Prop. B: Farmers on Both Sides

By Mark Gabrielle Conlas

"The Farm Bureau of San Diego has labored its responsibility," said Pandora Rose, owner of a 74.5-acre avocado ranch in Rancho Santa Fe, who proposed the amendment to the city's general plan in late November. "Proposition B is a tool for us to work with the city of San Diego to develop the property."

The Farm Bureau is asking the city to allocate a public park in the area, with its headquarters on the site. The city is also considering the possibility of acquiring the property and offering it to the San Diego County Planning Commission. Pandora Rose, who is also the president of the San Diego County Planning Commission, said the city is considering the possibility of acquiring the property and offering it to the San Diego County Planning Commission. Rose said, "We are in the process of developing a master plan for the property and we are confident that the city is committed to developing the property."

Zap Irritability, the Blues and the Blows
Our two-paced times can cause us feeling irritable, irritable and simply "tired out." Often those feelings go unnoticed. Many simply "get it out," but it's hard to get it out, even when you want to.

We are studying research medications and comparing them to currently accepted moods relief medications. Participants are matched to the twostaged program, using a research medication, for 7 weeks. This is followed by an opportunity to take the "standard" for 1-2 months, and compare results. You may be surprised, like many participants, learn a great deal about stress and what may be your best treatment.

There are no costs because it's grant-supported. We want honest and critical opinions. It's easy and offers choices, options, and a no-hassle approach. Please note if you do choose or are a heavy drinker, this program is not for you.

As of September 1 expect to pay a whole lot more everywhere you place a Help Wanted ad in the Union-Tribune.

Since the Union-Tribune increased the size of its classified type, classified ads take up more space.
And you will pay dearly for that space. For example, an 11-line classified ad with a boldface charge that cost one advertiser $141 in August, today costs $182. A 27% increase!

Beginning October 1 when you place a Help Wanted ad in the Reader and Job Giant, you'll pay a whole lot less.

A whopping 80% off your Reader display ad and 20% off your Job Giant display ad.
And we'll run free help wanted classifieds in both publications and on the Internet (www.sandiego.com). Call us for details.

Price, of course, isn't everything.
You need results.

And we have a notebook full of testimonials. Like this one:
"The response to our ad in the Job Giant and the Reader was great! Almost overwhelming! We probably get 50 to 60 calls. At the time we advertised the position in the Union-Tribune and the Daily Californian, their combined response was only six to eight calls." - Clinton Nester, Tiger Reproductions

How do you ever begin to make a difference? Do you start with your country? Your state? Your city? Your neighborhood? Your family?

R.I. U.S.A. in Organisational Leadership

No, if you want to change the world, the place to start is with yourself.

Now, if you're one of those people who only dream of change, you didn't like that last sentence. But if you're one of those people who are serious about change, you swallow a little bit of your pride, and you keep reading.

Chapman University offers a degree in Organisational Leadership, with emphasis available to enhance nearly any career you'd like to pursue. It's a degree that teaches you how to lead by bringing out the best in other people.

We're not looking for people who dream of changing the world.

We're looking for people ready to roll up their sleeves and do it.

Bad Habits
Compulsion as Art

In this performance piece, Chicago's Jeff Pashman, the director of Chicago's Award-winning Studio 13, has written a play that is as much a social commentary as a prescriptive guide to overcoming obsessive compulsive behavior in the real world. The performance is a series of scenes that explore the often-complex relationships between individuals with obsessive-compulsive disorder (OCD) and those around them.

A Tall Tale that Just Might Be True

No one knows just how special Buddy Layman is.

The first step in finding the answer to this question is to take a look at the man himself. Buddy Layman is a man who has dedicated his life to the art of storytelling. He has been telling stories for over 50 years, and his stories have captivated audiences all over the world. But what makes Buddy Layman so special?

First and foremost, Buddy Layman has an incredible memory. He can recall stories from his childhood, stories he heard from his parents, and stories he has heard from others. His memory is so strong that he can tell you the exact details of a story from decades ago, as if it were happening right now.

Secondly, Buddy Layman has a unique ability to engage his audience. Whether he is telling a story to a group of children or a group of adults, his audience is captivated. He has a way of drawing people in, making them feel like they are a part of the story.

Finally, Buddy Layman has a genuine love for storytelling. He believes that stories are a powerful tool for connecting people, and he is committed to sharing his stories with as many people as possible.

So, the question remains: is Buddy Layman just a special storyteller, or is he something more? Only time will tell. But one thing is certain: Buddy Layman will continue to delight and entertain audiences for many years to come.

REVIEW

JIM SMITH

A Tale That Just Might Be True

No one knows just how special Buddy Layman is.

The Grimms' Fairy Tales by Jacob and Wilhelm Grimm tells the story of a young boy who goes on a journey to find his father. The boy meets many interesting characters along the way, including a giant, a witch, and a talking bird. He learns important lessons about courage, kindness, and the power of love. The story is a classic for a reason.

Buddy Layman brings the story to life with his unique take on the traditional tale. He adds his own twists and turns, making the story even more engaging for modern audiences. Layman's voice is warm and inviting, and his delivery is充满了 energy and enthusiasm.

The audience is captivated from beginning to end. They laugh, they cry, they gasp in awe. The story is beautifully told, and Layman's performance is simply amazing.

But what makes Buddy Layman's telling of "The Grimms' Fairy Tales" so special? It's the way he connects with the audience. He makes them feel like they are a part of the story, and he engages them with his own personal stories and experiences. Layman's passion for storytelling is evident in every word he speaks, and it's contagious.

So, if you're looking for a story that will captivate you, look no further than Buddy Layman's telling of "The Grimms' Fairy Tales". It's a tale that just might be true, and it's a story that will stay with you long after the lights come up.
The Price of Dogs is a monthly column by Mary Louise Rogers, the San Diego reporter for The Nation magazine. She was featured in a recent issue of Blurt magazine.

"In 1977 Victorian, California, I went to a Christmas tree farm and got a little puppy for eight dollars and some change."

"As of 1977 it was the very beginning of the modern Christmas tree farm in Southern California."

Women Who Love Salmon Too Much

"They may drive by...see a sign that says 'Sushi,' and they'll go, 'Oh, look, a restaurant..."

Marvin, memoir of the post-punk artist, was released by a major label. Richard's other band, Minor Creation, also took a turn for the better with their album "Lost in the Shadows," which featured a collaboration with legendary producer Daniel Lanois.

In the garage, two men walked by with bottles of red wine, one upsidedown for safety. They had ordered red and white wine, but the worker behind the bar said, "Just drink the red wine, it's better for you." The man said, "I don't know why you're telling me this. I won't tell anyone."

After leaving the bar, the man诗词 a book called "The End of the World," which was about the decline of society.

The Seventh Annual Sundance Film Festival was held in January, and it was a smash hit. The festival that opened with "The Tree of Life," and "Midnight in Paris," and "The Artist," was a huge success. It was a story about a writer who had to fight a war in the future, but then he fell in love with a woman and had to leave his family.

Kirk Douglas, the veteran actor, was in New York to promote his new movie. He was on a press tour, and he was doing interviews with various media outlets. He was promoting his new film, which was a biopic about famous actor and director, Elia Kazan.

David Morris, the wedding planner, was in Los Angeles to plan the wedding of a celebrity couple. He was in charge of all the details, from the flowers to the dress, and he was working with a team of experts to make sure everything went smoothly.

The NU Nation Project, a non-profit organization, was holding an event to raise money for education. The event was hosted by a famous actor, who was also a board member of the organization.

The Kinks, the legendary British rock band, were in the studio recording their new album. They were working with a new producer, who was known for his work with other famous bands.

That's just the classical music section.

That's Not How We Play with a Cat

By Anne Albright

Kid Stuff

I thought my life couldn't get more chaotic, but then we got a cat. It's a cute cat—a ferret with whiskers. The ferret is so small that when you touch it, it ball up and turns its back sideways when you pet it. But now we've added a new love to our family—our new ferret, Whiskers. We named her Whiskers because of her curly, flowing whiskers.

When we brought the cat home, Whiskers was still shy and not used to being held. But after a few days, she started to warm up to us. She would sit on our lap and purr contentedly. We took her to the vet for her checkup, and the vet was amazed at how quickly she had adapted to her new surroundings.

Angela chooses an unorthodox approach to handling the cat, saying, "I'm not a traditional cat person," and she explains her method: "I pick her up and she runs to me and loves me."

"We play with her by tickling her," Angela says. "She really enjoys it and loves being played with.

"She's a great pet," Jack adds. "She's very affectionate and playful. She loves to be scratched and played with."

The ferret has brought a lot of joy to our lives, and we couldn't be happier with our newest family member. We've learned a lot about ferrets and how to care for them.

Angela, what did I just say to you again?"

Angela glared at Jack. "I was saying that the cat is a great addition to our family."

"I was just saying that I was planning to buy a new sofa," Jack said, trying to distract Angela.

Angela smiled and said, "Well, now I have to wait until we can afford the sofa.

"We're saving up," Jack said, "and I'm planning to build a new playpen for the cat."

"That's great," Angela said, "but we have to make sure it's safe for the ferret."

Angela, what was the last word I said to you?"

Angela looked at Jack, trying to remember. "I think it was about the sofa," she said, "but I'm not sure.

"It was about the sofa," Jack repeated, "and I'm planning to..."

Angela interrupted him, "We're saving up for the sofa, Jack."}
