Non-Surgical Vision Correction FOR NEARSIGHTEDNESS

There is now a non-surgical treatment for long-lasting correction of earsightedness (myopia) and astigmatism that is quick, less costly, and

This vision-correcting procedure was first utilized as a method of mproving vision in the early '60s but now vision can often be restored with an accelerated program, in a matter of weeks.

Orthokeratology is designed to quickly reduce the patient's myopic condition and to improve vision with a succession of specially fitted therapeutic contact lenses which gently reshape the curvature of the cornea.

Advanced techniques and new technology in specialized contact lenses have revolutionized eve care in the field of vision restoration.

Special stabilizing contact lenses are also available to prevent or retard the gradual increase of nearsightedness.

Dr. Michael Satterlee is highly qualified in this procedure, and holds a fellowship certificate from the International Orthokeratology section of the National Eye Research Foundation, with over 25 years of orthokeratology experience. His practice is devoted to contact lenses and corrective vision care.

But Dragna was of the old school where only Italian ran things, and certainly not Jews like Benny with his East-ern ways. But that didn't bother Benny none. 'Fuck Dragna' wa his attitude, and he did." Pete Hamill, in a February

1992 article in Playboy, explained Siegel's move to the West Coast

Siegd's move to the West Coast this way:

"Siegel went west in 1936.
The reasons were complicated.
Tom Deewy was now special prosecutor in New York (later district attorney). Urged on by New Yorks flamboyant mayor. Fiorello H. La Guardia, he was directing the toughest investi-gation of organized crime in the city's history. The heat, as they said, was on. Siegel warnelfo jed said, was on. Siegel warnelfo jed. said, was on. Siegel wanted to get out of the way.

"Another reason was eco-nomic. The city was bogged down in the Great Depression, and even the racket guys were beginning to feel the pinch. Of all the old bootleggers, only Siegel seemed to be without his own fieldom. He couldn't shoot his way into personal power in New York; he didn't have the manpower and, besides, these were his friends. So when Dewey applied the big heat, Siegel — pos-sibly at Lansky's suggestion — went to California. In 1936, that state was not the economic powwas provincial, underpopulated solated from the mainstream He had a piece of a gambling ship called The Rex and of the racetrack at Agua Caliente, across the border from San Diego in Mexico. He had established him-self as the Mob superior to Jack Dragna, the old boss of the L.A.

Crime figures began to realize that San Diego would "be a very lucrative area."

"Getting back to 'organized crime,' as we call it," Mr.
Willis explained, "everything that was done here in San Diego in the early years was done on an individual basis. That wa not true back East and up north Pete Licavoli, with whom Ton Rainbow Gardens was friendly, was part of the old Purple Gang from Detroit. The Purple Gang was created before World War I, about 1910, by Land War I, was created before World War I, about 1910, by Jewish Juds in Detroit, the Bernstein brothers, Benny and Joe. They had a gang of 10 to 15 tough guys, and they all wore purple shirts. World War I came along, most of the guys entered the war and then they came back to Detroit. And boy. Prohibition's coming in, and there they were in Detroit and they came back to Detroit and boy. Let's cross the straits there at lake St. Claire and we got it made! They started smuggling Canadian booze. And they orga-nized it. Boy, they were good.

Sheepshearing in the South Bay, circa 1903.

Shearers, traveling from ranch to ranch in the South Bay throughout the spring shearing ticularly the lands of the Otay and Nacion season. The sheep here's themselves were grazed season. The sheep herds themselves were grazed on thousands of acres of ranchland atop the Otay Mesa during the wintertime; after the springtime shearing, the sheep were driven up to summer pastures in the Cuyamacas.
