Electronic Bloodlust BattleTech National Championships at Hazard Center Through the technique of mind-control-at-a-distance (which they had invented many millions of years before), the Centaurians implanted an obsessional idea in the mind of two randomly selected young male Chicagaons named Jordan Weisman and Ross Babcock. The idea was to come a violent was same that could and Ross Babcock. The idea was to create a violent war game that could be played on computers and — the heart of the matter — in which the players would actually interact with each other and not just with software. In an imaginary futuristic world, players would engage in battle at the controls of 35-foot-tall, walking, robot-like armored tanks, smashing robot-like armored tanks, smashing their enemies with fabulous weapons of destruction of destruction. This activity would vap the ferocious force of the audrogens that had previously driven men to crusades, pogroms, fire bornbings, invasions, massacres, boxing, and ice hockey. ingly inventive set. Eschewing the romantic realism that might have been suggested by Hawthorne's story, Conklin has boldly gone all the way in the opposite direction, with ab-stract stage architecture and alistic flowers, de scending from the flies and loating in an atmosphere of dream more potent even than the murmuring flow of Catan's music. With Mimi Jordan Sherin's equally audacious and nuanced lighting design, Con-klin's sets constitute one of the most stunning visual supports to an opera I have ever encountered.

Ivan Lins The Belly Up Tavern March I

As inuch as that may strike the omni-musi-cal Magellans as indefensible or philatime. Lins is one of the cases in which parchilaism super-sedes the universal principle. At best, his March 1 Belly Up performance was only middly engaging, attention-sustaining, or deserving of the squarks optime longer. Lins is achieved industry who like most deliberately pop-folky craftsmen, mines his finesse with bursts of crucial emosing. But I heard nothing to compare with Simon's dis-turbing and perhaps autodidactic melange of Brazilian music or his "I Am a Rock" self aborption. Lins sticks to medium-rare fare. He is a rep-resentative of crossover in general, which makes deposit in nearby Hauser Canyon; the mineral was mined, trucked to the mill, and crushed into a fine powder by special stones especially imported from Norway that tumbled about in two tube mills. The feldspar powder was then shipped north to the Bay Area where it was used in the manufacture of china, porcelain, and abrasive cleansers. Some of it also ended as a straining agent for pineapple juice.

rotating tube mills reputedly rumbled around the clock because plant operators were afraid they'd be unable to restart the balky piece of machinery; that prediction was put to the test in 1938 when the engine had to be shut down because a worker had gotten caught in its gcars. The man subsequently died, and it was several months before the mill reopened.

It closed for good just before the start of World War II.

RANDALL SMITH & STACY BERMINGHAM

"Now every day is so much fun! We really owe a debt to Phone Matches." - Stacy Bermingham

DAN & ANN ROSE

"I never imagined meeting someone like Dan through the Reader. I was just looking to make new friends and have a good time, not for a partner. And now we're getting married..." —Ann Rev

JOICE & BOB POTTER "My advice to others is this: These ads can work and they're a safe way to meet someone, and it means taking a risk. Life is full of risks; you need to trust your inner voice and follow it." -Jone Pater

RON DAVIS & SUSAN LOTT-DAVIS

"I had a friend who got over 70 responses to her Phone Matches ad. She was busy breakfast, lunch and dinner! One Saturday morning I was screening some of her calls as a favor until suddenly I realized, 'This is stupid! Here I am sitting here with nothing to do on a Saturday night...' So I looked in the back of the Reader for myself. And Ron's ad jumped out at me."

-Suan Lat: Davis "I got 12 responses. When I heard Susan's, I knew she was the one." -Ron Daris so Phone Matches was my best opportunity to meet someone. When Ed called, we talked about everything! Travel, hobbies, past relationships." -Dubbi Smith

"Very safe. That's the thing. Before Phone Matches...exchanging pictures, addresses... I never would have done it." -Alice Reis

NATALIE & GREG KACZUR

"Natalie was number 13. I never called 14, 15, and 16. We talked over the phone for a month before our first date. I never asked her what she looked like. And then when I met her in person, it was, "Wow!" " -Greg Kaccar

BARBARA & TIM GERCKE "I was amazed at the quality of people who responded. Doctors, lawyers, business owners. I called back as many as I could." — Barbara Grock

SYLVIA & MARK PRYSANT "Three friends of mine have married because of Phone Matches." -Sylvia Prysant

STEVE & JAMIE LARSON

"I encourage other women to place Phone Matches ads. Take the chance! They're free and they're safe. And you get to choose who to call back. Just meet at a public place, be casual, be yourself, and go with the flow of it." -lamic Laram
