Like many other small pub-lishers, Curtiss has had to wres-tle with the problem of how to get her books distributed. She got burned law year when Atrium, a Santa Ross—based book dis-tributor, collapsed. Atrium had about 3000 copies of her books, which she was able to recover, but they also owed her about $20,000 for books already sold. And she hasn't seen that money. She's one of a group of ten small publishers, owed a total of about $250,000, that has forced Artium into involuntary bankruptcy.

Non-Surgical Vision Correction FOR NEARSIGHTEDNESS

There is now a non-surgical treatment for long-lasting correction of nearsightedness (myopia) and astignatism that is quick, less costly, and without risk.

This vision-correcting procedure was first utilized as a method of improving vision in the early '60s but now vision can often be restored with an accelerated program, in a matter of weeks.

Orthokeratology is designed to quickly reduce the patient's mysple condition and to improve vision with a succession of specially lifted therapeutic contact lenses which gently reshape the curvature of the cornor. Advanced techniques and new technology in specialized contact lenses have revolutionate ever care in the field of vision restoration.

Special stabilizing contact lenses are also available to prevent or retard the gradual increase of near-sightedness.

Dr. Michael Satterlee is highly qualified in this procedure, and holds a lellowship certificate from the International Orthokeratology section of the National Eye Research Foundation, with over 25 years of orthokeratology experience. His practice is devoted to contact lenses

TWO POEMS BY NANCY WILLARD

The Wisdom of the Grese

As they waddle through tall grass they drop feathers, quaint clues, like the arch humor of ferns. Something wakes the pond, wrinkling it.

The Wisdom of the Jellyfish

The moon sheds its skin, knitting halos and casting them off.
On the beach, how they shine and pulse and glisten like the fontanels of the newborn. What is it to be a lens focused on the feathery star of your own life, threworks trapped in a bruised sky? As you shrink to a coin minted in face, you dry to a chalky spill. The sea smoothes things over. Look inward, says the jellyfish.

I am all eyes, God-sighted.
I peacock the land. When I died,
I showed you the whole galaxy.

Selected Poems

Nancy Willard grew up in Ann Arbor, Michigan, and was educated at University. She teaches in the Fingah department at Vasue College. She is also author of ten previous volumes of poetry, two novels, short stories, and essays.

now and then Ali would lash back with a punch or two of his own, not enough to do any damage, only enough to en-rage his opponent, egg him on. And round after round the strength drained out of Foreman, until, unsteady on his feet, he could hardly lift his arms to throw another punch. Or lift his arms, if and when it came to that, to defend himself. And it began to be-come increasingly apparent how the fight must ultimately turn out. I went lome that night with new knowledge of how little I knew. Ali, just as if he had planned it all all ang, just as if he had been positive it would actually

Company employees displaying an honorary flag awarded to companies who participated in a national payroll deduction plan for war bonds. Founder Howard "Skippy" Smith (second from left, back row) established what is believed to be the nation's earliest known black-owned and managed wartime factory. Born in Birmingham, Alabama, in 1913, BOTH IN DITHINGHAM, Alabama, In 1913, Smith left the Depression-ravaged South for the West in the 1930s, where he enjoyed a stint at parachuting for barnstorming shows and eventually became the first black supervisor of San Diego's Standard Parachute Company.

Smith eventually succeeded in creating his own parachute company, securing an initial $3000 investment from African American radio star Eddie "Rochester" Anderson and acquiring some of Standard Co.'s manufacturing work. Pacific Parachute Company opened for operation on March 26, 1942 at 627 Eighth Avenue.
