The aircrafter saw drama in the problems of a war worker's family and transposed it to paper in the recently published novel. New and on Earth.

Share of Troubles
"The things we live for always seem far off in the future," he commented today. "We are promised pie in the sky when we die or a brotherhood of man 20 years from now. What I wanted to depict was the struggle to settle our problems now on earth."

As head of a family with three children, Patricia, 10; Sharon, 6; and Michael, 4, Thompson has had his share of earth's troubles, not the least of which were circumstances surrounding the writing of his novel.

Among the most helpful of food historians' tools are etymological studies. The etymologist traces a word's history back to the word's earliest known use. From this initial use, the etymologist tracks the word's mutations in form and meaning, its the word's mutations in form and meaning, its shift from one language to another. These word histories help the food historian pursue origin and development of a trust regetable, spice, or preparation.

architect fella Wayne Donald-son and his construction crews did. By the time they had re-stored about 300 old buildings in San Diego, they could recog-nize the tool marks of several different unknown tradesimen who werked all over the Gaslamp. They called Fritz The Butcher' because he framed things any way he pleased. Hammered wood together fast as he could and worried about my details later. And Manny was a stomenason who cut a mighty sweet line, and pointed bricks like he was frosting a wedding cake. That man cared about his work.

Theard some of my friends down in Centre Gir East are getting the once-over. Bunch of preservationists might come in and turn some of them into affordable housing, Most of those places are pretty tough gents—toll-their-sleeves-up ware-houses, garages and factories without much breeding. Historic, though. That's the key.

And some of them have great eyes: big, beautiful metal sash windows that look out over the bay, like that Pioneer Ware-house which is now swarming with artists and everyone else who likes high ceilings, concrete floors, and walls about two-feet thick. floors thick.

Schongauer an other older contemporary of Dürer's and another of his artistic heroes (although, as with schief Italian model, Dürer never succeeded in meeting him), re-succeeded in meeting him), resucceeded in meeting him), re-mains in a style at a great remove from an artist like Man-tegna. Here, all is fantasy and the grotesque (Dürer remem-bered some of these demons in Knight, Death, and the Devil) bered some of these demons, in crigids, Dehr., and the Devlit., space is the Last thing on Schon-gue's mid-and in depicting, these figures he is governed by the gloven by wild imagination to the natural world. so far as to characterize this style as "cubistic." By that he means something quite different from the cubism of Picesso or Braque, where forms are fragmented into little planes, and the planes are related to each other in a thoroughly de-ratio-nalized space. On the contrary, while we encounter in Ditter's while we encounter in Ditter as the planes are the planes and the planes are the planes.

Of course, aside from the differences in style and tem perament, there is a considerable difference in subject between these two prints. We are dealing with two quite different Saints Anthony, who share nothing but their name and their faith. Dürer's conical saint cannot be any other than the 13th-century Saint Anthony of Padua, a Franciscan friar famous for his knowledge of the Bible (hence the book he is perusing in Durer's engraving) and for his preaching skills. Although Ulz's musical idols at the time were Little Richard, Jerry Lee Lewis, and folksinger Hoyt Axton, "A Let-ter to Hayley" was a scathing satire on the order of Stan Freberg. A poor sap writes a letter to his idol, proclaiming his love, only to receive a response say-ing, "That ain't enough! You gotta send 25 cents for an autographed picture, one dollar bill for a fan club card."

In the spring of '62, the Four Preps played an assembly at Ulz's high school, where they met his, Jim Hil-ton Six years later, Hilton would produce Iron Butterfly's

The point to be made about this scene is the point to be made about this scene is the point to be made about the entire movie it's techt-rattingly up and down. The long-drawn-out, refereze-frame credits sequence, to begin at the beginning, is immediately gripping and fall of portent, and the following bank robbery locks off the following bank robbery locks of the couple of bunded begg. But it deeply regret the pedantic shot of the Mexican children giggling gleefully at an pion, and the equally pedantic shot of two towheaded tykes clutching one another stiffly in the midst of the gun-fire, and I regret the cliched amplified heartbeat on the soundtrack just before all hell breaks loose, and the equally cliched slow-motion crash of horse and rider through a store win-dow, and I could have asked for dow, and I could have asked for somebody other than old Dub Taylor to be leading the Temperance Union rally and somebody other than goof-ball Bo Hopkins to be dispensing choral and chorcographic directions to the hostages in the bank. But that's the way it goes throughout. Up and down.

"While you were gone," she whispered, "all the waiters trotwhispered, all the waiters frot-ted over to see how I was doing. "Would the sehorita care for anything else?" 'How did sehorita find the lood? 'Would sehorita care for coffee?' The most handsome one said I should have the cheesecake for dessert. He said it's the very best."

Time passed. We were both dazed from our exertions. Our waiter drifted to our table with coffee, a large wedge of cheese-cake for Sophia, and a cream for our coffee, as Sophia noted, was the thick, slightly noted, was the thick, slightly golden cream that you used to find in America, way bock when the milkman would come slanking up to your porch to deposis bottles of milk by your door. The cheesecake was ev-erything Sophia's favoric waiter had promised. I had been a worried about the cheesecake: Mexican desserts, in my experience, had always been simple and, frankly, bland. But the Grand Bistro's execu tive chef, Rosendo Chavez. knew his way around a cheese cake. It was creamy, airy, slightly lemony, and rested on a not-too-sweet cakey crust. Sophia and I both agreed it was

After we paid for our embarrassingly inexpensive meal, our waiter returned to our table with a plate covered by a silver

The waiter smiled at Sophia.
"Look at it," he said.
She lifted the dome and found a single red rose.

"Ay. que lindo!" Sophia trilled. "Muchas gracias."

We decided to take a short walk to work off some of our meal. The traffic along Rev-olución was heavy. Tijuanenses oucion was neavy. Huanenses were coming out to start their long Friday night. It was dark, the sidewalk uneven. Suddenly, a car somewhere behind us backfired. Sophia leaped and stumbled. I helped her to her

JOHN NUNEZ Kearny Mesa

There was this guy I worked for a Couple years ago. His breath was really funks. His breath was like, real have to be customer-service ori-ented, and he just wasn't that was. He'd breathe in people's faces and scare the customers away, and when he'd be talking to you, he'd get right up in your face and open up real wide and yell, and the smell was wide and yell, and the smell was enough to make you want to throw up. We were always offering him minst and starff, but he wouldn't take them. He'd get mad if amone said anything, and he was the type who'd get this close and knock you over with his breath. We weren't selling enough, and it was all because of him. I'm a lot happuer where I'm at now.

Introducing Reader PHONE MATCHES; a great place to meet San Diego singles.

You are provided with a free personal matching ad in the Reader Classifieds. You also receive a free "voice mailbox"- a phone service that allows you to record and receive messages from any touch-tone phone.

HOW TO PLACE YOUR AD: To place a free Phone Matches" ad, fill out the coupon below and mail or fax it (233-7907) to us. (If faxing, please photocopy the coupon first and then fax it.) The deadline for receiving free Phone Matches" ads is Saturday at 7 am. No free ads will be accepted over the phone or in person. We'll send you a 5-digit mailbox number

(to be printed in your ad) and a 4-digit security code for exclusive access to your responses.

You may also place a late ad until 6 pm Tuesday by phone (235-8200), in our office (1703 India St. at Date St., downtown), or by fax (233-7907). The charge for these late ads is $20 for the first 25 words plus $1.20 per additional word. Ads placed by phone or by fax are with Visa, MasterCard or Discover only.

NOW YO USE YOUR VOICE MARRIEDE

After you receive your mailbox number and private security code, you can record your personal introduction and listen to your responses. Call 527-1966, 24 hours a day, and follow the easy instructions. You must have a touch-tone phone.

QUESTIONS? Call 235-8200, ext. 268.

I thought my father was God. He was chief of the volunteer fire department in Pline visit. He drove a Porsche and could always talk his way out of speeding tickets, I remember sitting on my Aunt Mary's wedding reception. I had been playing rag with some cousins on the vast front deck of my grandmother's house in Bay Park. I went through the house to the patio to bug my mom for some lemonade. When I rounded the corner to the pain. When I rounded the corner to the pain. But wenty fisher standing by the but. His eyes drouped and his face.
