the surprise of many is not a bad thing. Yet, in this feelgood era of "all things are forcibly equal," many find it hard to deal with a film critic who withholds a fantastical rating for films he feels are not fantastic. Believe it or not. Mr. Erik J. Rose, your opinion is not as important to me as Mr. Shepherd's. I do not care if you liked Toy Story and hated Twister, for you failed to mention your credentials and what credentials you have to qualify your opinion. Mr. Shepherd is never reluctant to give a film. never reductant to give a film which other critics love and is a blockbuster hit one of his fabulous dots.

It's benefiting big operations; and I'm not saying corpora-

Big, big farms. Because of the volume that they do, the price support is okay — they are still going to make plenty of money. You see, I'm just using rice farming because that comests my forefront; but in rice farming there is a minimum. You have what you call the Commodity Credit Corporation that is a federal program that pays the farmers. Some Ermers they pay not to produce, but they also have a $50,000 limitation pay not reproduce, our taby also make a $50,000 to each farmer, unless you have a partner. Let's up is a farmer — if you're a rice farmer, you get a $50 ment from the government for producing rice have a partner, you get $100,000. So you've got farmers in Sacramento Valley, they make a partner get you got $100,000. They may have $100,000. ecs. And every one of them gets a $50,000 payme. to the farm. So you have guys up there that have and for each partner they get $59,000. That's the they're in the rice business, because they've learner

There are always people who will find the loopholes in the system and learn to take advantage of something that was designed to help farmers. But now people have found ways to get around it, and the most honest people are the ones who are getting hurt.

It's clear that Pete Verboom has some opinions on the sub-ject. I asked him if he considered himself an activist in this business. He said, "Very much so, because believe that what happens to one small farmer or one individual is going to affect everybody."

I am teaching at a private school. Like many such, it has taken over a large both grounds and the school of the sc nuis, with plaster walls are cilings, fireplaces inverywhere, and elaborate cainscoting in every hall not stairway...in other cords, mouse heaven. Here, I have a small partment cut out of two urge bedrooms. One vening late, lying in bed rading, I hear a rustling noise and then a clink. I turn my head to see a mouse departing from my dog's bowl of dry kibble, clutching a chunk of it the size of a hazelmut and heading for the large steam radiator, behind which, apparently, it has a hole.

The strange thing is that my dog — a large Siberian husky — is biving right beside the bood. His cress follow the mouse to its blow and then, a few seconds later, pender its later, pender its later, pender its later, pender its right past his nose, climbs into the book, helps itself to another prece of the few seconds in from its later.

THE BEST PARTY IN SAN DIEGO. (WITH ALL DUE RESPECT TO THE REPUBLICANS.)

FRIDAY, JULY 26, FIRST RACE 4 PM What makes Friday at Del Mar more fun than that other American institution? First of all, at Del Mar, there are eight chances to win. And we have our convention after the races. It all starts with a special 4pm post time. Then after you've enjoyed the late afternoon Thoroughbred racing, the action moves to the Grandstand Plaza de Mexico. There, you can join Republicans and Democrats alike in a celebration featuring food.

drinks, live entertainment and more. This Friday 101KGB-FM brings you San Diego's premier '60s band, Rockola. Gates open at 2pm and the fun keeps going until well after sunset.
