For the moment, we'll ignore smell and "mouth feel," which also differ food preferences. Genetics do play some role, in that people are how mith varying abilities to smell and taste. And they influence the chemical makeup of salivo and the structure of taste bads. Saliva disosolves food and distributes the solution into little reservoirs in our ortragge bumps into which our 10,000 or so taste buds are crammed. Chemical reactions between the solution and certain taste bud cells is what tellow, "Mammun, croma abservar & in mergue influence" or "Vikest Oktat".

All newborns react strongly to taste: they instinctively love tower and didlike bitter and sour. This is probably left over from our fruit eating bunter gatherer days, when we'd see insects, and amphibiant sperially have a bitter taste, and we'd spit them out. Taste buds for bitter flavors are at the backs of our tongues and are linked to our gag reflexes, a handy setup for ommivene file ou.

Serving first as a patrolman and now as a detective, Crosby's front-line experience offers clues as to why so many young black men find themselves involved with the criminal justice system. (Estimates go as high as one out of every three between the ages of 18 and 35.)

"Lack of direction," he says, simply. These young men come into that critical age of adolescence where, historically, the age of adotescence where, historically, the father kicks in andengage more fully in the child's upbringing. Today, I picked up my copy of the Reader and turned first, as I always do, to Anne Albright's "Kid Stuff" column. It was only later, after reading the featurarticle, "Straight from the Hip," and some of the want ads, that I stumbled upon Kelly Danek's vicious attack of "Kid Stuff" (Letters, August 22). At the risk of branding myself as a mem-ber of the "misery loves com-pany" or "get a life" sectors, I have to say that I thoroughly enjoy Albright's column every eek. She does an accurate job of portraying all the aspects of parenting, the joys and the sorrows. As the mother of two young children. I understand (as Danek obviously does not) that the shit and the vomit are the price one pays for the hundreds of little joys children bring to life. Like the first time your baby smiles at you. Or hearing your toddler say, "That's my mommy. Parenthearing your toddler say. "That's my mommy. Parent ing is an all-consuming, diffi-cult, and rewarding task, and those of us doing it need all the encouragement we can get. If Danek can't comprehend that, then I suggest she skip "Kid Stuff' each week. I, for one, will continue to read it first.

Right? Wrong!

After reading another comment in your letters section regarding Country Dick Montana, I get the feeling like he may be elevated to sainthood, or Mayor Golding might want to consider a proclamation on his behalf.

The August 8 letter from Candye Kane was just one more nice effort of another local vokel to use the opport nity to exploit their own name You see, Ms. Kane is a profe sional here in San Diego when it comes to the practice of sell exploitation, so when she says that Buddy Blue is exploitin Country Dick Montana's death, then it must be true, right? Wrong! Candye Kane is way off the mark with her statement that the memorial Buddy Blue wrote to Country Dick exploited his death. He said some things that offended some people, and that goes with the territory. But what's the big deal with writing an ar-ticle that deals frankly with the facts that Country Dick Mon-tana used drugs and alcohol? Since when was that a big se-cret? Listen to the words of the

On the other hand, I am dismyed that you, the Ready's editor, would even consider printing such vicious, totally untrue, biased, and unresearched journalistic rubbabl in the first glace.

I strongly believe that had Abe done his bomework, he montener. Smirks and criticisms are acceptable as expressions of a person's opinion on the property of the pr

The Reader deserves much credit for publishing so many of the letters it receives, for not of the letters it receives, for not being afraid of negative feed-back, and for being willing to print such lengthy letters as the excellent one by Lee Zion. Readers rarely have a decent opportunity to talk back in pa-pers like the Los Angeles Times and the San Diego Union-Tri-bune — and it's probably the same in Boston.

That's really a hell of an attitude for a movie critic to have. "We're not worth it"? Why not? Presumably because movies aren't worth much to begin with, and, therefore ovie critics are worth even I don't know about "Boston

Perhaps the pitfalls of the rapid technolization we are now experiencing may one day lead us to what this movie lead us to what this movie shows our future to be. Snake's actions are actually antithetical to evil — he seeks to rid the mad world of the scourge of technology gone astray only to disappear into the sunset. Sure, the movie is campy and some of the action scenes are far-fetched, but the ending was far-fetched, but the ending was thought provoking and not at all as simplistic as it appears. fool of yourser on me dance floor? Most dance-studio personnel called laughed when I told them! I wanted a macarena lesson, many don't teach it. I got put on hold by Diamond Dance Club on West Morena Boulevard while they fielded my unique request. It was unclear who knew the dance well enough to teach it, and no one was sure how much to charge for lessons. "You can come in for a complimentary private lesson initially." the man on the phone said. "And we'll assess your abilities. After that it'll be $50 a lesson. It shouldn't take more than two or three classes, depending on your level." A hundred and fifty dollars to learn a Latin line dance? I wouldn't pay $150 to learn Swan Lake.

"The macarena is already played out in Mexico," said loey, a dance instructor at Arthur Murray on upper Fifth Avenue in Hillcrest. Glen Loyelace, the local ranchisee, said Arthur as part of a package deal when students sign up to learn other dances such as the fox trot or samba. For $25 you get two private lessons, one group class, and a practice session with other students (more like a party than a class). Glen estimated he could teach me the Why didn't I swing by on my asked him where the macarena originated. "Two years ago we were in Cancún, and there was a big group from Brazil who did it. The Brazilians kind of moved it across the floor." (The dance, as it's done in dance clubs, is pivotal; in the last beat of the dance, you pivot a quarter purn.)

Tadmitted to Glen that I'd had a hard time finding a studio willing to teach the dance. From across the room, Joey-the-instructor chimed in, "Did they tell you why? Even the deejays are teaching it. I got paid to teach it at a party."

The Junkies were "flavor of the month" in 1988, and their spooky and slow, white take on country and blues idioms captivated critics if nobody else. At the time, it was easy measured detachment and seemingly calcu-lated bluesy chic, but it has subsequently proved its mettle with albums like Black Eyed Man and The Caution Horses. The latter contains the band's best song to date, "Sun Comes Up, it's Tuesday Morning," a convincing rumination on why abused women stay with their spouses. On record, the Cowboy Junkies can't help but give the impression that its arty, hushed music is involable: live, the band exudes a much more mellow vibe. Bar

Girls Town. "If it was a movie, we'd have shot fifty people by now," trum-pets one of the all-girl quartet of high-school seniors, soon reduced by suicide to a trio. "No, this ain't no movie." Agreed, although the thunk-ker-thunk-thunk-ker-thunk-thunk in the background sounds a lot like any and every youth movie, and the two revenges against two separate rapists diverge from Hollywood convention inly in their low degree of severity wait for the other shoe to drop, and wait, and wait. Basically (in the appropriate parlance), it's just, ya know, like, basically, a coupla three girls hagin an 'chillin' an' messin' aroun' an' dissin' an' bullshittin' an' shit-likethat. The self-evident method, under the hands-off and arm's-length direction of Jim McKay, is of course direction of Jim McKay, is of course "improvisational," and the familiar result is a rapid and deep bore. No fault of Lili Taylor, the manufacturer of the brassiest of the New York ac-cents. As ever, the completeness with which she zippers herself inside a role is most impressive, though it ought to be noted that her days of portraying adolescents are numbered. Already the number is in the negative. Forfire. Another all-girl quartet of high school periors, this one expanded

Post-Convention Gossip: The happiest restaurateur in town is Paul Dobson. Without fail, Norman Mailer arrived at Dobson's daily, Mailer drank iced tea (he was working), and he and Dobson talked about bullfighting, prize-fighting, and marriages. Peter Jennings, Sam Donaldson, Cokie Roberts, and David Brink-ley ate lunch there. Dobson hired a string quartet

o play classical music for the occasion.

Tom Brokaw and the New York Times staff dined at George's at the Cove, as did Rupert Murdoch and his large party. So did President and Mrs. Gerald Ford and their family. Ted Koppel ate three types of pasta at Panevino Trattoria Mamma Anna had a five-day stand ing order for 50 members of the New York contingent, including Governor Pataki and Sen-ator D'Amato. Henry Kissinger ate halibut at the Marine Room. Peter Jennings had reserve tions at the Marine Room, George's at the Cove. Dobson's, Grant Grill, and Mille Fleurs, but he often had to cancel. I called dozens of restaurants trying to find out if they had served any women senators, members of the media, movers and shakers. I never discovered where Katie Couric, Gwen Ifill, or any women senators dined. Are we still women-blind in San Diego?

A hot of the people coming across the hot dee, a bot of them don't speak English, and it's hard for us to understand what they are saying so it causes confusion. I think they are taking a lot of jobs. They come here because they are not gritting the money they they are not getting the money they should be getting in their own coun-try. It's kind of sad because they are getting the bad end of the deal. I do believe in legal immigration. If it's legal, it's one thing, but if they're over here just trying to get work, their own country should be help-ing them instead of us helping them.

an Diego Reader Phone Matches singles.

Introducing Reader PHONE MATCHES: a great place to meet San Diego

You are provided with a free personal matching ad in the Reader Classifieds. You also receive a free "voice mailbox"- a phone service that allows you to record and receive messages from any touch-tone phone.

HOW TO PLACE YOUR AD: To place a free Phone Matches" ad, fill out the coupon below and mail or fax it (233-7907) to us. (If faxing, please photocopy the coupon first and then fax it.) The deadline for receiving free Phone Matches" ads is Saturday at 7 am. No free ads will be accepted over the phone or in person. We'll send you a 5-digit mailbox number

(to be printed in your ad) and a 4-digit security code for exclusive access to your responses.

You may also place a late ad until 6 pm Tuesday by phone (235-8200), in our office (1703 India St. at Date St., downtown), or by fax (233-7907). The charge for these late ads is $20 for the first 25 words plus $1.20 per additional word. Ads placed by phone or by fax are with Visa, MasterCard or Discover only.

HOW TO USE YOUR VOICE MAILBOX:

After you receive your mailbox number and private security code, you can record your personal introduction and listen to your responses. Call 527-1966, 24 hours a day, and follow the easy instructions. You must have a touch-tone phone.

QUESTIONS? Call 235-8200, ext. 268.
