I'M DONE WITH THE STATES

The restaurant was a rambling wood affair with families crammed together and happily intent over their plates until that rumba line of black men — a half dozen of them — began to snake between the tables. That was when the diners looked up.
Where Politicians Park for Free

By Ernie Grimes

It was raining. I had my two small children with me and no stroller. I desperately wanted to find a parking spot near the park. The parking lot was full, and I was determined to find a spot. I finally found a spot in the handicapped section, and I was able to park. However, when I returned, I noticed that the parking area was not marked as handicapped. I was disappointed that I had to walk so far to park, but I was happy that I was able to find a spot.

The handicapped parking section was located on the second floor of the building, and it was difficult to get to. I had to climb several flights of stairs to reach it, and it was quite crowded. I was glad that I had brought my umbrella, as it was raining heavily.

When I returned to the parking area, I noticed that the parking area was not marked as handicapped. I was disappointed that I had to walk so far to park, but I was happy that I was able to find a spot. I was grateful for the help of the parking attendant, who gave me directions to the handicapped section.

I was grateful for the help of the parking attendant, who gave me directions to the handicapped section. I was able to park my car and was able to spend the day with my children in the park. I was glad that I had brought my umbrella, as it was raining heavily.

When the rain makes its mark on Maryland, in January, the moisture and low light tend to make the travelers in the region more relaxed. In such a season, it seems that a large number of people prefer to stay indoors. The rain can be quite annoying at times, but it also provides an opportunity for some indoor activities.

There's a sound of traffic, noisy murmur of voices.
So many people,
some shouting, some talking.

I wonder if they're just passing by,
maybe they're going somewhere else.

But they don't have a destination,
just like me.

Turn left or straight ahead,
which road to take,
no one is sure.

Just like me.

And I'm starting to feel guilty
for not doing more.

I could have done something,

"There are about five kids in the room, all of them sitting on the floor. When I asked them what they were doing, they all said they were playing a game. I walked over to the door, and found a sign that said "Take a Break!". "This is a great opportunity to break away from the routine of school and relax," one of the kids said. "It's nice to have a break from the stress of learning."

Not Achieving Your Potential? You may suffer from Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD).

A disorder that affects adults as well as children.

Topline: The fact is, if you have a learning disability, you may be at risk for ADD. A new study from the National Institute of Mental Health shows that more than 5% of adults have ADD. And the number of children with ADD is even higher. The study also found that ADD can cause problems with attention, memory, and impulse control. And these problems can affect your ability to succeed in school and in your career.

Make all the calls you want and never get a bill.

So you love to talk on the phone, but you don't love to pay the bills. At GTE Wireless, we understand. Talking is fun. Paying bills isn't. That's why we're offering Prepaid Airtime. You just buy your time in advance, and when you use it, you pay only for what you use. And you can choose from three different plans, each with a different amount of time. And the best part is, you never get a bill! Plus, you can cancel anytime, and get a refund if you don't use it. So you can talk as much as you want, and never worry about paying bills.

The World Through a Monocle

Author: Mary E. Corey

Reading

There were few books written by women at the turn of the century, and fewer still about women. One of the most interesting and readable of these books is "The World Through a Monocle," written by Mary E. Corey. The book is a collection of essays and articles that explore the author's experiences and observations of the world around her. Corey was known for her sharp wit and keen sense of observation, and her writing reflects this. The book is a must-read for anyone interested in the history of women's literature and the contributions of female authors.

Brief History of a River

The book "Brief History of a River" is a fascinating exploration of the history and significance of a river. The author, John Smith, takes readers on a journey through time and space, tracing the river's origins and charting its course through the centuries. The book is rich in detail and offers insights into the cultural and historical significance of the river. It is a must-read for anyone interested in the history of rivers and their role in shaping human civilization.

A Big Bang
A Masked Ball is impossible to bring off as an effective piece of drama.

San Diego's Chamber Chorus, which has over the years produced a series of programs of music, is currently touring with a production of the opera. The chorus is under the direction of the late Samuel J. Wolf, who was also the composer of the chorus. The tour is scheduled to continue for another season, and the production is expected to be expanded.

Chinese Dreams

The name is Chinese Dreams. There are some problems with the name, but there is no question that the name is appealing. The name, and the food, are quite different from what we are used to in Chinese restaurants in America. The Oh's are very friendly people, and Michael Oh's personality is quite different from any other restaurant owner I have ever known. He is a very interesting person, and his restaurant is a very interesting place.

The food is very good. The rice, noodles, and soups are all very good. The food is well prepared, and the service is excellent. The restaurant is very clean, and the atmosphere is comfortable.

Overall, I would highly recommend Chinese Dreams to anyone looking for a good Chinese restaurant in this area.

IN FACT

August 17, 1961
Poussin-Saint-Exupéry, near the river Rhone, France

Nightmarish scenes of village residents experiencing hallucinations colour for several days hundreds are poisoned after eating bread from a local boulangerie.

Nearly 300 are stricken by a batch of loaves contaminated by ergot fungus, a natural form of LSD. Shrieks of madness could be heard as some dashed wildly through the streets chased by cyanides. Others felt violent pain, garlicness or hysteria. Fifty people and several animals died and many never fully recovered from the ordeal.
