the whates' "friendly" behav-ior, But there is a piece of folk-wisdom that purpors to explain i. According to that rotion, the first friendly whale was Gigi, the well-known former resident of Sea World who was released back into the wea off San Diego in March of 1972. Though a radio transmitter attached to ber back ceased to function after the whales' "friendly" behav

less than two months, the whale less than two months, the whale might have sorrived, some peo-ple believe, Gigi, moreover, had cause to believe that humans were benign, and for that rea-son she might have approached them in the lagoon one day. After that, she might have some-how spread the word to other grav whales, who passed it on in turn. As a ppealing as this notion is, Ray Gilmore rejected it early on for a corwincing reason. In a 1976 article published in the L.A. County Natural History Museum's magazine, Terra, Gilmore pointed out that photos of the first friendly lagoon whale revailed it to have only two throat-folds, whereas Gigh lad had three. of themselves bad, but at Todai, where they seat 250 people and employ a staff of 80 to process, clean, and prepare food, you are not going to get the artistry for which Japanese cuisine is noted. I realize that I am in the minority, else all-you-can-eat buffets would not be popular, but I prefer one order of sushi for $12.20 at Taka, where presentation and quality are masterfol, to unlimited one Office to susmit of $72,000 at 1865, where pre-sentation and quality are masterfol, to unlimited sushi made with an inexpensive fish. If I want empura, I like Hidoyoshi, which is run by a lovely and fastidious woman. For the $20,001 spent that evening, I would rather have daned on one or two delectable items at a small restaurant, and in semi-sections, than at the cavernous Todai.
