Cash-and-Carry Politics

ome get it from big Los Angeles, Orange County, and New York developers. Some get it from professional sports moguls, trash haulers, and union bosses. Still others get it from lawyers, judges, and lobbyists. A lucky few even get it from wealthy spouses or rich uncles in Manhattan, and many make huge personal loans to themselves, brazenly counting on tapping into special interests to pay themselves back later on. But wherever they get it, it's crucial for success in what has become San Diego's biggest high-stakes poker game: the race for campaign cash.

In a city where councilmembers make $54,000 a year and the mayor is paid $71,900, 13 candidates running for four open city council seats in ticle last week titled "Don't Try to Run" ("Sightseer," August 5). Please tell me, this fustin Wolff Please tell me, this lustin Wolff, and, what is his background? It sounds as though he knows a whole bunch of nothing about supping, and I bet he has never served his country in any ca-pacity. He makes your left-wing San Diego Reader sound even more so than I ever thought, other exclamations of dismay! In his August 5 "Sightseer" column on a sniper website, Instin Wolff has let the cat out of the bag! Indeed, supers and gunners in general are evil, mean people. As a lifetime NRA member, annual member of the California Rifle and Pistoi Association (CRPA), and a mem-ber of the San Diego NRA, I can assure him that after every "monthly school shootout" (as he so delicately puts it), we all he w deficately puts 81, we all get together and have a byg cel-obration, replete with cham-pagne and caisan. We are all extremely sick, people with the common state of the common state and blood of more cime. Indo-lunce or, have a few small ages-tions for Mr. Wolff, no doubt an expert in small arms and their uses. According to him. "even the GOP [are] grumbling about last gan control." With over attotal games and no be-ine enforced, in six what would roads on the basis and not be-ing enforced, inst what would satisfy the good Mr. Wolff? Trick question. He answers that in the last line of his column, wherein he laments that there would be no need for supers of only the worlds. Others weren I armed in the first place. We would then presumably live to gether in peace and lone; just like we did before firearms was more than the property of the pro-ting of the present the pro-sent property of the pro-ting entire than the pro-sent pro-ting entire the pro-entire the pro-ting entire the pro-ting entire the pro-entire the pro-ting entire the pro-ting entire the pro-ting entire the pro-entire the pro-ting entire the pro-entire the pro-ting entire the pro-entire the like we did before trearms were invented.

He also refers to gun shows as the "last refuge for the over-armed." Itself what constitutes being "over-armed?" Having more than one gun? More than three? More than seven? Or ten? Never mind, i don't want to three: More than seven: Or ten? Never mind, I don't want to know. Say, why do golfers next all those clubs? Why would they want to own more than one? Hmmm. I smell pending legis-lation here for an unprinci-pled, publicity-hungry politi-cian. One club a month? A 15-day waiting period? The possibili-ties are endless! He also refers to suppers and I'm sure by extension a and I m sure by extension air gunners— as being paramoid. Why would we be paramoid? While I freely admit the Branch Davidian/Waco disaster was a case of "six of one, half a dozen. of another," why did the FBI/ BATF decide to "cowboy it" and storm the compound by force, instead of professionally sitting back and waiting their out? Why did they lie and tell the military drugs were inhands on tanks and other mil-itary hardware? Why did they subsequently ram those tanks into and through the building they knew held not only men children? Why did they (at their own admission) pump in lethal levels of military tear gas when they knew children were in side! Whoe er started the final fire, why did they repeatedly run the tanks over the wreck-age is though trying to destroy evidence? All very good ques tions. Thus far, no one from Carlsbad

There was also the case where Vicki Weare was mundered by an Els super (casp) Kol Nota susper! as sile stond in the doiswas of her arms. In that case, the rules of engagement had also been changed by allow the slots. Say, which of the suspers, shot. Say, which of the singlets superiors had made that change? Again, thus far no one from the government will say. Para-noid? Why would we be para-noid? And, of course, the redoubt-

And, of course, the redoubt-able Mr. Wolft cannot refrain from ridiculing the sniper's maxim, "Don't try to run. You'll only die tired!" Certainly no other 'profession' [his quotes, not mine] have such maxims. Not the fire department ("We find em hot and we leave em wet"), not the police ("We don't do drive-bys, We stop!") and certainly not the civilian trades ("Get laid by the best! loc's Tile and Carpet"). themselves of the excellent seminaries, which in the north are established.... It is true that all our citizens cannot afford to indulge in these expensive academies. Then why do these expensive academies. Then why do-they not and us in forming our own common schools? We see daily running in our streets, ragged little urchins who have neither the modesty of youth, nor the decency of shame. And these are the offspring of the rich as well as the poor—alike they ramble in a state of semi-barbarism." San Diego's first Chamber of Commerce and in the position of Commerce convened March 18, 1854. At that meeting, and in his April 15 editorial, Ames demanded public education for San Diego, There had been attempts at classrooms before, but it was clear that "the settlers did not put a high priority on the education of child In fact, between 1851 and 1854, San Diego

In fact, between 1851 and 1854, San Diego had no public schools. The first official schoolhouse — in Dis-trict #1 — was the Firth-Snook house on Cal-houn Street, Rent was $14 per month, Class-work began August 1, 1854, "and there has been no break in instruction since that time Between 1854 and 1865, rented rooms and parlors of homes became temporary sites

MASTER'S THESIS EXCERPTS:

1. The first teacher noted in the records is William P. Toler [here signed June 5, 1851]. He subsequently moved south to New Town, where he became proprietor of that area's new Hotel, Pantoja House. He also became the first official greeter for this city...the forerunner of Don Diego.

2. In 1850-'51, Mr. Toler taught a bilingual curricula (English and Spanish).... Even though the majority of the population was bilingual, it was not thought proper to teach in Spanish, although the teaching of Spanish was approved.

3. Well into the middle of the 20th Century, the fallacy was held that one had to be smarter to teach grammar school than primary school

4. Some rules and regulations of the Board: (a) Pupils who fall below their grade level are to be transferred to a lower grade [even during the term]. (b) Pupils who deface, injure or destroy school property are required to repair or pay for such damages. They can be expended or expelled. (c) Pupils can be expelled for any graffitt on school property. (d) No tobacco on school grounds by pupils. (e) No promotion if absence is to avoid an examination. (f) No presents to be given to principal or

5 in 1884, the School Board found it prudent to pass this motion: "...that the Trustees shall take such measures as they may deem proper and efficient to advertise the present advanced state of our schools and to assure parents and guardians that the students can now be fitted and prepared to enter the scientific department of the University of California."

Bernard O opened in 1992 in a small shopping center dominated by a supermarket. Unless you were directed there you would never find it — Bernard and Diana Mougel showed great courage in opening a goormet restaurant on a site where you half-expected to be run over by a shiny gro-cery cart. The food was consistently good, thanks to its vigorous and intelligent chef, Jay Green-field. I returned often for the French onion soup. chicken breast in lime butter, the lamb medallights, and the crepe with fresh pear for dessert.

Almost two years ago the entire shopping mall shut down for removations. To keep Bernard'O from moving elsewhere, the shopping curer corporation compensated the Mougels and chef

The sauce is prepared from miso, Mirin wine, and water, which gives both the scallop wrap and the cabbage a slight, but not overpowering, Japanese flavor (57.75). The crab cakes are also fine, because they are made from blue crab claw meat to which bread crumbs, cream, beaten eggs, and cumin are added ($7.95). Crab cakes are not low in calories and in this case they are topped with sour cream.

One of the two entrées we shared was grilled filet mignon with sauteed wild mushrooms and filet migroun with sunteed wild mushrooms and Madeira was usue. The steak was for kender, the saxee light, and llowed the sixed boiled potato that accompanied the steak. You can't magine what a relief it was to encounter that potato with out any butter or susce on it. Since the fish is grilled the outer flesh appears somewhat gray from the grill marks, but this does not impair the taste or texture. In ad-dition to the beans the dish included carrots, vellow wax beans, and green beans ($17,75).

Bernard O has always been famous for its crame bruke, and this time around was no exception. The rolls served with dimer could be improved. Mention should be made of the enchanting outdoor tetrate, complete with fireplace, and the room to the right as you enter holds another fireplace. The cellar is designed in the library style. Along one wall, rough-hewn walnut shelves, deep rise well above our heads and are capped off by a platform. Another set of shelves, this one sin-gle-deep, stands on the platform, the showcase for the "library" wines. More shelves, double-deep, line a second wall. The floor is concrete and the walls are plastered. The capacity will be "about 3000 bottles." The room will be cooled to 57 de-grees and kept at 70 percent humidity. The chill helps preserve the wines as they age; the humid-ity keeps the corks from drving out.

BEAUTIFUL BREAST AUGMENTATION

Consider a technique that leaves no scar on the breast!

Safe and effective, it leaves only a small, barely noticeable scar high in each armpit. Many women interested in breast augmentation can benefit from this technique, commonly known as the "transaxillary approach." If you are thinking about breast augmentation, you owe it to yourself to explore this exciting possibility by calling for your personal consultation.
