The first curious thing about commuting by car is that in some ways it is the exact opposite of travel in general. When we travel we do so with our eyes and ears open, asking questions, going out of our way to meet people. reading up on history and geology and architecture, drinking in our surroundings, constantly alive to new perspectives and possibilities. When we commute we just want to get there. Anything that happens is probably a nuisance. The best we can hope for is a doublenegative: that nothing goes wrong. That nothing holds us up. It's an experience without experience.

The second curious thing about commuting by car is how much we take it for granted. We don't even notice the first curious thing. (cont'd on page 14)

This sounds like a dumb question until somebody tries to explain it and finds out it isn't so simple. Why do we perceive an image in a mirror as reversed horizontally, but not inverted vertically?

Dang, Mr. Williams, I'll try my best to make this complicated, but I'm not sure can. Light waves travel in a straight line. I could stop right there, since that's the explanation, but I'er years on. Say your fee fairing a mirror and wearing a packpie hat, high ploppy clown shows, with an orchid corrage on your left wrist, and you're writing a bad novel with a pen in your right hand. Then you have a friend the astring to each of those features and pull each arting ratingal haded (as he light waves travel) and tape it down where it meets the mirror. The hat string is stock to the top of the mirror, the shoe string to the bottom, the corage on the left side, and the pen on the right. But if you imagine that man in the mirror to be some darried handsome stranger looking back at you through a window, you see that he look remandably finaling, but he is the handed. The left to right reversal stually take pike (in your markably milling) had be it will be reverse top and battom.

Stay Clear — of products with lots of "winky blinkies" (useless flashing lights and 'features). These are buttons seldom used or features you forgot what they were for. These items were not given to you out of the goodness of the manufacturer's heart. They made a VALIE decision — give up sound performance for 'helis and whistles' that hopefully look like a lot for the money. REMEMBER — "LESS is almost always BETTER" when it comes to electronics (less "crapola").

Listen For — open, spacious, beautiful-sounding electronics. Brands like NAKAMICH, desired for decades by serious consumers. Using the finest internal components and sound engineering, NAKAMICHI offers electronics head-and-shoulders above its competition, while maintaining fair pricing.

No Compromises - NAKAMICHI uses discrete circuitry everywhere possible to insure the best performance. Most receivers use cheap ICs (integrated circuits) instead. The result is very noticeable with muddy, noisy, boring sound. NAKAMICHI sounds better.

Big Bargain — NAKAMICHI's normal pricing is truly a bargain. Every so often, the lactory will receive back a unit that might have a small cosmetic flaw, something wasn't quite perfect right out of the box. NAKAMICHI thoroughly checks out each unit, returning it to brandnew specifications, if necessary. When they gather enough of these units, they ofter a select few dealers a rare opportunity to purchase them at significant discounts. We in turn can pass on the savings to our customers. These B' units carry a one-year parts and labor warranty.

The Freeway Is Nobody's Home

It's 6.43 am. I had a few beers last night, stayed up talking to friends until after midnight, and it's all I can do to drag myself out of bed. Wy back hurs. The shower is cold, I wish I'd never chosen this stupid assignment. I've reached the emotional core of the commuting experience: resentment.

rience: resentment.
Resentment, I suspect, has some very interesting and important effects on the way we behave while we commute, on that kind of screw-you competitiveness that can easily escalate into freeway violence. If we resent our jobs or the fact that we have to be getting up to carry and urring under soft contenting to the shear of by thinking. Hell. I didn't want to be here anyway." We can play a kind of moral shell game, hiding the responsibility for our actions under someone else's thimble.

Amy McKibben lives in Encinitas and works in ad sales in downtown San Diego. She could probably take the Coaster in from Del Mar, but she needs her card all Gay. Ad salespeople and realitors will probably be the last to give up their cars, as the car as image is almost as important as the car as trasport. In Amy, scot the vehicle is a nevelsh white ley'd betoken, very smart. She piaks me up in Leucadas, and we head toward loss.

America is now linked by about 4 million miles of highway and streets, about 40 yards per car. The amount of travel by car is increasing 10 to 15 percent a year, significantly faster than the growth in pop whether cycling to work is worth-while but whether it's feasible. Can all of us leave our cars at home and cycle, irrespective of age or distance, in the name of exercise and the benefit of the planet? I am vulnerable to exquisitely painful back spasms that take weeks to heal; the last bout struck after riding my bike. Will I survive even the 4½ miles?

ne steed of the Yellow Cab Company Stable, circa 1921. In those days, Yellow Cab boasted a fleet of "Shaw" motorcars like the one pictured above. Not a particularly noteworthy make of auto, the hand-cranked Shaw enjoyed a short-lived career: after starting up in 1921, it was out of business by 1925.

The early Yellow Cabs were a far cry from today's radio-equipped models. Sans radios, they cruised San Diego's streets, looking for fares. The rear windows of the cab rolled up and down for the comfort of the passengers; compare that feature with the open driver's compartment. On the rare occasion of a San Diego rainfall, Yellow Cab hacks donned full-length rain slickers.

Introducing Reader PHONE MATCHES" a great place to meet San Diego

You are provided with a free personal matching ad in the Reader Classifieds. You also receive a free voice mailbox"— a phone service that allows you to record and receive messages from any touch-tone phone.

HOW TO PLACE YOUR AD: To place a free Phone Matches" ad, fill out the coupon below and mail or fax it (233-7907) to us. (If faxing, please photocopy the coupon first and then fax it.) The deadline for receiving free Phone Matches" ads is Saturday at 7 am. No free ads will be accepted over the phone or in person. We'll send you a 5-digit mailbox number

(to be printed in your ad) and a 4-digit security code for exclusive access to your responses.

You may also place a late ad until 6 pm Tuesday by phone (235-8200), in our office (1703 India St. at Date St., downtown), or by fax (233-7907). The charge for these late ads is $20 for the first 25 words plus $1.20 per additional word. Ads placed by phone or by fax are with Visa, MasterCard or Discover only.

HOW TO USE YOUR VOICE MAILBOX:

After you receive your mailbox number and private security code, you can record your personal introduction and listen to your responses. Call 527-1966, 24 hours a day, and follow the easy instructions. You must have a touch-tone phone.

QUESTIONS? Call 235-8200, ext. 268.
