attorney, disputes this con-tention as well as the other charges in Farmer's complaint. State funds are no longer used to pay the foundation's oper-ating costs, he says, "ever since the attorney general contacted the agency." He also insists that the squabble over alleged ac-counting improprieties "played no part" in the board's decision to fire Farmer. "The allegation that we made this determina-tion simply because he had complained to the attorney general's office is not true."

Goodwin says. "Up until the time that he retained counsel and his attorney wrote to us, demanding significant monetary dan ages, that was the first time we had learned that Farmer himself had any role or relationship with the attorney general's letter."

I know why he likes it, why he can stand such tedious work. Beyond the shapes and the colors, the patterns and the pictures, there is something about fusing three layers into one. It's almost impossible to remove quilting stitches, which sink into the fabric and must stitches, which sink into the fabric and must be pulled like tetch. Stippling is even more permanent since you can't tell which direction the thread leeds. Tight stitches will hold until the whole quilt is in shreds, until it has worn away to rags, which happens only if you sleep with the quilt, if you hold it next to you for years and years. Otherwise, protected from light and skin, quilts last for centuries, a history of patience.

Second song, "These Days," is by Jackson Browne alone, another classic, and the two opening songs and performances blend into each other emotionally and stylistically and in each other effortionally and stylistically and in narrative so that it's easy to confuse them with each other (the next three songs interweave with each other in a similar fashion, as do the odd pairing of "Somewhere There's a Feather" and "Wrap Your Troubles in Dreams" later in the album). Both "These Days" and "Fairest" are songs about time. I suddenly notice, and then I realize the same can be said, slightly less directly, about every song on the album, songs about time creating a mood of about time creating a mood of hypnotic timelessness, as if Dylan was uncannily aware of Nico's needs and powers in 1964 when he wrote, reportedly for and about her, the song he contributed to this record. Both staccato and legato are used liberally in the Cheisea Girl arrangements, but the staccate stuff seems to be the meat of the matter, th place where information is most directly communicated. In "These Days" a light legate municated. In "These Days" a light legate (remember, we'r also hearing all that rhythmia and melodic information from the guitar player accompanies and flavors the first few lines o each verse (until the repeated 'these days' section — clever to put the chorus in the middle of the versel), breaking sharply into staccato alongside the next couplet, the second line of which show maraness to be the How pairs of rhyming lines works like this: "These days I seem to think a lot/About the things that I forgot to do/And all the times I had the...chance to." The second ending of the middle line soars free ("to

"These Days," resonants with "Do! Did you understand any of that? Moreover, would you really want to understand any of that? It is much, understand any of that? It is much, much easier to waddle urgently under cover of night into an adult bookstore and slap your termbling pass around a copy of Babes in Bondage-Land or Go-Boys Mere Godelfall. the 1 is to cruise the 'Net for chosp thrills. In fact, must off-line life is accomplished more easily than is its virtual equivalent in observation.

Getting on the 'Net is a considerable investment of time and money. The investment is so great that folks are reluctant to speak frankly about the minor scope of their achievement once they ve finally managed to log on. After spending many hours mastering the nitpicky in and-outs of the Internet, few are and-outs of the Internet, few are willing to admit to friends and Iamily. "I don't know why I went to all this trouble. I'm sorry. I must have been out of my mind." Instead, people compensate for their confusion and disappointment with vague claims about all the "neat" information to which this however, for exempted which they have access. For example through the Internet, you can find out who's doing brain surgery this week at Mass General in Boston. Now, on some level, it's nice to know just who's doing

The Domino Showdown

vented the first game of dominoes about 600 or 700 years ago. It appeared in Italy, perhaps reinvented, per-haps borrowed, in the 18th Century, Prisoners, sailors, monks, and other stook it to the rest of Europe and the America. At the same time, far-flung cultures were inventing their own versions, Eskimos used game pieces made of walrus task. As widespread as the game is, the history of dominors is hazy, Even its name is a mystery, though it may derive from monks hoosed black winter. though, is the game's appeal to man's wily, strategic turn of

All sets of dominoes are based on a mathematical struc-ture and patterns of dots or blanks that lend themselves to number games and puzzles — magic squares, quadrilles, and domino strings, stacks, and pyramids with various mathe-variations of scoring and play. The Chinese cast for-tunes in solitaire versions called Dragon Tablets and Five Gateways; among their competitive games were Little Tens, Tortoise Tablets, Opening the Pagoda, Tablets, Opening the Pagoda, and Turning Heavens and Nines. Americans nowadays play versions called Sniff, Mug-gins, 42, Matador, Sebastopol, Five Up, Seven-toed Pete, Moon, Spinner, and Chicken-matical characteristics. Euro-pean game strategists in the 19th Century wrote endless monographs on the possibil-ities of domino patterns. Even the simplest front-porch game of dominoes is a mixture of luck and strategy not unlike bridge, requiring counting, calculating, and a sharp memory.

But in truth, there really isn't a single game called dominoes. With the 28 (or more) dotted tiles, people have invented hundreds of ing like Texas and the South-east, there are statewide annual tournaments for prizes, tro-phies, and bragging rights — bragging rights being a big part of the American front-porch version. It was just such mem-ories that inspired transplanted San Diegan William Epps and Big Sig Promotions to put to-gether this weekend s' "Dontino Showdown' in El Calor." When I get together with my friends, they're always talking about, well. I'm the bent, and all that. We finally went out and bought a little trophy, and who-ever won it would put their name on it. We used to play it on the weekends, and it got to be a social thing for the whole neighborhood. We'd parry and barbecue and play dominores. This is the first of what lepto topes will be an annual bord of bocit events, and eventually

The two-day tour-nament will feature the standard draw-style of play, with double-six, 28-piece domino sets, best three domino sets, best three out of five games to 200 points per game. Food and drinks will be available, and a dee-jay will spin mostly jazz and old school tunes. Competitors must be 18 or older All entrants, says Epps must be 18 or older. All entrants, says Epps, are given the rank of Dominologist, if you win it all, you're the Grand Master Dominologist. You also get $500 in prize money, with $300 for second place, $200 for third, $100 for fourth, and homeone rights. bragging rights.

My friend wanted me to name some Velvet Underground songs, so I gave him 'Rock and Roll,' 'Sweet lane.. and 'Heroni.' 'His response was pithy. 'If those are such great songs, how come you don't hear them on the radio'.'

I was at a loss for words. Maybe you don't sear "Heroin" because it's a drug song, but that wouldn't explain why you hear Clapton's "Co-aine" every 15 minutes on classic rock radio. I old my friend I heard "Sweet Jane" on SIX, but what any would — he panicked. He decided to edit out the of-fensive lyrics. If you've never edited, you'd be surprised how easy it is and how cleanly you can do it. You can cut out an entire section and it worh be noticed. Unless of course, you're singing along and suddenly realize some-thing's worms. So we played the ating and suddenty realize some-thing's wrong. So we played the edited song, the phones lit up with people complaining, want-ing to hear it unedited. Eventually we went back to playing it in its entirety, figuring if the PCC fined us, they would have to take action on hundreds of stations.

it was the Cowboy Junkies' cover, not the original.

My friend seemed interested in what I was saying about Vevel Underground and asked me more about them, I told him they reminded me of the Doors. They both started around 1967, but instead of celebrating the Sunner of Low, Doors and VU Songs were dark. Also like the Doors, VU had a "Nhorrison."

"Van Morrison." my friend on hundreds of stations.
But, to get back to my friend's question, "Why aren't certain songs played on the radio?" It's very strange, really. Why play
"Layla" every hour, when Eric Clapton recorded hundreds of great songs (except for the acous-tic version of "Layla")? Radio to version of Layla J. Radio consultants and program direc-tors feel that if a listener isn't familiar with a song, they'll go to a station that is playing some-thing they know. The furny thing is, whenever I was on the air, if I is, whenever i was on the air, if I played a song that wasn't on the playlist, I would get great re-sponse. Once I was scheduled to play the Who's "Who Are You?" but I went with "Sister Disco." The Who fans called up and said, I worked at a rock station for five years, so my friend assumed if have all the answers. The first thing that came to mind sus an incident that occurred when we played "Valk on the Wild Side." A lady called up and complained because of the line. "She never seems to lose her head, even when she's giving head..." She went our about having kids that heard it, and she'd report us to the FCC, etc. So our program director did

"Cool!" Another called and said, "The keyboards are great. Who is that?" I told him Rod Argent and the Who. Everybody's happy.

Reader PHONE MATCHES: a great place to meet San Diego singles.

You are provided with a free personal matching ad in the Reader Classifieds. You also receive a free "voice mailbox"- a phone service that allows you to record and receive messages from any touch-tone phone.

HOW TO PLACE YOUR AD: To place a free Phone Matches" ad, fill out the coupon below and mail or fax it (233-7907) to us. (If faxing, please photocopy the coupon first and then fax it.) The deadline for receiving free Phone Matches" ads is Saturday at 7 am. No free ads will be accepted over the phone or in person. We'll send you a 5-digit mailbox number

(to be printed in your ad) and a 4-digit security code for exclusive access to your responses.

You may also place a late ad until 6 pm Tuesday by phone (235-8200), in our office (1703 India St. at Date St., downtown), or by fax (233-7907). The charge for these late ads is $20 for the first 25 words plus $1.20 per additional word. Ads placed by phone or by fax are with Visa, MasterCard or Discover only.

HOW TO USE YOUR VOICE MAILBOX:

After you receive your mailbox number and private security code, you can record your personal introduction and listen to your responses. Call 527-1966, 24 hours a day, and follow the easy instructions. You must have a touch-tone phone.

QUESTIONS? Call 235-8200, ext. 268.

MRET YOUR MATCH! Use the form below to place your FREE, 3-week Phone Matches" Ad and get your FREE Voice Mailbox.

TO PURCHASE AN OPTIONAL SEADLING, use the lines below, keeping in mind the following: 20 characters per line including spaces; the first initial of each word is capitalized; abbreviations and unusual punctuation will not be accepted; the cost of each line is $12. Commue on a separate sheet if necessary, no more than 10 lines. Please print clearly.

PRINT CLEAPER First 25 words are FREE, $1.20/additional word. Continue on a separate sheet if necessary.

Phone Matches Success Stories:

Paula and Lyle McCapes

LONELY GUY, white, 34, 6', 240 lbs., Aries, likes rugged Jeep, four-wheeling, camping, movies, 91X, sci-fi. Seeking pretty, full-figured, sincere woman of similar likes for relationship. ******

Lyle: I gave up on women ten years ago, after a bad experience with a relationship. I said to myself. "That's it. No more. Who needs them?" But then I got lonely and started looking at women again. I though it would be nice to have someone to go camping or four-wheeling with.

Paula: At first, I was using Phone Matches" to find racquetball partners. But then I ran across Lyle's ad and thought, "Wow, here's a guy who doesn't think he's perfect. He sounds very honest."

Lyle: I worked on my ad for several days, to get it worded just right. I wanted mine to sound real.

Paula: A friend convinced me to call and leave a message I was terrified. I just said, "My name is Paula and here's my phone number."

Lyle: I received nine responses and dated five ladies, in the exact order that the calls came in. The last two were Paula and an 18-year-old.

Paula: He called me from work, while he was on a break. We talked for almost two and a half hours. We spoke every night after that, for about a week, before we met. He came over after work one night.

in his grubby clothes, riding his motorcycle. When he flicked up his face shield and I saw his eyes, I said, "Hey, I like this guy."

Lyle: I was attracted to Paula's smile. And she had the loveliest dark skin I had ever seen. I really didn't know she was black until she told me

Paula: I had to go away the next day to visit my mother in Viiginia. I returned to San Diego aweek later and there were 15 messages on my answering machine. Most of them were from Lyle, using different voices. He did Peter Lorre, Yosemite Sam, Mr. T...

Lyle: After the first time we kissed, it was etched in stone. I stopped dating the other women. I guess I'm not a man of the '90s. I believe in "one guy, one girl."

Paula: We met in October of 1991 and were married the following September. The ceremony was in Petersburg, Virginia, in the old City Hall that served as a headquarters for the Confederate

Lyle: It's been two years since we got married but it feels like a lifetime. I guess that's because I didn't really start life until I met Paula.

Paula: People are always in such a hurry, trying to pack so many things into one day. I'm almost 35 years old and I raced through my twenties. It wasn't until after we were married that I became infatuated with Lyle. I still get butterflies when I see him.

Coronado Tent City, on August 23, 1905. Also known as "Camp Coronado," the tent city was established in 1900 and stretched along the beach south of the Hotel Del. The summer campground thrived during its heyday, with its myriad tents, bathhouse, open saltwater "plunge" and food concessions attracting visitors from around the country. contained little city, complete with toilets, electrical hookups, and its own "newspaper": the

from a selection of fully-furnished white or red and-white striped tents, which rented for $4.50 per week. (The more adventurous could stay in palm-frond-thatched cottages adjacent to the tents.) Each corner of tent city's Main Street contained an ice-filled barrel through which a water pipe and spigot ran. Residents enjoyed summer band concerts, water sports, Sunday The tent city was virtually just that — a self- church services, and the above-referenced "bullfights."

• Just when San Diego city officials thought they had control of the rabies outbreak, a new case has been confirmed. And yet another resident is having to undergo rabiles obsto. City administrator lose H. Immere aid on Monday that another dog had been confirmed to be rabid and that a 12-year-old girl had been bitten. The child is the seventh local resident to undergo shots.

The San Diego City Council voted on Thursday to turn on the water at the cemetery for longer periods of time. The action came after several residents requested longer hours during the approaching summer months.

By Alfredo Cardenas

• Duval County commissioners approved to "go ahead" with the permitting of a type IV landfill. The action came on Monday, when commissioners olayed 5800 for a kingswife firm to apply for an "and exemption" on behalf of the county, which closed all its landfills two years ago as a result of added costs brought about by new federal environmental regulations.
