Where were you born?
Where you going?
Where you coming from?
No Wires. No contract.
No credit check. No monthly bill.
And no pain in the wazoo.

You want a cell phone, but you don’t have one because you think they are too much of a pain in the wazoo.

We understand. So we’ve come up with an offer that makes cell phones easy to get, use and pay for, that you will no longer be able to resist them.

Here’s the deal. For a limited time, you can get an OK11410 phone (a $122 value) and a $35 Prepaid Airtime card for just $99.

OK, let’s do the math. Un. $35 plus $122 (five and two are seven and three and two are five and living down the one) that comes to a whopping $157 value. For a measly $99.

With Prepaid Airtime, weekend rates are always 50% cheaper than weekday rates. There’s no annual contract, no monthly bill, no deposit, no credit check, no wires or strings attached, and no wazoo pain. You just buy your time in advance, and when you use it up, you buy more. It’s that easy.

Prepaid Airtime cards from GTE Wireless. Easy to get. Easy to use. Easy to pay for. Easy to see why the heck you should get it. Give us a call at GTE Wireless, 1-800-249-GETE.

Get an OK11410 wireless phone (a $122 value) plus $35 of airtime. All for only $99.

"LATE PRISTHIC"
HUNTER-GATHERER ACTIVITIES
IN SOUTHERN SAN DIEGO COUNTY"

SUSAN MELINDA MURDOCH
DOCTORAL DISSERTATION
UCLA. 1994

During a survey of the ancient Rancho del Saya, on March 3, 1991, Susan Melinda Murdoch discovered an archeological site which La Jolla Pointians "hunted gatherers" resided. La Jolla Pointians had several settlements, including this one near present-day University City and 1961 and were the ancestors of the modern-day Native Americans who lived here.

Like the previous inhabitants in San Diego, the La Jolla Pointians lived on San Diego Bay and belonged to a Yuman linguistic group that came from the California coast. They were skilled hunters and gatherers, and their remains were found throughout the site. Hunter and his assistants analyzed artifacts, shells, food remains, and other evidence of artifacts in the area. He determined that the site was "environmental," meaning that each family conducted all necessary activities.

The most notable species was elk, followed by swamp and small rodents. However, the remains of elk were shaggy, small, and had spinal problems.

The archeological site has been excavated, and more artifacts were found. The process of dating and analysis of these artifacts will be presented in the future.

Dissertation Excerpts:

1. The excavation unearthed many projectile points. These were found in the ends of arrows or spears, used to divide or kill prey. They are also used to point off streets and roads around the perimeter of the village.

2. "A biface blade measuring 65 x 3 x 4 millimeters was recovered from unit WH94... The blade is probably a projectile point, cut on one end, honed, and polished. This blade may have been used as a blade or small tool.

3. "The mapping data for this study was based on prehistoric climate conditions. With a moist climate the seeds and other woody seeds would exceed later on to oaks. Such a shift would take 200-300 years. Therefore, more oaks may have been present in this area greater than 300 years ago if localized conditions were cooler.

4. "Ethnographically, native tobacco was used. Other plants may have been used smoke. The vertical form of a nixie plane was intended for casual smoking while reclining on bed. Some pipes, rather than the more common clay type, were used commonly by hunters.

SECONDARY INSPECTION: Sonja — her real name — is breathing hard, straining, pulling, ready as she’s ever to get to the business at hand. George, her partner (not his real name), struggles a bit to keep her from running wildly across the parking lot.

Please! Please! Let me at it! Let me at it!

You can almost hear her voice in her singing, lunging movements, the whining, begging, straining noises on her red lips.

I want it! I want it! I want it to play! I want to play so bad!

Okay, okay, okay, girl. George says, racing with her toward the automobile, a huge red Chevy Silverado that’s just pulled into the lot.

Two men stick out at the driver’s side about four, both dark-haired fellows. One is a middle-aged, dark-haired man with a thick head of hair. The other is a shorter, stockier man, also with a thick head of hair. Both of them are dressed in dark clothes and are talking to each other.

The vehicle is parked on the side of the road, near a sidewalk. There are no other vehicles in the immediate area.

A female inspector in blue helps with the car, a black-haired woman holding the vehicle steady. She is dressed in a uniform, similar to the other inspectors.

A large bag of luggage, possibly containing items for the vehicle, is being lifted into the back of the truck. The bag is large and appears to be filled with various items.

The inspectors are busy with their duties, checking the vehicle for any potential problems or violations. They are focused and efficient in their work, ensuring that all safety regulations are adhered to.

The area is well-lit with streetlights, and there is a sidewalk adjacent to the parking lot. The weather is clear and the temperature is moderate.

The inspectors use their tools and equipment to inspect the vehicle thoroughly. They check the undercarriage, the engine, the brakes, the tires, and other important components.

The vehicle is then driven off, and the inspectors follow behind. They continue their inspections, ensuring that the vehicle is safe for the road.

The process of secondary inspection is crucial in maintaining safety on the roads. Inspectors are trained to identify potential issues that may not be immediately obvious, ensuring that all vehicles are roadworthy.

The inspectors may also take samples of the vehicle’s emissions or perform other tests to ensure compliance with regulations.

The vehicle is finally released, and the inspectors proceed to the next vehicle in line. The process continues, ensuring that all vehicles are inspected and meet the necessary standards for safety.

Noise works they think. We’re looking for the muscle cars that show up every other weekend with a loud, overrated Caravan and wriggle around the neighborhood, honking the horn, if they’re feeling a little too high, and trying to startle the neighbors with a little noise. This is how it is.

So, the real question is: how do you handle the noise? Do you just ignore it or do you try to find a way to make it go away? You could try reaching out to your neighbors and see if they have any suggestions. It’s also a good idea to check with your city’s noise ordinance to see what the regulations are.

Another option is to invest in some noise reduction equipment. There are many different types of equipment available, from soundproofing materials to noise cancelling headphones. It’s important to research the options and find one that will work best for your needs.

But when it comes to the muscle cars, it’s important to remember that they are a part of our history. They represent a time when people were free to express themselves through their cars. So, while it’s important to find a way to manage the noise, it’s also important to respect the history and culture behind these cars.

Amazing And Unfair

I believe whether to laugh or not about your review of the New Mexico State "One-Stop" Top Ten High Schools" [Time], 6/30, is a family, and it is in that context that I want to respond to your article. Your claim that our school, which is clearly one of the best public schools in the state, should be in your top ten is unfair and inaccurate.

What About Us?

While your article was welcomed by the staff and students at "One-Stop," the following points should be considered:

1. Our school is located in a rural area, which is not typical of the schools included in your list.

2. Our student body is diverse, with students from many different socioeconomic backgrounds.

3. Our school has a strong focus on community service and volunteerism.

4. Our students have access to unique opportunities, such as internships and service learning projects.

Despite these factors, you have chosen not to include our school in your top ten, which is unfair and unrepresentative of the diversity of our student body.

In conclusion, while your review of the "One-Stop" Top Ten High Schools" is informative, it is important to keep in mind that each school has its own unique strengths and challenges. Our school is proud of our accomplishments and intends to continue striving for excellence.

Sincerely,

You get the sense their tape recorders had "off-the-record" switches.

A lot of you must have been surprised to see the tape recorders. You know, the ones that people used to carry around and press the buttons. We found them in the back of our closet. We thought they were part of some old movie set. But then we noticed that they had a "on-off" switch. And when we pressed the "on" button, the machine started making these funny sounds. We didn't like it, so we turned the "off" button and the machine stopped. It was then that we realized we had been recording our conversations without permission. The machine must have been left over from our days of being a group of teenagers. We decided to keep it, though, because it's a nice reminder of how we used to record our ideas and dreams.
It Came Down to the Shoe God

"It took hours to get that stuff off the models."

Kurt Martini Pfaff, a sculptor who has created intricate and realistic models for the stage and screen, was in a bind. He was working on a major production and needed to complete the models quickly. Martini Pfaff is known for his detailed and realistic sculpture work, which he uses to create lifelike models for various projects. In this particular instance, he was working on a project that required the completion of the models in a very short time frame.

Martini Pfaff turned to an unexpected source for help. He contacted a local shoemaker, who was able to create the necessary shoes for the models in a timely manner. The shoemaker was able to work quickly and efficiently, delivering the shoes just in time for Martini Pfaff to complete the models.

"I'm very grateful to the shoemaker," Martini Pfaff said. "He was able to work quickly and deliver the shoes just in time for the models."

In the end, the models were completed and ready for use in the production. Martini Pfaff was able to deliver on time, thanks to the help of the local shoemaker. This is just one example of how the community can come together to help each other.

King and wife Eleanor were in New York at the time of the incident. A lawyer for King later issued a statement saying that King had not been involved in the incident and that the charges were false.

The following day, Eleanor King held a press conference to address the situation. She denied any involvement in the incident and said that she had been in New York at the time of the incident. She also said that she had been in contact with the police department to discuss the incident.

Eleanor King has not commented further on the incident and has not made any public statements since the press conference. She has declined to answer questions from the media about the incident.

The incident is currently under investigation by the police department. It is unknown if any charges will be filed against the suspect or if any evidence will be found.

In the meantime, King has continued to perform and has not missed any shows or performances. She has also been working on several new projects and is scheduled to perform in several upcoming events.

King has expressed her dedication to her craft and her fans, and she has thanked her fans for their support during this difficult time.

The incident has caused a great deal of concern among King's fans, who have rallied around her and expressed their support. Many have stated that they will continue to support King and her music, and that they will not let this incident bring her down.

A Blast
No doubt the extravagances of the Romantic novel are often difficult to take seriously. The very excesses that make it intriguing and appealing also make it a challenge to experience without feeling overwhelmed.

As always, the film starts with a bang, and it doesn't disappoint. The opening scene is breathtaking, and the characters are immediately established with a sense of depth and complexity. The performances are top-notch, with standout acting from the lead actors. The cinematography is stunning, with beautiful landscapes and stunning visuals that transport the audience to a different world.

The film builds momentum throughout, with a series of dramatic and climactic moments that keep the audience on the edge of their seats. The pacing is perfect, with just the right balance of action and dialogue to keep the story moving forward.

While the film is not without its flaws, the overall experience is one of enjoyment and entertainment. It's a must-see for fans of the Romantic novel genre and for anyone looking for a good, escapist film experience.

If you're looking for a film that's both intellectually stimulating and visually stunning, then this is the film for you. It's a true cinematic experience that will leave you wanting more.
THE TRUMAN SHOW IS A MURDEROUS MISHER!!

MOVIE

PLOT:

The Truman Show is about Truman Burbank, an ordinary man who lives his life on a perfect television show. The show is run by M. Night Shyamalan's production company, and the audience is sold the idea that Truman is the only person who knows the truth. In reality, the show is being watched by millions of people. Truman's Everyman character takes over, and the audience is left to question the nature of reality and perception.

An Inviting, Enthralling, And Enchanting Experience
Born Again Squid

“I hope that you won’t find it too yuppified.”

W

When I went to the restaurant last week I was sort of unprepared. I was there to try a new seafood restaurant called “Squid City” on South Street. The restaurant was packed with people and the atmosphere was very lively. The food was delicious. We had some great seafood, including clams and salmon. Overall, it was a great experience and I would definitely recommend it to others.

Always something happening!

PICTURE STORY

by the San Diego Historical Society

PLumbing inspector Walter Bellon, on 12th Street between Second and Third, 1913. Excerpt from Randy Van Horne's 1990 master's thesis:

"In 1990 Bellon was hired by the San Diego Health Department as a Plumbing Inspector. As a full-time employee, Bellon's salary amounted to only $900 per month and sometimes less."

"Soon after Bellon was hired, he was advised by Dr. Francis Mend of the incredible task before him. He was told that the Stingaree had to be cleaned up, yet there existed the possibility of physical harm for any who dared take the job. Unlike many men, this challenge strengthened Bellon's resolve even more. No one else in San Diego at that time truly believed the Stingaree could be cleaned up.

"Bellon decided that his first site for an inspection would be the compounds behind Candy's Saloon. In the rear of most saloons and pubs, the cribs could be found. There prostitutes conducted business usually two to a crib, when one woman was occupied, the second was drumming up business."

Will You Look at That

By Anne Albright

I'm tired of being pregnant. Nine months how quickly can it be. I have been pregnant for 26 weeks and 2 days, and it seems like forever. Everything is taking longer, and I'm getting tired of it. I miss being able to do things like go for a walk or even take a shower without feeling so heavy. I've been having the baby every day, and I'm not sure if I can do this two weeks longer.

My life has changed a lot since I found out I was going to be a mom. I used to go out with friends all the time, but now I spend most of my time taking care of my little one. It's been hard adjusting to this new phase of life, but I know it'll be worth it in the end.

I sometimes wake up early in the morning and look out the window, hoping for the day to be over. I miss having my own space and doing activities just for myself. But I know that being a dad is worth it.

The wait feels endless, and I can't wait for this phase of my life to be over.
