a break.

n a recent morning I talked by telephone with Alice Vachss, who lives in Queens. A bit of Vachss's Boston rearing colors her speech — an occasional A gets flattened, and a B or T gets bitten off. She speaks with the economy of someone accustomed to addressing a court. She's not often given to digression; what you ask is what she

I asked Vachas, "From where does that residuum of empathy spring?"

Noting that before we spoke she had been reading the Biden Report, she said, "Their report into the system, and empathy for victims is the aberration rather than the other way around. I think we have a great deal of tolerance for sexual violence in our society, and the fact that it shows prise to anybody the system should be no surprise to anybody.

"The criminal justice system is a politically The criminal justice system is a pointicary based system, and politicians are going to go with what got them there. There is even talk about women having rape famsaies, but I don't think what rape actually is.

"Rhet Buller's Gone With the Wind rape scene is considered one of those romaint moments in movivedom. There's something sexy about a lemma of the control of the c Vachss has written, "Rapists progress — often they start with people they know before moving on to strangers. They become emboldened by success with easy prey. They start believing we're all prey." I asked her to comment on that

"What happens is this," she said, "We have a society in which we don't incarcerate people on predictions. So if somebody's never done anything, there's a limit to how much we can be safe from them." thing, there's a limit to how much we can be safe from them. I do not blame the criminal justice sys-tem for failing at that point. But once people have demonstrated that they are predatory and they are dangerous, if we fail to protect ourselves from that person, we are giving him a message to escalate his violence, and he listens. "I think the most depressing thing for a sin-cere prosecutor is to finally arrest a serial rapist and look at his record and find out that this is the Vaches writes, "I have to admit that the defense attorneys I admit ment are those who refuse to represent rapists and child abusers. Unless they're public defenders, who they represent is their own choice." She adds that there are defense attor-neys who feel "bended" to repists, that there are "lawyers who identify with their rapist clients, woman that cross-examination might offer them." Thing is, it doesn't matter wither the Suede-ling are worker the Suede-ling are considered by the de-corded by the demander as edoing is different from out-of-the-closet gay pop and rock, where the artist is a known quantity with, quie likely, an attendant agenda. It's Suede's filtration with homosexuality, thrust as they are into the main-stream as pop sensations, that stream as pop sensations, that theoretically makes them interesting. In a favorable Village Voice piece last month, Barry Walters offered, "Of course, I'd prefer it if Anderson were a bona fide homo, rather than merely an enthusiastic student. But the fact that the next-bigthing is led by a wannabe butt-fucker has got to make things easier when the real Homo Superior comes around."

Okay, but here's the key question: Are Suede a "next-big-thing" Tor, at least, do they descrete to be, artistically speaking? After all, you can and should be able to get away with anything if you've got the musical goods, live and/or on record.

At any rate, we could certainly appreciate the line, since swapping hand jobs with the girls was the primary sex-ual order of the day.

The fact that we were straight, trying-to-be-tuff little shits and Bowie was, apparently, a brazen fag (note the famous Melody Maker cover with Bowie on his knees onstage, face hov-ering over Ronson's crotch and simulating giving head while Mick did a solo) made no dif-ference to us. Bowie was the man, the one who put an ultraman, the one who put an ultra-cool sci-fi slant to his sexual strangeness when he sang,

So, yeah, maybe I take it per-sonally that the early-to-mid-"708 Bowie name is dropped as a reference point as often as it has been with Suede. In spite of these unbappy endings, I believe the storefront cafe remains the last frontier for new arrivals to our city. Take Al Rawsha, located at 4282 BI Cajon Boulevard. Two courageous women made their way from Baghdad, I ray, and opened this tiny Middle Eastern restaurant, which seats no more than 20. Mother and daughter labored from morning to night, cooking hearty family-ayle food for very low costs. When the mother, Magdlebra, died last year I feared that it was the Asker, continues to operate the restaurant. The Saturday special — lamb or fish curry over bas-

The physical layout of the restaurant consists of a counter, a menu board, a work table for rolling dough, and a stove called a saji. The saji is dome-shaped with an aluminum exterior. In Lebanon, a wood fire heats the sajir here, natural eas keeps it sajj; here, natural gas keeps it hot. The basic menu consists of sandwiches — open-faced, wrapped like burritos, or folded into triangles, all of which are placed on the dome of the sajj

For a "cheese pie," handmade wheat dough is rolled into a thin round the size of a small pizza. Feta and jack cheese are mixed with parsley and added to the dough, which is folded and put on the sujjuntil the cheese is melted — a matter of minutes. The pie, which costs $1,75, melts in your mouth, as does all this simple mouth, as does all this simple traditional Lebanese food.

During their first year and a half, Mama Virginia Ghosn and her son Alfonso prepared food for take-out only. At present, a sun-filled patio adjacent to the cooking area is available for dining. You either carry your tray by yourself or it's brought to you.

We ordered the aforemen tioned cheese pie and a kishk pie, a blend of yogurt, cracked wheat, tomatoes, parsley, and onions. When these pies came off the stove, they were hot and tasty. They're also healthy—Mama's Delli is a vegetarian's heaven. We also tried the manakesth, described in the menu as "herbal pizza." The dough is covered with thyme, sesame seeds, and sumea, a purple-col-. The dough is placed open-faced on the oven until the herbs buble. The basis menakeeth cubmions. When these pies came ble. You're Single. We're Free. Why Wait?

Introducing Reader PHONE MATCHES, a Great Place to Meet Single People. You are provided with a free personal matching ad in the Reader Classifieds. You also receive a free "voice mailbox"— a phone service that allows you to record and receive messages from any touch-tone phone.

HOW TO PLACE YOUR AD: To place a free Phone Matches ad, fill out the coupon below and mail or FAX it (233-7907) to us. (If faxing, please photocopy the coupon first and then fax it. The newsprint doesn't reproduce well.) The deadline for receiving free Phone Matches ads is Starday at 7 am. Free ads are 25 words or less and run for two weeks. No free ads will be accepted over the phone or in person. Ads with more than 25 words cost $1.2.0 per additional word. We'll send you a 5-digit mailbox number (to be printed in your ad) and a 4-digit security code for exclusive access to your responses. code for exclusive access to your response

You may also place a late a duil fopm Tuesdones.

You may also place a late at duil fopm Tuesday by phone (235-8200), in our office (1703 India St. at Date St., downtown), or by FAX (233-7907). The chord for three late as ds is $20 for the first 25 words plus 1,20 per additional word. Ads placed by phone or by FAX are with Visa, MasterCard or Discover only. Limit one Phone Matches ad per person per two-week period.

HOW TO USE YOUR VOICE MAILBOX: After you receive your mailbox number and private security code, you can record your personal introduction. Call 527-1966, 24 hours a day, and follow the easy instructions.

Use your introduction to tell more about yourself than your ad does (see below for guidelines). Give your first name; but DON'T give your last name, phone number or address. Make sure you ask your callers to leave their names, phone numbers and the best times to call them. You can re-record your personal introduction once per 24-hour period. All introductions are reviewed by the Reader and go on-line within 24 hours.

To listen to your responses, call 527-1966 any time, 24 hours a day, and follow the easy instructions. You can replay any response or move ahead to the next one. If you choose to move ahead, the previous response will be erased, so have a pencil and piece of paper ready! You must have a touch-tone phone to record a personal introduction or listen to responses.

Phone Matches Success Stories: Jeanne and Larry Goodyear

BIG GREEN EYES, blonde hair, easy smile, 30s, 5'7", romantic entrepreneur seeks sociable, handsome, affectionate man Monogamous Christian nonsmoker? Humorous? Desire relationship?

Jeanne: I took out a more generic Phone Matches™ ad three years ago and got 80 responses, but I didn't really find what I was looking for. This time I was clear on what I wanted.

Larry: I had a little system going. I'd read all the Phone Matches^{3M} ads, cross out the ones I didn't like, and prioritize the rest. Jeanne's ad really popped out at me. And when I called up and heard her message, she really

Jeanne: We met for coffee in Solana Beach on a Saturday afternoon. Then we went for a walk in Carlsbad and stopped in at an Italian restaurant for an early dinner. After that, we walked and watched the beautiful sunset on Carlsbad State Beach. It turned into a five-hour date

Larry: When we got back, I kissed her. I've never kissed anyone on the first date.

Jeanne: He asked me if it was OK first. He really put me on the spot.

Larry: Before me she was dating all these megabuck

Larry: We'd been going out for five or six weeks when she signed up for the bridal registry.

husband and father. Most of my friends were pretty surprised when I told them I was Jeanne (laughing): It wasn't that soon! And it wasn't a bridal registry. It was just a mailing list.

Larry: I think you were trying wedding gowns on, too.

Jeanne: We got engaged last New Year's Eve. We were on the Coronado ferry, watching this giant fireworks display, and Larry pulled out the ring and proposed. I started cryge, While the fireworks glimmered on the water of San Diego Bay, a person behind us captured our special moment on film.

Larry: We were leaning over the water when I asked her. I was a fraid Γd drop the ring.

Jeanne: He didn't. We were married April 24th at the beautiful campus of University of San Diego in Founders Chapel.

Larry: Sometimes, when you're out there trying to meet new people, you run into women who aren't really looking for a relationship. What I liked about Phone Matches³⁶ is that it eliminated all those cold shoulders.

Jeanne: Not everyone is going to find someone who's right. But it certainly opens you up to meeting a lot

Place your Reader roommate ad today and get responses tomorrow!

Even if it's 2 am on a Friday morning, you can pick up your phone and place your ad on our computer. You could get responses within 24 hours and have a roommate by the end of the weekend! For just $16/week you get the following:

A 25-word printed ad in the Reader which contains a general description of your roommate situation. You can now place your roommate ad 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, from any touch-tone phone by calling into the Reader Roommate Line at 235-2415.

24-hour voice malibox service which will allow you to leave a 60-second recorded message describing in detail your available roommate situation. If you're looking for a roommate who shares your passions for Cole Porter tunes, popcorn at midnight and volleyball games at the beach, this is your opportunity to say so and more. We will also use this recording to write your 25-word printed ad.

Respondents who see your all men paper will call into the free response line, hear your detailed mailbox message and leave a message for you. At your convenience, you can call 232-2415 day or night, pick up your messages and choose whom to call back.

Get response before your ad appears! Son after you record your mailbox message, it will be placed on the Roommate Hotline. Responders who call the Roommate Hotline will have access to your recorded message before the Reader-even hist the streets on Thursday. If you record your message on Monday, you could be interviewing potential roommates on Welmedsy and collecting rent on Thursday!

To place your roommate ad, call 235-2415 day or night.

For questions regarding Roommate ads call 235-8200, ext. 265 Pay with Visa, MasterCard, Discover, check or cash.
The cost is $16. However you pay, you must first call 235-2415 to place your ad.

We pursue an active outdoor lifestyle and you'll probably have more luck finding us at Mission Bay playing wolleybal than at home in front of the TV. We like to entertain and our back yard is a great spot for barbaccus. We see seeking a person who is conscientious, financially stable and a good communicator. And, we have one cut named spots.

Please tell us about yourself and don't forget to leave your phone number and the best time to reach you. Thanks!

Scene: Underground Bunker — Jack Murphy Stadium
Tom Wiener, captain of the San Diego Ship of Fools, has general mana Randel Smythe before his desk. Smythe stands with his back straight, knees heart when the stands with his back straight, knees

, enest out, chin in.

Wiener: "Look Smythe, why do we have to field nine people? Isn't this her one of your bullshit baseball traditions? We can do without one outanother one of your builbish baseball traditions? We can do without one out fielder and the shortstop. Let the other players work a little harder. Smythe: "That's a good idea, sir. It really is forward thinking. There's only one ity-bity problem. That would be..." he stands straighter "...hat would be against the rules, sir." Wiener: "What rules?"

viciner: vinat rules?
Sinythe: "Major League Baseball rules, sir."
Wiener: "Smythe, get with it. This isn't the old days when we had some bleeding-heart commissioner whining and sniveling about the purity of the game. The owners run baseball now, and we know what operating a business is. It's bottom line, boy. Now fix up a trade. Do it now."

Whene: "And another thing. Put a lock on the stadium bathrooms. We't start charging a 50-cent entrance fee, raise it to a buck later on. And I want all the water fountains turned off. Damned if we're going to give it away when they can just as well buy, a soft drink."

Souther "Most "A".

Wiener: "I'm not talking about that, Smythe. How many insulting placands did you confiscate?"

Smythe: "916, siz."
Smythe: "916, siz."
Weiner: "Add another hundred security guards. People say we're cheap — I know it Smythe, I hear the rabble. But it's not cheapness, it's spending money at the right time for the right objective. Get that boy?"
Smythe: "Fest, sir."
Weiner: "Okay, how's it going with the press!"
Smythe: "They were upset when the Little League trade didn't work out."

Wiener." I don't blame them. Hey, that was a chamjonship little League club. They took it all, beat those Singapore kids like a drum. Why, some of the boys on that team could come up here and help out immediately. It was a hell of a trade, one complete team for another complete team."

Snythe." It was hearthresking, sir."

Snythe." It was hearthresking, sir."

Snythe." "Not reaboulter typith, sir."

Wiener. "It was that darm Secretary of Labor and his whimpering about hid labor laws. Nonsense. Hell, if we went to a home-game-only schedule the little bastards could go to school any time they fell like it."
