Take a person from 1893 and dump them down in Grand Central Station or put them in offer the matter, I would make no sense. Everything's changed in the space of 100 years.

"What most science faction writers and futurists — which are really 5F writers without a license — tend to do is take present trends and exaggrate them. An example is in Asimov's Youndation.

David Brin:

Even he knew it was impossible to cover a world with pavement and metal, but that was kind of an inflamed version of his own

"On the other side you've got George Stewart's 1950s novel which is a lovely image.

"Think the other thing you have to keep in mind, too, when you're talking about a cityscape is that archaeologists have learned a lot about the past by digging just a very few feet. People tend to rebuild upon the old city. A thousand year? There are cities that have been inhabited for that long and we've learned a lot from readering them.

What about nanotechnology and its impact on biology-or the other way around?
"Nanotech is one of those bugaboos. I kind of get a kick out of it. Nanotechnology is the technology of devices that can nove individual atoms around and construct new molecules. Have you talked with Venero Vinge about his singularity theory? You really should. It fits in with all of this.

Now the other form of what I call annotech—you might want to call it microtech—is what individual enzymes od. hearymes are the proteins that all organisms make. What causes rice pudding to thicken are the proteins in egg and to a leaver degree, in milk. The behavior of eggs in the kitchen, explains Harold McGree in On Food and Cooking, is mently a mat. "Egg, both white and yolk, is made up not just of protein in the singular, but protein, in the justice of the cooking is mently a mat." "The protein in the singular but protein in the singular pro

Mins by his famous country-man. Leos Inacke, his playing took on a confidence and au-thority that had been missing in his performances of Chopin and Brahms. The piano, under Martaka's hands, took on a greater range of color and ex-pressiveness. The spirit of the music filled the precise and nu-anced sounds, so that listening to these pieces became a truly gripping experience. The imeven more persuasive in the breathtakingly intense reading of Janacek's Sonata (May 1, 1905), which followed. This rarely played sonata — only two of the original three move-ments remain — is one of the composer's most powerfully autobiographical pieces, and Maratka evoked with a con-centrated power of his own the dire imagination of death it embodies.

The high point of the concert, however, was the concluding piece, Ma'ratka's Fantasy for Piano, which dates from 1989. The juxtaposition with Janacek was apposite, for the Czech composer is clearly a major influence on Ma'ratka's

I suspect that Cobain, like most angry young men, is a sentimentalist.

riews (the proper forum), the insistent lenunciations issued by Nirvana's members, presumably to distance themselves from the traditional "corporate" rock mentality, grew in-creasingly hollow. They are now simple reiterations of a stance only the easily impressed could have given a traditional fuck about. And as

On disc the illusion of manic depression and the obsessions with displacement and the need for shelter can be powerfully effective and affecting. Over a lengthy haul, each hook, repeated riff, and screeching chorus take on the reverber-ation of a mantra, making it practically impossible to dis-tinguish one change of inflection or emphasis from the next. Cobain is fond of clongating his buzzin is rond of clongating his buzzing cries-and-feedback to torturous lengths, exposing both his earthbound imagination and a tiresome reliance on the most slowenly gimmickry electronics offers. In concert, there was no subtety or mod-ulation for brief relief, despite the cosmetic additions of an-other guitarist and a droning, cellist. With this "type" of music, one must be satisfied with unbridled emotionalism but very little genuine feel ing, much as with a wounded wolf whose howl cannot be traced. However solid m have been Chris Novoselic' have been Chris Novoselic's bass repetitions and slams or Dave Grohl's Buddy Miles-like paradiddle bashes, the concert became more lethar-gic and distant as the 90 minutes wore on.

too much to ask for. Don't expect humor, though — any band that allows disgustingly rot-ten pork swill like "Bobcat" Goldthwait to emcee for them is beyond the pale of a puling punchline. As it stands now, the best thing Nirvana has committed to posterity is not contained on their releases but on the Beavis and Butt-Head compilation. It's called "I Hate Myself and Want to Die." Maybe there is a glimmer of wit in those underfed bones after all.

By any measure but length, it was not, however, a year of plenty. Ad-minedly, that's not the impression I get when I look at the Top Ten lists of others. But then again, when I look at them more closely, the impression I get, as powerfully as I have ever gotget, as powerfully as I have ever got-ten it, is that we must be talking about different years. Mine was not much like theirs. The discrepancy, as long as I do not have to strive consciously for it, is perhaps all to the good. If my own favorite movies of the past twelve months were Schindler's List and The Piano, I might well wonder why I was bothering. As it is, I needn't wonder and can go right on bothering (mak-ing a bother, being a bother, whatever), even if, or especially if, I am able on my part to dredge up only half a Top Ten list.

he photographer who snapped this 1914 photo of the U.S. Grant Hotel stood on Fourth Avenue facing Broadway. The 11-story hotel was built by U.S. Grant, Jr., in memory of his famous general/president father, and was raised on the site of the old Horton House. Five years prior to the Grant's official 1910 opening, Alonzo "Father" Horton, age 91, removed the first bricks from Horton House and thus initiated its razing. Although Horton vowed to be the first guest to register in the new hotel, he never realized his dream; financial difficulties delayed the Grant's completion until after Horton's death.

The Grant was meant to be San Diego's signature hotel - our answer to San Francisco's St Francis It featured Italian and Belgian marble, frescoes, fan-light windows and a 6000-piece-per-hour mechanical dishwasher. Newspapers of the time noted its ultramodern potato peeling machine, said to be able to peel a bushel of the spuds in just under a minute. Over the years, the Grant saw many owners and several renovations; just last month, the newest group of investors stepped in and vowed to restore the old beauty to

If you choose an ad from the Phone Matches'* column, use the 5-digit mailbox number printed in the ad to listen to the person's introduction and leave a response. (An advertise may not have recorded an introduction by the time you call. If not, you can still leave a message in his or her mailbox.) The date at the end of the ad is the last day to reply to the mailbox. Or you can "browse" through all the introductions and respond to the ones that suit you.

The charge for using Phone Matches<sup>na</sup> will appear on your phone bill under "DATING." If you have any questions, call 235-8200, x268.

Tyou're calling from a rotary phone, you cannot listen to box holders' introductions. To use the system, stay on the line until you hear the rotary phone instructions. After the tone, leave your message including the number of the mailtox you're responding to. Rotary phone users can only respond to one ad per call; you must call back to respond to another ad.

Harry: 1 wasn't that interested in getting into a relationship, but her ad was so intriguing. I live and work in the Gaslamp, and La Fonda is one of my favorite places for breakfast.

Jennette: We met on New Year's Eve of 1990, at 4:30 in the afternoon. Within the hour, I went back to his studio to see his pictures of Copper Canyon. I trusted him that much. Then he walked me to Horton Plaza, where I was meeting some friends.

Harry: Jennette comes from the East Coast, and I'm from the West. She sees the world very differently than I do. That makes it all new and exciting. San Diego Reader Phone Matches

Jennette: One of the first things he asked me was, "Are you a typical New Yorker?" I said, "Well, I'm direct."

Harry: We've been able to discuss everything under the sun.

Harry: We're 180 degrees apart on that.

Jennette: We both love to travel, and our first trip was to Morocco, after knowing each other for six months.

Harry: I got very sick. It was a watershed. I figured if we survived that, we can survive anything.

Jennette: I know I can count on him. He's never let me down. We're together all the time now.

Harry: We just got back from New Mexico, where we found a place we really like. Someday, we'd like to go back and live there, maybe go into the travel business Jennette: At the beginning of this year, that's the last thing I would have thought of. I've been teaching first grade for 27 years! But now I feel that anything's possible.

Harry: If you have to struggle to be in a relationship, it's not worth it. I've always wanted someone who was easy to be with. And now I've found her.

Learn the Sacred Ways of an Apache Medicine Woman

Native American Spirituality and Healing with KACHINAS KUTENAI

he powers and rituals of Native American Shamans, or "Medicine Women", are as legendary as they are mysterious...Only a handful of authentic shamans exist today.

Kachinas Kutenai is one. Kutenai is both a registered nurse and an Apache Medicine Woman. She combines the ancient power of Native American herbs with the needs of modern medicine, and the results are extraordinary.

She is one of three people who have actually changed a patients blood test from HIV positive to HIV negative. She has been the subject of feature articles in magazines and newspapers across the country including The LA. Times, Elle, and New Visions Journal.

In this remarkable workshop, Kachinas Kutenai, will introduce you to the use of herbs, visualization, vision quests, sweat lodges, medicine wheels, sacred objects and creatures, and many other Native America healing concepts. She'll demonstrate some sacred Native American intails from many Native American intest including Apache. Sheeshone, Navabo, Hopi, Algonquin and

If you believe in the power of the Shaman, o even if you're a skeptic, you'll hear convinc-ing, closely-guarded information. This is a rare opportunity to be taught Native American spirituality by one of the very few traditional Native Americans to come Kachinas Kutenal is the founder of the Sacred Rainbow Circle Foundation and the author of five books, including Medicine Woman Speaks: A Simple Introduction to the Use of Herbs and American Indian Healing.
