Mayor, City Council, City Attorney — Recall Them All

By Matt Potter

A day after last week's ruling on the stadium case, plaintiff's attorney Michael Aguirre sat down for an interview, portions of which follow.

Take it your inew was that when the court said was es-sentially that the City had the sentially that the City had the sentially that the City had the ability to make a change in a outract simply by starting per singlet to sort on the entire construction — which is in so any change of that type could not be done because the City was basically frozen by the filing of the referendum. Does that create a precedent?

Does that create a precedent:
What the judge essentially ruled and what I'm worried about in the future is that whenever you have a project that they will be able to cite what the judge did here and say that the City doesn't have to comply with the alterations provisions of the cherter. They provisions of the charter. They can just simply — if someone decides that they want another $15 or $20 million, they'll just use the cost overrun section, skip giving the people the right to say anything else be-yond that, and they'll sust pro-ahead of time.

You know, it is unusual in an instance where you have a trial for the jury to already have the verdict before you wake into the courtroom. And in this instance the judge was playing the role of the jury. Remembering that the idea so for the judge to keep an open mind until the proceedings with the proceedings which was the process of would be fair to say also [that] normally you get a tentative decision at the time that you show up, and then you get an opportunity to direct and fo-cus your arguments on what the judge has ruled. In this in stance — we were all shooting in the dark.

So can you do anything about

Non-Surgical Vision Correction FOR NEARSIGHTEDNESS

There is now a non-surgical treatment for long-lasting correction of nearsightedness (myopia) and astigmatism that is quick, less costly, and without risk.

This vision-correcting procedure was first utilized as a method of improving vision in the early '60s but now vision can often be restored with an accelerated program, in a matter of weeks.

Orthokeratology is designed to quickly reduce the patient's myopic condition and to improve vision with a succession of specially fitted therapeutic contact lenses which gently reshape the curvature of the cornea. Advanced techniques and new technology in specialized contact lenses have revolutionized eye care in the field of vision restoration.

Special stabilizing contact lenses are also available to prevent or retard the gradual increase of nearsightedness.

D: Michael Satterice is highly qualified in this procedure, and holds a reflowship certificate from the International Orthokeratology section of the National Eye Research Foundation, with over 25 years of orthokeratology experience. His practice is devoted to contact lenses

EXCERPT FROM "NEVER EAT YOUR HEART OUT"

"More than thrift spurred me some sum mers to fill jars with pickles, fruit, and walk down our alley and through open windows see bare-armed women sweat-ing in kitchens, muscles popping up as they ing in lakthens, muscles popping up as they lifted hot jars out of the canning kettle, and you could smell the sharp vinegar and sweet fruit. These were women with whom I picked huckleberries along rivers and peaches in nearby orchards. We shared recipes for chow-chow and blueberry recipes for chow-chow and blueberry conserve and stood in each other's pantry gazing up at jars packed with dilled beams and Queen Anne cherries. We smiled and shyly touched each other's elbow with fingertips and said to each other about our canning what we said to each other about our children, 'How pretty, how pretty.'

"Always high summer, canning sea-son was. Noon heat all day. Sky molten blue. Early morning, you clipped the heavy laundry on the clothesline. Wind-less and the air so still (no wind flapping the big husband shirts or flowered little-girl skirts) you believed you could stand by the garden and hear the corn grow by the garden and hear the corn grow.
The sound was a dry skimming swoosh like ballet slippers sliding across waxed floors. You admired the blooming potatoes and the carrots which were shoving up their feathery greens. You stopped to pluck a tenacious weed, then brushed aside humming flies and went inside, slamming the screen door as you liked to do, because you were a wife and a mother, this was your house. You walked harefoot across still-cool kitchen tiles. Watched the goldfish swim languidly in
