"We need a policy change that will en-able the state to collect restitution from parolees. The problem is, often it isn't cost-effective. We tend to stratify criminals. No one wants to that these kinds of things don't happen.

While the state did not check with any county, city, check with any county, city, because the county of the Dorrch had any outstanding debts, according to Gidley, the lottery does it all the time. "We had a guy here a while back who won the lottery, says Gidley. That money was automatically deducted from his lottery check. In that case, we collected?. Meanwhile, how will San Diego get its money back from Dortch if still owed? "Now that I'm aware of this case, we're going to get right on it," Soderland says. "I'm going to get a hold of San Diego County right away to see if we can place a lien on him. Gidley says the county also plans to actively pursue Dortch's case. "If we can determine if this is still a legally enforceable lien, then we can enforceable lien, then we can and will put a demand on him." Gidley says. "We can put his attorney on notice that any money going to him for this settlement is subject to collection." Adds Soder-land, "Part of the reason why this hasn't already been col-lected is the cutbacks in pro-bation departments in this

I lead a very active lifestyle. After years of squinting at blurry waves and peering through fogged-up ski goggles, I finally decided to investigate radial keratotamy. I went in for a free evaluation and, after learning about the procedure, decided to go ahead with RK. It was one of the best decisions I ever made. Now I can see when I ski, surf, and climb... without glasses! Thanks for everything, Stofall Steven B. Falk, Asst. City Mgr.

I Don't Really Understand The Article

As an advertiser in the Hilicrest area. I have a real prob lem with the article in your Afraid of the Dark?" March 10). The headline gave the im-pression that Hillcrest was a bad area. Upon reading the article, I couldn't, first of all, article, I couldn't, first of all, understand it, and then when I read it the second fiture, it didn't appear like a bad area. So, I don't really understand the article, all I know is that you're taking my money to advertise an area and you're trashing that area — and you're not really trashing it, it's inst stupid, S. from now on, as an advertiser, I'm going to be an advertiser, I'm going to be approximate to the second of the second of the second policy. As long as the party lasts, however, I may as well try to enjoy's, and tomany as well try to enjoy's, and tomany as well try to enjoy's, and tomany as the state of the Dean Martin impression (unbustuned collar, untied tie) is right on the money, but much of the slang ("is the bunk," and so on), to say nothing of the story-tiling conventions and acting traditions, is unarguably anachronistic, but then gain, let have no confusion over the notion to the story-tiling to the confusion over the notion to the story of the sto objectivity. It's a moviemake's (and movegoe's) evinagining and crat-movegoe's) evinagining and crat-tal word again — from is own des-guarde period (just as it is distanced from its slightly earlier citemats mod-sly). It is distanced therefrom so as to be a superior of the state of the state of the treat, the perpeting which is rever-ted, the perpeting of the state of the American success story in all its trumpet-blaring glory and its rasp-berty-deserving abundly. It so at simple story, or better asy the Coera see not simple storystilen. 32 thought-out. She was clear about what she wanted, and described herself well.

Morgan: I received 108 responses. Andy was the 20th guy I met. After our first date I wasn't interested in meeting anvone else.

Anay: For our first date we mee at 10p of the Cove for dinner then went for a long walk at the Cove and talked. We ended the evening at the Marine Room with a glass of wine. She was gorgeous and we hit it off, so I figured we should set another date. San Diego Reader Phone Matches

Morgan: When I arrived at the Top of the Cove. Morgan: When I arrived at the 100 of in Cove.

I walked right past him, sitting alone at a table. I didn't think it was him because I didn't expect him to be so good-looking. He hadn't mentioned anything about his looks over the phone. Andy: One of the nice things about Phone Matches* is you know pretty much where each other stands and there's no game playing since the purpose is clear.

Morgan: We discovered we both have a lot in common like: fine dining, travel, and being entrepreneurs. We found we can even work together. I started doing the design work in Andy's custom aircraft interior business at Ramona Airport.

Andy: It worked out great. I discovered Morgan's is kills as an image consultant and designer fit right in with what I needed in my bismisses. Shortly after we met we traveled to Hawaii together where Morgan and I met with cleints and confirmed a major interior restoration project. Morgan handled the whole thing. I just showed up and enjoyed the scenery. Morgan's design work and presentation closed the deal.

Morgan: It's a lot of fun traveling together, mixing business with pleasure. We intend to do more of that in the future. We're thankful the Reader provided us with the most direct and enjoyable way to find the quality relationship we both wanted.

the diesel-electric ferry Coronado is seen Coronado with San Diego opened its lanes to in this 1968 photo snapped from the automobile traffic. bow of her sister ferry the Crown City. The two boats, along with three others (the San Diego, the Silver Strand, and the North Island) provided car and passenger ferry service from San Diego to the foot of Orange Avenue in Coronado. (Not to be confused with the "nickel snatchers" that ferried passengers from the mainland to North Island.) The auto ferries made their last transthat evening the new blue bridge connecting Commemorative certificates were given that day to the ferries' last passengers. Local legend has it that after 12 Coronado youngsters took the final boat from their home to the San Diego side, they were stranded. Six swam back across the bay, and the other six became the first hitchhikers to ride across the bridge. The Crown City now plies the waters of New York Harbor, while the Coronado reportedly ended bay passage on the night of August 2, 1968; up on the Amazon River in South America, running medical supplies into the rainforest.
